PEARSON

PARTS OF SPEECH

1A Work in pairs and complete the questionnaire.

HOW I LEARN

- 1 It's useful to know grammatical terminology...
- because it's ¹much easier to talk about grammar rules.
 - to read and understand grammar books ²better.
 - ... actually, I don't think it's ³useful.
- 2 When I meet a new word, I...
- ⁴look it up, then write it in my notebook with a translation.
 - write ⁵a phrase or sentence with ⁶the word in it.
 - think about it, but don't write anything down.
- 3 I enjoy using English outside the class...
- to communicate on social networking sites.
 - when I'm ⁷watching films and listening ⁸to music in English.
 - ... I ⁹don't use English outside class.
- 4 In addition to ¹⁰doing homework, I study English...
- ¹¹every day.
 - two or three times a week.
 - not at all – I don't have time!
- 5 I think it's important ¹²to speak English in the lesson...
- 100% of the time.
 - whenever we ¹³can.
 - only when we're ¹⁴told to.

B Match the grammatical terms a)–n) with words 1–14 in bold above.

- dependent preposition
- past participle
- present participle
- gerund
- infinitive with to
- adjective in comparative form
- gradable adjective
- adverbial phrase
- quantifier /
- auxiliary verb
- definite article
- indefinite article
- modal verb
- multi-word verb

VERB PATTERNS

2A Correct the sentences.

- I can't stand ~~to work~~ ^{working} with music on.
- I learned driving last year.
- I want that the teacher corrects everything I say.
- I'd rather to eat out than at home.
- I'd like travelling abroad this year.
- I enjoy be alone.
- I like it when the teacher tells to repeat words.
- I'd better to spend more time studying or I'll never make progress in English.

B Find two examples above for each pattern:

- verb + gerund /
- verb + infinitive
- verb + infinitive with to
- verb + object + infinitive with to

C Work in pairs. Which sentences are true for you? How would you change the other sentences to make them true?

PRONUNCIATION

3A Work in pairs. Complete the table with words from the box.

completely	extremely	guarantee	future	minutes push	public	system	reach	thorough took	absolutely

1	/ɪ/	this	women
2	/i:/	these	leave
3	/ə/	again	pronunciation
4	/æ/	actually	angry
5	/ʌ/	fun	money
6	/ʊ/	book	pull

B ▶ 0.1 Listen and check. Then listen and repeat.

C Work in pairs. How can phonemic symbols help you learn new words?

COLLOCATIONS

4A Cross out the noun or noun phrase that does not collocate with the verb in the word web.

B Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: say a noun or noun phrase. Student B: say the verb that collocates with it.

SPEAKING

1 Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- Who do you live with?
- Do you think it's easier to live with family, friends or on your own?

LISTENING

2 Read the programme listing and look at the photo. What do you think happens at a 'speed flatmating' event?

3A ▶ 1.1 Listen to the first part of the programme and answer the questions.

- What happens during the evening?
- What two things are given to you when you arrive?

Speed flatmating

You might have heard of speed dating – those events for the young, free and single who are just too busy to find the love of their lives – but what about applying the same principle to finding a lodger for your spare room? In today's You and Yours on BBC Radio 4, reporter Natalie Steed experiences 'speed flatmating'.

B ▶ 1.2 Listen to the rest of the programme. Match each person with the way they feel about speed flatmating.

- | | |
|----------------|---------------------------------|
| 1 First man | a) It's important to be honest. |
| 2 Second man | b) It's easy. |
| 3 First woman | c) Confused |
| 4 Second woman | d) He/she doesn't say. |

C Listen again. Are the sentences true (T) or false (F)? Correct the false sentences.

- A white badge means you are looking for a room. F have got a room to rent.
- The first man wants someone who will be there most of the time.
- A pink badge means you are prepared to 'buddy up' (share a bedroom).
- The second man started looking for a room a fortnight ago.
- The first woman thinks you can tell a lot at first sight.
- However, she thinks speed flatmating is embarrassing.
- The second woman asks quite personal questions.
- She hasn't found anyone at the speed flatmating event.

4 Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- Would you use speed flatmating to find or rent out a room?
- If you were looking for a flatmate, which of the topics in the box below would you ask about? What sort of questions would you ask?

relationships work daily habits finances politics future plans music references weekends diet

GRAMMAR | direct and indirect questions

5A Look at the conversation from a speed flatmating event and complete the questions.

A: So where ¹ _____ you staying at the moment?

B: Quite near here.

A: Oh, who are you living ² _____?

B: Some friends from college. I'm just staying there on a temporary basis until I find a flat.

A: Right. And what ³ _____ you decide to come to the city in the first place?

B: I work for a big sportswear company and they've just relocated here.

A: And have you any idea how ⁴ _____ you want to stay here?

B: At least a year, I hope. I suppose it depends how it works out.

A: Do you mind me asking ⁵ _____ you're in a relationship?

B: No, that's OK. No, I'm single at the moment.

A: One more question. Er, what are you ⁶ _____ in the mornings? It's just that I'm not at my best early in the day.

B: Me neither. I don't usually talk to anyone till after my first coffee at work!

B ▶ 1.3 Listen and check your answers.

6A Check what you know. Look at the questions in Exercise 5A and find:

- two indirect questions.
- a subject question (one where the question word is the subject).
- a question with a preposition at the end.
- an alternative to how.

B Underline the correct alternative to complete the rules.

Rules:

- Direct / Indirect* questions are used to make a question more polite or when the question is personal.
- The word order in indirect questions is the same as / different from direct questions.
- In indirect questions, use / don't use the auxiliaries do or did.
- In indirect questions add if or whether for a yes/no / Wh question.

C ▶ 1.4 Put the underlined words in the correct order to make indirect questions. Then listen and check.

- wondering was I if I could see the flat.
- you tell me could how much the deposit is?
- mind do me you asking how old you are?
- interested be I'd know to how you organise the cooking.
- I can ask you how noisy it is?
- know you do how soon the room will be available?

7A Listen again. What are the main stressed words in each sentence?

B Does the intonation start high or low?

PRACTICE

8 Make sentences with the prompts.

- Could / tell / how much / earn / each month?
Could you tell me how much you earn each month?
- mind / asking / how much time / spend / on the phone and internet each day?
- think / will / usually spend weekends here / or / will / often / go away?
- What / be / last flatmates / like?
- What / annoy / you / most / about / sharing a flat?
- What kind / music / like / listen to?

