

Imagine that you recently had a conversation with a friend about their plans for the weekend. Write 10-15 sentences to report what they said. Use a variety of reported speech forms, including statements, questions, and promises.

Example:

My friend said that they were going to visit their grandparents on Saturday. They explained that they hadn't seen them for a long time. I asked if they needed help with anything, and they said no. They promised that they would call me on Sunday to tell me how it went.