VOCABULARY | personality

9A Read the descriptions from a flatmate finder site. Which person would be the best flatmate for you? Why?

▶ Mikhail, age 24

I'm a post-graduate student studying geology. I'd be a good flatmate because I tend to keep myself to myself. I'm not unfriendly but my idea of a perfect evening is to spend the night in, order a takeaway and watch a DVD or maybe play computer games. I'm not a computer geek, though. Like any student, I'm often short of cash, but I'm not tight-fisted, I don't mind paying my share. I can be quite messy – I often bring rocks home to work on. I'm usually up and out before 7.30 in the morning.

▶ Claudia, age 34

I'm a professional cook in an Italian restaurant. I work late so I don't like being disturbed in the morning. I'm a people person and love inviting friends round and cooking for them. I am very particular about order, especially in the kitchen – if there's one thing I hate, it's a messy kitchen. I also get annoyed if I'm the only one cleaning up or people don't pull their weight around the house. My friends say I'm very sensible and practical, really down-to-earth.

▶ Pat, age 28

I'm a lawyer and sing with a band in my spare time. I've got a good job and a decent salary, but at the moment I'm being careful with my money as I'm saving up for a new sound system for the group. I'm often out until the early hours because of late night gigs with the band. People say I'm a good laugh but I can be pretty serious too – I sometimes bring the band back after a gig and I can really get into talking about politics – I love a good discussion.

B Work in pairs. Match meanings 1–10 with the phrases in bold from the descriptions in Exercise 8A.

- 1 I feel this is important am particular about
- 2 away from home very late
- 3 be introverted
- 4 someone who is sociable
- 5 someone who is obsessive and boring (about a topic)
- 6 enjoy (a topic or activity)
- 7 someone who is fun to be with
- 8 realistic about things
- 9 mean with money
- 10 do one's share of work

▶▶▶ page 148 VOCABULARYBANK

SPEAKING

10A Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- Which of the people in Exercise 8A would you enjoy meeting socially?
- Who do you think you would get on with least well?
- Which phrases would you use to describe yourself?

B Write six questions to find someone you would get on with socially. Use indirect questions where appropriate. Look at Exercises 5A and 8 to help.

C Ask other students your questions. In what way would each person be a good match for you?

WRITING an informal email

10A Work in pairs and answer the questions.

- How often do you write informal emails in your own language? Who do you write them to?
- Do you ever write emails in English?
- What kind of things do you write about?

B Read the email and answer the questions.

- What do you think the relationship is between the writer and the recipient?
- Where is Jorge living and who with?
- How did he find the flat?

To: kiri.b@mailbank.com

Hi Kiri,

Thanks for the email. Great to hear the news about your job – and that you're feeling much better now. Hope you're enjoying your summer.

I got to London a couple of weeks ago and I'm staying in a place called Swiss Cottage. Do you know it? It's very handy for the underground – only takes twenty minutes or so to get to school every day.

My flatmate, Winston, is great. He's originally from Jamaica and is divorced with two kids, who are often around. He's a good laugh and he's happy to chat with me any time so I can practise my English, which is great!

You'll never guess how I found the flat. I found this thing called 'speed flatmating' on the internet. You go to a kind of party and you chat to a lot of people who've got rooms to rent. I met Winston there and we just clicked! I moved in the next day.

Must go now as it's time for class. Be in touch soon.

All the best,

Jorge

C Work in pairs and complete the guidelines for writing informal emails. Use the email in Exercise 10B to give you ideas.

- For the salutation, use Dear / _____ + name.
- For the ending, use All _____ best, _____ wishes, or Love + name.
- Paragraphing: try to stick to _____ topic(s) per paragraph, though writers don't always follow this guideline.
- To convey an informal style:
 - use informal punctuation such as _____ and _____.
 - use informal language, such as _____ meaning convenient, _____ meaning liked each other straightaway, and _____ meaning in contact.
 - use contracted forms, for instance _____, _____ or _____.
 - leave out some words, for example in these phrases in the first and last paragraphs: _____, _____, _____, _____.

LEARN TO check for accuracy

11 Read the email and correct the mistakes. Use the teacher's correction code at the beginning of each sentence.

Correction code:	sp = spelling
v = verb form	p = punctuation
gr = grammar	wo = word order
ww = wrong word	st = style

To: jorge.67@mailbank.com

Hi Jorge,

Thanks for the email. ^{1[gr]} Sounds like you're having good time. ^{2[v]} I never hear of speed flatmating before but it seems like a great idea. ^{3[wo]} The job is still fantastic and I like very much the people there.

^{4[sp]} One of my colleagues, Paolo, comes from Italy and so we often practice English together at lunchtime.

^{5[ww]} He's a very sympathetic person and great fun.

^{6[p]} Last weekend I took him to a party at a friends' apartment – we didn't get home till five o'clock the next morning! The photo is of us dancing.

^{7[st]} Have to go now as it's getting late and tomorrow's a work day. I look forward to hearing from you again soon.

Best wishes,

Kiri

12A Write an email (120–180 words) to another student in the class describing your current living situation. Include information about:

- the place
- who you live with
- how you found it
- how you feel about it

C 1.6 Underline the stress in each adjective in the box in Exercise 2B. Listen and check. Then listen and repeat.

3A Work in pairs and answer the questions.

- In the sentences below, which adjective in bold is used for feelings and which for something that causes the feelings?
 - Putting up a shelf was a really satisfying thing to do.
 - I was really satisfied when I'd finished.
- Which adjective in each pair below is gradable (G) and which is extreme/ungradable (U)?
 - tired/exhausted
 - excited/thrilled
 - interested/fascinated
- Which modifiers in the box can be used with gradable adjectives (G), with ungradable (U) adjectives and with both (B)?

fairly G very really absolutely completely

B Work in pairs and cross out the incorrect alternative in each sentence. Explain the reason for your choices.

- A: I'm ~~very/absolutely~~ interested in languages.
B: Yeah, I'm ~~very/completely~~ fascinated by them too.
- A: I'm ~~really/very~~ exhausted.
B: Yes, I'm ~~fairly/absolutely~~ tired too.
- A: I felt really ~~embarrassed/embarassing~~ because I kept forgetting people's names.
B: How ~~embarrassed/embarassing!~~
- A: What was the most ~~frustrated/frustrating~~ thing about it?
B: I got very ~~frustrated/frustrating~~ when I forgot the steps.

4A Choose five adjectives from Exercise 2B and think of times you felt these emotions. Write notes to help you.

B Work in pairs and take turns. Tell your partner about the experiences.

I've Never Seen Star Wars

1 I've Never Seen Star Wars is a BBC programme based on a simple idea: Take a celebrity and persuade them to try five experiences they've never done before; not extraordinary things but mundane and fairly trivial activities that they've either always avoided or have never had the opportunity to do. The programme's producer thought of the name a few years ago because, amazingly enough, he'd never seen the film Star Wars.

5 Every week, the host, comedian Marcus Brigstocke, encourages his guests to undertake challenges such as constructing flat-pack furniture, changing the oil in a car, having a tap-dancing lesson, wearing extremely high heels, or listening to a punk album. The show has recently moved from radio to TV and, so far, one guest has had a piano lesson, another has tried online social networking and a third has built a wall (in the studio!). No one has refused a challenge yet. After each experience, Brigstocke interviews his guest to find out how they rated the experience from one to ten and whether they would like to try it again.

10 The programme's appeal lies in Brigstocke's charm and humour and his interaction with the guests, but also in the normality of the experiences. We, the viewers, can relate to the guests' reactions because we know the frustration of trying to put together flat-pack furniture or the pain of tottering around in high heels.

15 Guests' reactions vary from genuine enthusiasm, as when Barry Cryer, a grandfather of seven tried changing a baby's nappy and awarded the experience a maximum ten out of ten, to absolute loathing: 'I couldn't bear it. Everybody is jolly or cooking or laughing or making music with not a genuine emotion in the whole thing!' said Joan Bakewell, after watching the film Mamma Mia. Another guest, when asked to change the oil in a car admitted, 'I've never tried to fix anything in a car, I've maybe opened the bonnet a couple of times.' Three weeks ago, comedian

Arthur Smith gave his piano lesson nine out of ten, 'I was quite excited, actually, genuinely. Very quickly, it sounded like a tune.'

35 Brigstocke, who hosted the programme on radio for two seasons before it moved to television, says, 'I've just discovered the quickest way to get to know a person is to have a list of things that most people have done, and then ask them if they have or haven't done the things on the list. It's really simple, but for example, Paul Daniels the magician has owned an original Beatles Revolver album since the sixties and not only has he never played it but he has never listened to any album of any kind, ever! I also think the show taps into something that has been a recurring theme in my

40 life – the need to explore new things, have new experiences, turn over every stone.'

45 At its best, the show lets us see the very familiar through fresh eyes. It's entertaining, amusing and can even, on occasions, be inspiring. Who knows, it might give us all the motivation to try something new!

READING

5A Read the review. Overall, is it positive or negative?

B Read the review again and answer the questions.

- Which activities are connected to making something?
- How do the guests give feedback on their experiences?
- Why do people like the programme? Give two reasons.
- What was the most negative reaction from a guest?
- Why does the presenter like the idea of the show?
- How might viewers benefit from watching the show?

C Work in pairs. Match meanings 1–7 with the words in bold from the review.

- not serious or important trivial
- hating
- repeating
- ordinary and boring
- the front part of a car over the engine
- makes use of
- walking but almost falling over

D Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- How many of the activities in the review above haven't you done? Are there any you would like to try?
- What other 'ordinary' activities have you never done but would like to try? Ask your partner if they have tried them.

GRAMMAR present perfect and past simple

6 Check what you know. Match examples 1–5 with rules a)–e).

- Brigstocke hosted the programme on radio before it moved to television.
- I've just discovered the quickest way to get to know a person is to have a list of things ...
- Paul Daniels has owned an original Beatles Revolver album since the sixties.
- I've never seen Star Wars.
- The programme's producer thought of the name a few years ago.

Rules:

- Use the past simple for a single completed action in the past where the time is specified or understood.
- Use the past simple for a longer state or series of actions which began and finished in the past.
- Use the present perfect for a completed action or experience in a period of time up to now, often in one's lifetime. The time is not specified.
- Use the present perfect for a recent completed action in the past that is relevant to or has a result in the present. The time is not specified.
- Use the present perfect for a state or series of actions which began in the past and continue to now.

7A Underline the time phrases in the sentences.

- ... and, so far, one guest has had a piano lesson ...
- No one has refused a challenge yet.
- I've already seen Mamma Mia, so let's get another DVD.
- Three weeks ago, comedian Arthur Smith gave his piano lesson nine out of ten.
- I've put up five shelves this morning and it's only 10 a.m.
- I put up five shelves this morning before lunch.
- We've watched the programme for five weeks now.
- We watched the programme for six weeks.

B Which verb form is used with each time phrase above? Why?

C Look at the time phrases in the box. Which are usually used with the present perfect? Which with the past simple? Which can be used with both?

so far ago up to now this time last week last month yet since for already last night lately earlier today in the summer over the last fortnight

8 1.7 Listen to the examples of fast connected speech. Write past simple (PS) or present perfect (PP) for each sentence.

- I've got one more question, if I'm not keeping you.

B Look at the audio script on page 164 and check your answers.

C Work in pairs and find:

- two phrases showing the caller thinks she may be causing a problem.
- one polite phrase from the receptionist meaning please be patient.

5 Work in pairs and role-play a phone conversation to a sports centre. Use the flow chart to help.

SPEAKING

6A Work in pairs. Student A: look at Situation 1. Student B: turn to page 158.

Situation 1 – Student A (Customer)
You booked a flight online, but you entered the wrong date for the return flight by mistake. Complete your information:
From _____ to _____ on _____ Returning on _____ (you put _____ by mistake).
Phone customer service and try to change the booking. To prepare, make notes on two or three enquiries you will make and predict what the customer service person might say.

B Work in pairs. Student A: Look at Situation 2. Student B: turn to page 158.

Situation 2 – Student A (Service person)
You work at the front desk of a hotel and handle reservations. Complete the information:
Name of hotel _____
Cost of upgrading to a better room _____
A customer calls to check a booking and possibly upgrade to a better room. When the customer calls make sure you:
• ask what the customer's name is.
• don't find the booking immediately ... only after a delay.

speakout TIP

Before making a phone enquiry, note what you want to say and what the other person might ask you. This can help your confidence, especially in formal situations.

DVD PREVIEW

1 Work in pairs and discuss the statements. Which ones do you agree with?

- If I go into a new situation, I prefer it if no one I know is there.
- I sometimes try to reinvent myself when I move into a new situation.
- I find it hard to be open with people I've just met.
- I enjoy social situations where I don't know anyone.

2A Look at the photos. What do you think the programme is about?

B Read the programme information and check.

BBC Off The Hook

*Off the Hook is a comedy set on a British university campus. It focuses on the adventures of a group of new students having their first experience of life away from home. The story centres on Danny, a young man who wants to leave his past behind and start afresh, but whose plans are foiled from the start by the arrival of an old friend. Tonight's episode takes us from Danny's arrival at the campus with his mum, through his initial encounters with characters who will be a big part of his life for the next three years. These include the beautiful Becky and Danny's annoying friend, Shane.

*off the hook – no longer in trouble.

DVD VIEW

4A Watch the DVD. Who does these things? Write D (Danny), M (Danny's mum), B (Becky) or S (Shane). Sometimes there is more than one answer. Who ...

- asks for a kiss? M
- says 'I love you'?
- makes a joke?
- embarrasses Danny?
- introduces themselves?
- introduces someone else?

B Watch the DVD again and complete the sentences.

Mum: Why don't you just let me come up and make 1 _____?

Danny: And maybe you should just stay for the first night and make 2 _____.

Becky: Inhaler boy.

Danny: Oh, you saw that. Good. I was 3 _____ that not everyone had seen it.

Becky: I thought you were 4 _____. I wouldn't let my 5 _____ within a mile of the place.

Shane: I made it, man. Can you 6 _____ it? There was one 7 _____ left on moral philosophy with comparative philology. I don't know what it is man, but it's only four hours of 8 _____ ... a week!

Keith: Sorry, if you're not in the 9 _____, could you just maybe go to the back?

Shane: Chill out, Granddad. What are you 10 _____ like that for, charity or something?

C Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- What do you think will make it difficult for Danny to make a new start?
- What do you think will happen to the characters in the series?

6A Think about your first time in one of the following situations:

- starting a new job
- starting a school or university
- meeting a host family
- moving into a new flat
- going for an interview
- moving to a new country
- starting a new course or class

B Make notes about what happened, your first impressions and how you felt.

C Work in pairs and take turns. Tell each other about your situation. Try to use some of the key phrases in your story.

writeback a summary

7A Read the summary of the story. What two facts are different from the recording?

Dave's story was about his first day at a new job. He was twenty-three and a trainee in a law firm. He described it as a typical first day, with everyone feeling very nervous and trying to make a good impression. Dave was at his desk reading a report and his new shoes were hurting, so he took them off.

He had been sitting there for over an hour when the head partner called him in to his office. Dave jumped up and rushed in, forgetting to put on his shoes. The partner looked at him, and Dave felt incredibly embarrassed. When the partner asked him why he didn't have shoes on, he couldn't think of anything to say, so he told the truth and said he had forgotten to put them on. The partner simply smiled, and that was the end of it.

B Write a summary of your partner's story.

C Exchange stories with your partner and check the facts.

READING

1 Look at the photos and discuss. What are the people doing and why are they wearing red noses?

2A Read the articles and answer the questions.

- 1 What is Comic Relief?
- 2 Who participates in Comic Relief events?
- 3 What happens on Red Nose Day?
- 4 How often does it happen?
- 5 Which of the activities described in the second article involve:
 - a) looking silly?
 - b) not talking?
 - c) not sleeping?

B Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 Would you be willing to do any of the activities in the article?
- 2 Do you think Red Nose Day would be successful in your country?

C Guess the meaning of the words in bold in the second article. Use questions 1–3 below to help you.

Then work in pairs and compare your answers.

- 1 Which part of speech is each word?
- 2 Is there anything in the surrounding context to help you work out the meaning?
- 3 Do you recognise any parts of the word, or is it similar to another word you know in English or in your language?

Eye-opening:

- 1) It's an adjective
- 2) She may be surprised or happy
- 3) It's made of eye and open so it probably means surprising

Speakout TIP

When you are reading, try to guess the meanings of new words so that you don't stop reading in order to look them up. Ask yourself about the part of speech, context and similarity to other words.

Comic Relief is a charity that was founded in 1985. It has been raising money for over twenty years to fund projects that help poor and vulnerable people both in the UK and across the world's poorest countries.

One of the ways Comic Relief raises money is through its Red Nose Day fundraising campaign, which is held in the spring every other year.

Red Nose Day involves fundraising events all around the UK including, as the name suggests, the wearing of Red Noses. Ordinary people all over the country participate, often doing unusual, silly things to attract attention to the cause and raise money. In the evening, the BBC hosts a seven-hour telethon which features celebrities in comedy sketches as well as powerful films about the projects Comic Relief supports in the UK and around the world.

To date, Comic Relief's Red Nose Day campaign has raised over a half a billion pounds, has sold nearly 60 million red noses, has produced fourteen singles (including eleven number ones) and has transmitted more than 190 hours of television. International versions of Red Nose Day have also been held in Canada, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Germany.

Would you be funny for money?

According to its website, Comic Relief's biggest tool 'is the ability to inspire people across the whole country – especially those who don't normally do charity – to do charity.' Red Nose Day seems to bring out the best and craziest in people, and this afternoon we were out and about asking people what they were doing.

'We came to work this morning in our pyjamas and took a bucket round to collect money from our colleagues,' said Maria D'Angelo outside the office where she works. 'It's been eye-opening actually. I've been working here for a year and it's the first time I've spoken to some of my colleagues.'

Down the street, outside a shoe shop, manager Chris Bayley was sitting in a bath full of something green. 'I've closed the shop and I'm spending the day in this jelly,' he explained, 'Do you want to try some? It tastes good!' How did he feel? 'I'm freezing! I've been sitting here for four hours now. But people walking by have been very generous.'

Traffic control officer, Sonia Gold, was taking a break from directing traffic. 'I've had this red nose on since eight o'clock this morning and I've had a great time. Everyone is in a good mood. A lot of the drivers have been waving at me or hooting and quite a lot of the cars are 'wearing' red noses too.'

And at Oakfield Junior School everyone had their red noses on but it was strangely silent in the corridors. One student, Wesley, wrote for us in his notebook: 'We're having a sponsored silence. I haven't opened my mouth all day, except to eat. Only one more hour now.' The teachers, I noted, seemed to be enjoying the unaccustomed quiet.

There was music, though, coming from the school hall where about forty people were taking part in a twenty-four-hour dance marathon. Paul Yelder looked worn out. 'I'm totally exhausted. We've been dancing for twelve hours, and I'm not sure I can survive till the end.' His partner, Yasmin McKay, was bursting with energy. 'Only twelve hours to go,' said Yasmin. 'My friends have said they'll double their donations if we finish!'

Everyone was getting involved: with cake sales, pub quizzes, sponsored swims; you name it and someone was doing it. If this town is anything to go by, it looks as if Red Nose Day is set to break all records this year.

VOCABULARY surveillance

1A Look at the photo. How does it make you feel? Why?

B Work in pairs. Match the types of surveillance technology in the box with quotes 1–6.

phone cameras speed cameras CCTV cameras microchips street level cameras number plate recognition

1 I think they're an invasion of privacy because people can see the area where you live and how to get into your house or apartment.

2 There's not much evidence that they really prevent accidents and law-abiding citizens who drive safely have nothing to fear.

3 They act as a deterrent to crime because potential criminals know that their actions might be filmed.

4 These can make people more accountable for their actions because their photos can be taken and put up on the internet, so it's a good thing.

5 Because these are in all our credit cards and travel passes it means people can monitor and log information about our habits and movements as we move around a city but I don't like the fact that personal data on our shopping habits can be handed over to other companies.

6 I worry that the authorities can now keep track of you and where you are every minute of the day, that is if you drive, of course. It's all part of the growing surveillance society.

C Match meanings 1–8 with the phrases in bold in Exercise 1B.

- 1 record log
- 2 a way to stop people from doing something illegal
- 3 given
- 4 responsible for
- 5 people who aren't criminals
- 6 getting information about someone's private life in a way they don't like
- 7 watch or follow (two phrases)
- 8 a situation where there is a lot of observation, filming or recording of people

D Work in pairs and discuss the statements in Exercise 1B. Do you agree with them? Why?/ Why not?

GRAMMAR the passive

3A Check what you know. Look at the sentences and underline the passive forms.

- They're just used by the government to make money.
- More crimes are being solved because of CCTV cameras.
- A few months ago I was robbed by two men but thanks to CCTV, the people who did it were all arrested.
- In my area, four cameras have been placed along one stretch of road.
- The technology will be used to tell us what we can and can't eat.
- Everyone has to be more careful because their photos might be sent to the newspapers.
- I hate being watched like that.
- I certainly don't want to be sent adverts from companies I don't know.

B Underline the correct alternative to complete the rules.

Rules:

- Use the passive to put the focus on the person or thing doing the action / affected by the action.
- Use the passive when the person who did the action:
 - is / isn't* obvious
 - is known / unknown*
 - is / isn't* important
- Use the passive to bring the object of the verb to the beginning / the end of the sentence.

C Work in pairs. Match each of the rules above with the sentences in Exercise 3A.

4 2.4 Mark the stress in phrases 1–6. Listen and check. Then listen again and repeat.

- They're just used by the government ...

SPEAKING

6A Work in pairs. Read the article and answer the questions.

- Which of the police plans do you think would be most useful for cutting crime?
- How do you think the following groups of people would feel about the plans: the police, the local residents, parents, teenagers?

Police to install town-wide surveillance

In response to the recent surge in crime, police have announced plans to install the following security systems:

- CCTV cameras to cover the whole town
- speed cameras and number plate recognition on all main roads
- police spot checks for identity cards
- monitoring of mobile and landline telephone calls
- monitoring of social network websites
- all teenagers' mobile phones to be registered on police GPS systems

B Work in pairs. You belong to one of the four groups in Exercise 6A. Make a list of your reasons for or against the plans.

C Work in groups. Role-play a meeting between the four groups to discuss the proposed plans.

WRITING a letter of complaint

7A Work in pairs and discuss. In what circumstances would you write a letter of complaint or make an official complaint? Have you ever done this? What happened?

B Read the letter and answer the questions.

- Who is the letter to?
- Why is the writer complaining?
- What does he want to achieve?

Hillhead Local Council
1662 Parkway
Hillhead, H3 7JT
Dear Sir or Madam,

- I am writing with regard to the Council's recent installation of CCTV cameras in our area.
- Briefly, the problem is that despite guarantees about safeguarding the CCTV images, it is possible for anyone to view them on their home computer because the system is internet-linked and not password-protected. As a result, pictures cannot be kept secure and, in fact, myself and my car can be identified in images that were recently posted online. I regard this as a serious invasion of privacy as well as a violation of the local council promise to taxpayers.
- I have already pursued this matter with the local police department, who have advised me to contact you immediately.
- In order to resolve this matter I am requesting that you remove the images where I appear without delay (specific coordinates are detailed in the enclosed document), and that you take action to prevent further invasions of privacy in the future. This would include ensuring that internet-based CCTV images are passworded and that techniques are used to blur the pictures so that individuals are unrecognisable.
- Please contact me within ten days of the date of this letter to confirm that these steps have been taken. If you need to contact me by telephone, you may reach me at (0141) 985-001.
- Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

Yours faithfully,

Steven Jones

B Work in pairs. Underline all the examples of the passive in the letter. Why is it used so often?

speakout TIP

A letter of complaint should follow 'The Four Cs'. It should be: concise, clear, constructive and considerate. Reread the letter. Does it follow all four of 'The Four Cs'?

9A Plan a letter of complaint.

- Read the notes below and choose one of the situations.
- Decide what you want to achieve in the letter.
- Make notes on the content of each paragraph.

Situation 1

Your neighbours / new burglar alarm / alarm gone off three times / neighbours away / tried to talk to them / too busy
Write a letter of complaint to your neighbours.

Situation 2

Recently you parked car / thought it was legal / returned / parking fine / no-parking sign / behind tree
Write a letter of complaint to your local council.

Situation 3

Recently you joined online DVD store / huge increase of spam / email unusable / store did not protect contact details
Write a letter of complaint to the customer service department of the online store.

B Write the letter (120–180 words).

- If you do it, the police might arrest you.
- There's a good reason for it.
- I'm totally shocked and extremely angry.
- Maybe it bothers some people, but not me.

B Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: give one of the opinions above. Student B: close your book and reply using one of the adjectives.

A: It's going to happen sooner or later, that's for sure.

B: Yes, it's inevitable.

C Which of the adjectives in Exercise 8A can be made into their opposites by adding/removing a prefix?

SPEAKING

9A Work in pairs and choose three topics to discuss.

- Everyone should be paid exactly the same amount for any job they do.
- What you wear is not important.
- Exams are a waste of time.
- University should be free for all.
- Friendship is more important than love.
- It's unethical to buy extremely cheap clothes from developing countries.

B Work in groups and discuss the questions.

- Do you agree or disagree with each statement? Why? Give at least two reasons.
- Which adjective(s) from Exercise 8A can you use to say how you feel about each topic?

DVD PREVIEW

1 Work in pairs and discuss. Which ways of completing the statement do you agree with?

Money can't make you happy ...

- but doing a job you love can.
- What a silly thing to say! Of course it can!
- but you can't be happy with no money. You need a certain amount.
- but shopping does make me feel good.
- and neither can any objects or possessions.
- but I would still like to be very, very rich!

2 Read the programme information. What do you think the scientists will say in this episode?

The Happiness Formula

People in many countries are far wealthier than fifty years ago but happiness levels have declined. As people have recognised the failure of consumerism to deliver happiness, scientists have taken an interest in what it is that does or doesn't make people happy. This six-part series explores their findings. In tonight's instalment, presenter Mark Easton finds out why the work-and-buy ethic has failed us, and what the science of happiness says about how we should change our way of life.

DVD VIEW

3A Watch the DVD. What is the scientists' main point about how we should change our life?

B Work in pairs. Explain the connection between each pair of words.

- | | |

| 2 status | designer label |
| 3 being in the rat race | being stuck on a treadmill |
| 4 increase | diminish |
| 5 assumption | evidence |
| 8 suspect (adj) | unreliable |

C Watch again and answer the questions.

- 1 What is the significance of '£10,000 a year'?
- 2 The reporter says 'the science of happiness suggests we should do the opposite'. The opposite of what?
- 3 Professor Jackson talks about 'assumptions that we have to re-examine'. What is one assumption he mentions?

D Work in groups and discuss the questions.

- 1 What do you think has stopped people from being happier as they have become wealthier?
- 2 What do you think people can do to change their situation?

Which is the [most/least] important for your happiness?

What would you say is missing from your life?

Which would you find the [easiest/hardest/most difficult] to live without?

Are you more or less happy than you were five years ago?

How happy would you say you are, on a scale of one to five (five being very happy)?

5A Work in pairs and prepare a short happiness survey using the key phrases.

B Talk to other students and ask your questions. Make notes on their answers.

C Summarise your findings to the class.

writeback tips for being happy

6A A website asked its readers for tips for being happy. Work in pairs. Read two of the responses and discuss which you agree with.

Don't read the news or watch TV

The news is filled with negative images and stories and each one contributes to your stress levels, making you feel more depressed. Following the news can also take up a great deal of your attention. Instead, use the time to do something you enjoy, such as cooking a meal, phoning a friend or going for a walk.

Get a pet

Studies have shown that people who have a dog or cat are happier and live longer. A pet can give companionship that, for some people, is almost as good as having a partner. Be realistic about what type of pet would be most suitable for you and for your accommodation. Remember, if you choose a dog you'll have to take it for walks, whereas a cat is more independent.

B Work in pairs. Use the headings below to make notes on three tips for being happy.

Tip: Do something new every day.

Why this helps: simple concept – keeps your brain alert – raises your energy levels – stimulating – makes you feel happier

How to do it: get off the train/bus a stop early and walk home – speak to someone you don't know – do a new type of puzzle

C Write about your tips for the website (120–200 words). Use one paragraph for each tip.

D Read other students' tips. Whose tips would work best for you?

SOCIAL ISSUES

1A Make a list of as many social issues as you can remember.

B Which social issue(s) could each statement refer to?

- 1 There are different types – air, water, noise – and the latter is the one that causes the most stress.
- 2 Women are more commonly victims of this.
- 3 The rate in Japan is half that in the USA, but India has the lowest rate in the world.
- 4 There has been a dramatic increase in suicides among Australian farmers because of this.
- 5 Some of the main causes are flooding, overpopulation and war.
- 6 It's more common among people with less money.

C Work in pairs and discuss the statements in Exercise 1B. What reasons can you think of for these situations?

PRESENT PERFECT SIMPLE AND CONTINUOUS

2A Make questions with the prompts. Use the most natural verb form: the present perfect simple or continuous, or the past simple.

- 1 How long / you / learn / English?
- 2 Your English / improve / a lot recently. What / you / do?
- 3 How many teachers / you / have?
- 4 Who / be / your favourite teacher before your current one?
- 5 How far / you / travel / to class today?
- 6 you / do / your homework for today?
- 7 How long / take / you / do it?
- 8 you / study / a lot this week?
- 9 you / practise / English / outside the class regularly in the past year?
- 10 you / ever / forget / to bring anything to class?
- 11 How long / try / understand the present perfect?
- 12 you / spend / too much time in front of your computer lately?

B Work in pairs and take turns. Ask and answer the questions.

B: ²I'm so sure. What about long journeys? For instance, with kids?
A: ³You are a point there, but I meant on shorter journeys.
B: ⁴Enough fair, but I think it'd be impossible to check.
A: ⁵I'm agree to some extent, but maybe the ticket collectors or guards could check.
B: ⁶I'm still not convincing. Some people would carry on anyway.
A: ⁷Hmm ... I suppose, unfortunately.

B Choose one of the topics and have a conversation. Use the phrases in Exercise 6A to help you.

- banning homework
- letting women play on men's professional sports teams
- lowering the voting age

- When you've got a problem, do you listen and think carefully about advice from other people or do you often take no notice of it and make your own decision?
- If you have plants in your house, do you look after them or fail to give them attention?
- When you argue or disagree with a friend, do you tend to refuse to change your view or are you the one who usually changes your opinion first?

C Work in pairs and discuss the questions in Exercise 2B.

It's like a drug ...

JADE'S STORY

When I first met Sam, I really liked him. He was good-looking and kind but quite shy. He used to play computer games – or one in particular – quite a lot. I'd visit him at his home and he'd be sitting at the computer. Sometimes he didn't even turn round, and I thought that was strange but I soon got used to talking to his back! Anyway, three years ago we got married.

Now when he comes home from work, one of us cooks dinner, while the other looks after our son Joe. Then instead of sitting down and chatting about the day, Sam usually goes straight to his computer to play Battle Galaxy 2525. Whenever I try to get him to watch a movie on TV or something, he either completely ignores me or he agrees and then gets bored because he wants to go back to his game. I'm not used to that type of behaviour. It's very different from my family. I feel ignored and often ask myself why I stay with this guy.

It wouldn't be so bad if it was just with me. But whenever his parents come round he carries on playing and ignores them. Sometimes he turns round to say something but he often doesn't even know what we've been talking about. So I have to talk to them and pretend that everything's normal.

I remember once I got really annoyed and I unplugged his computer. He was furious – he said I'd 'killed' some of his friends.

READING

3A Work in pairs. Student A: turn to page 159. Student B: read the article above. Underline two words/phrases in the box that best describe how Jade sees herself. Circle two words that describe how she sees Sam.

selfish patient talkative a good parent neglected rude a good friend

B Work with a student who read the same article and compare your answers.

4A What can you remember? Answer the questions. Then read your article again and check.

- Why did Sam and Jade like each other at first?
- Does Sam spend enough time with Jade and Joe?
- Why does Sam like the game so much?
- Why are Sam and Jade both irritated when Sam's parents visit?
- Why did Jade unplug Sam's computer? Why were they both angry afterwards?
- How do they both feel about Joe playing on the computer?

B Work with a student who read the other article and compare your answers to Exercises 3A and 4A.

C Work in pairs and discuss. How do you think Jade and Sam can resolve the problem? Who do you think needs to change the most?

I think these virtual 'friends' of his are more important to him than me and Joe. I mean, they aren't even real! I couldn't believe it! I shouted at him that he only thinks about himself and his virtual world ... we didn't talk to each other for a whole week.

And Joe? I suppose he's used to his father being on the computer because he's never known anything different. But Sam's idea of being a good father is showing Joe how to tap on the computer keyboard. One thing's for sure, I'm never going to let Joe start playing computer games. I've threatened to leave Sam but it would be terrible for Joe and I'm sure that deep down Sam knows he's in the wrong. It's like a drug. I think he needs help.

GRAMMAR used to, would, be/get used to 5 Look at sentences 1–5 and underline the correct alternative to complete the rules.

- Jade used to visit me at my flat and she enjoyed watching me play.
- I'd visit him at his home and he'd be sitting at the computer.
- Joe's used to me sitting at the computer. He's never known anything different.
- I'm not used to that kind of behaviour. It's very different from my family.
- I thought it was strange but I soon got used to talking to his back.

Rules:

- Use used to to talk about activities and states which happen regularly in the present/happened in the past but not usually now.
- Use would to talk about activities/states in the past which no longer happen now.
- Use be used to to talk about things that are familiar/strange to us.
- Use get used to to talk about things that are familiar/become familiar to us over a period of time.
- After used to and would, use the infinitive/the -ing form or a noun.
- After be used to and get used to, use the infinitive/the -ing form or a noun.

PRACTICE

6A Correct the mistake in each sentence.

- When I was a kid, I'd often quarrelled with my parents.
- As a child, I used to eating too many sweets.
- I'm not used to get up early, so when I have to be somewhere in the morning, I'm often late.
- I used to saying what I think, and sometimes I upset people.
- I get used to my mother cooking for me when I lived at home, and now I can't cook for myself.
- I come from a big family and I don't think I'll ever get used to live on my own.
- I didn't used to be help much around the house.
- I would be quite a lazy student when I was younger, and I often put off finishing my homework.

B Work in groups and discuss. Which of the bad habits and behaviour above do/did you share? Do/Did you have any other bad habits?

SPEAKING

7 Work in pairs and take turns. Say which of the habits below really annoy you and why, giving examples. Which are the worst? Can you name any others?

- blowing your nose loudly in a restaurant
- not cleaning up after yourself in the kitchen
- interrupting people when they're speaking
- pretending to listen, but not really listening
- leaving the TV on all the time
- eating on public transport

WRITING an opinion essay

8A Look at the essay title. Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

Most people fill their leisure time with meaningless activities. Do you agree?

- 1 What do you consider a 'meaningful' and a 'meaningless' leisure activity?
- 2 What is your opinion of the statement?

B Read the essay. Do you agree with the writer's point of view?

1 It is said that technological development has given people more leisure time than they used to have, and that this frees them up to concentrate on pursuing their interests or improving themselves. It seems to me however, that most people spend their free time doing things that do not contribute to their development and are essentially unproductive.

2 To start with, the most popular free-time activities seem to be ones that people do alone. For instance, most people spend a large part of their time on the internet and, even when they are interacting with others, they are only doing so electronically; they are not communicating with a person, but with digital signals. In addition to this, when people do go out it is often to visit the shopping centre; for some families, their main time together consists of a few hours walking, filling a shopping trolley and eating at a snack bar in a shopping mall.

3 At the same time, there are examples of people making good use of their time. At weekends, there are parks, forests and beaches full of people doing sports or taking walks together. Some people do volunteer work for charity organisations for a few hours a week. Other people join theatre or singing groups and there are many people who enjoy reading. Sadly, however, this reflects a relatively small part of the overall population.

4 In conclusion, I agree that people use their free time wastefully, and I feel that the situation is getting worse. It is my hope that this might change in the future.

C Work in pairs. Identify the purpose of each paragraph.

D Underline three phrases for giving opinions. Which paragraphs do they occur in?

LEARN TO use linkers in an opinion essay

9A Complete the table with the linking words/phrases in bold in the essay.

firstly to start with	furthermore	to conclude	in contrast	for example

B Add the following phrases to the correct columns of the table.

moreover	in the first place	to sum up	as an example as opposed to this

10A Choose one of the essay titles below. Work alone and make notes on the questions.

- Do you agree with the opinion?
- Why/Why not? List three points.
- What examples can you give to support your points?

Using computers and the internet develops important skills in young people.

Technology has created less free time rather than more.

Leisure activities have become too expensive.

Children need more play time in order to develop into healthy adults.

B Work in groups and discuss your opinions. Make notes on any new points you could include in your essay.

C Write a plan for your essay.

speakout TIP

One way to organise an opinion essay is as follows:

- An introductory paragraph – state the topic and give your opinion. You can start, 'Some people believe....' or use a question or a quotation.
- The main body of the essay in two or three paragraphs. Each time you give a viewpoint, give your reasons/examples.
- A conclusion where you restate your opinion using different words.

D Write the essay (120–180 words). Then check your work for accurate grammar and for use of linkers.

C Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: tell your partner your sentences. Student B: ask follow-up questions.

- A: I might go to Croatia on holiday this year.
B: Sounds good. Whereabouts in Croatia?

VOCABULARY PLUS uncountable and plural nouns

7A Read the email. Why is Valerie enjoying her holiday?

To: Gabriel14@mailbox.com

Hi Gabriel,

Just a quick note from the middle of nowhere ...

We got off to a rough start when Marianna fell down the stairs coming off the plane (no major injuries). Then our luggage got lost, along with all of my clothes and my reading glasses, as well as our toiletries. Things are pretty basic here – you can't buy soap for instance. We're staying on the outskirts of a tiny village, in a yurt, a sort of house made of cloth and wood (see attached photo). In fact there's no concrete anywhere ... and no electricity but I can't say I miss watching the news on TV. So what do we do? Well, a bit of horseback riding during the day and we play cards in the evening. The locals are incredibly friendly. You know, I've realised that simpler is better and I don't want to come home!

Valerie

B Work in pairs and discuss. Would you enjoy this kind of holiday? Why/Why not?

8A Look at the email again. Underline six uncountable nouns and circle six nouns which are usually found only in the plural. Use a dictionary if necessary.

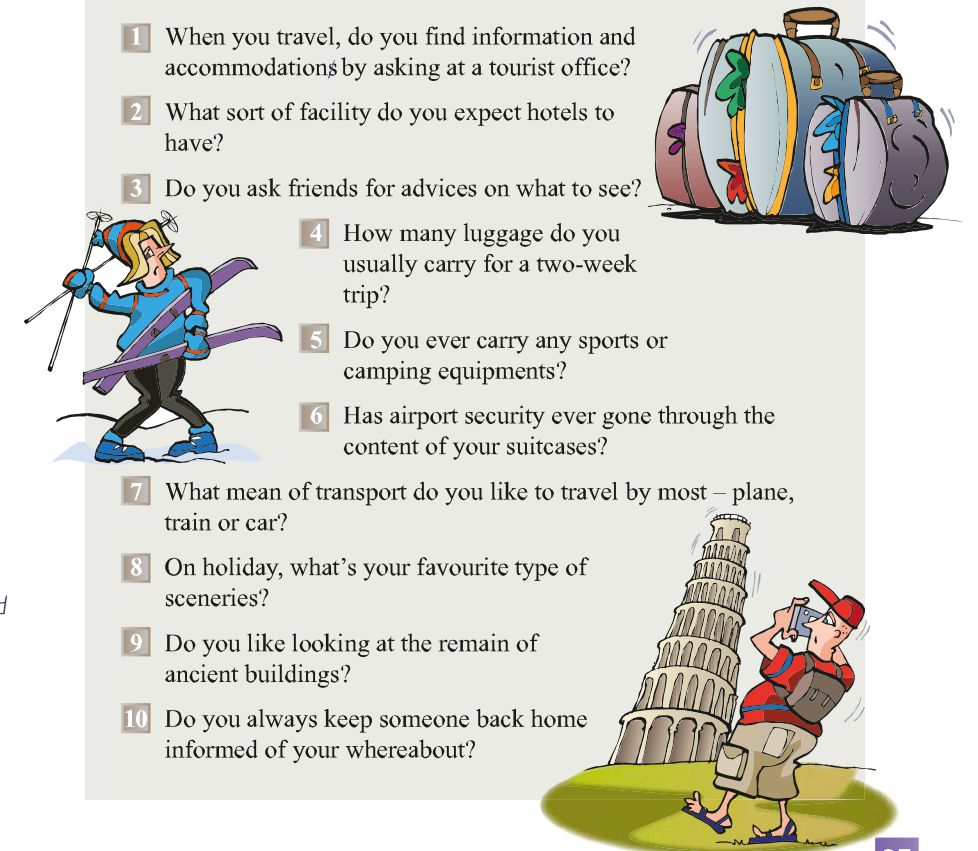

B Read the quiz below. Find and correct ten mistakes.

C Work in pairs and take turns. Ask and answer the quiz questions.

SPEAKING

1 Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- Do you enjoy watching game shows? Why?/ Why not?
- What sort of game shows do you have in your country?
- What do the contestants have to do?

FUNCTION describing procedures

2A Work in pairs. Look at the BBC game shows in the photos. What do you think happens in each show?

B ▶ 3.4 Listen to the descriptions of two of the shows. Were your ideas correct?

C Listen again. For each show, make notes about:

- number of contestants
- description of set
- aim of game
- winner
- best thing about it

3A Match the sentence halves to make phrases for explaining procedures.

- The way it works is that
 - Basically, the point is not
 - What happens is
 - The first thing they do
 - The key thing is to
 - The object is for
 - After they've finished
- that the host says 'Bring on the wall!'
 - the team to win money by answering a chain of questions correctly.
 - bank the money as you go along.
 - is answer general knowledge questions.
 - each round, they have to vote on who should get eliminated.
 - there are two teams, with two celebs on each team.
 - to get knocked into the pool.

B Which phrases from Exercise 3A are used:

- to state the overall goal or aim?
- to describe details of the procedure?
- to highlight something particularly important?

C ▶ 3.5 Listen and mark the main stresses in phrases 1–7 in Exercise 3A. Then listen again and repeat.

4A Complete the description of a game.

The ¹ way it works ² _____ that there are two teams of eleven players playing with a ball on a large 'field' with two goals at either end. The ³ _____ thing they ⁴ _____ is to toss a coin and one team decides who gets the ball first. ⁵ _____ happens ⁶ _____ that the team with the ball has four chances to try to 'advance' it 9.1 metres towards the other team's goal. After ⁷ _____ done that, they can have another four attempts, but if they don't succeed, then the other team takes possession. Basically, the ⁸ _____ of the game is to score points by carrying the ball across your opponents' goal line. The ⁹ _____ thing is to keep possession of the ball, because then the other team can't score! The winner is the team who score the most points. The name of the game is ¹⁰ _____.

B Think of a game/sport you know. Make notes on: the number of players, the equipment, the procedure, the aim.

C Work in groups and take turns. Student A: describe the game/sport but don't say the name. Other students: guess the game/sport.

LEARN TO use mirror questions

5A Look at the questions in bold and underline the correct alternative to complete the rules.

- A: There are two teams, with two celebs on each team.
B: Two what?
A: Celebs. Celebrities.
- A: The host says 'Bring on the wall!'
B: He does what?
- A: There's a funny-shaped hole and they have to get through it.
B: They have to get through where?
- A: The host stands in the centre.
B: Who stands in the centre?

Rules:

- Use mirror questions to express surprise or clarify understanding.
- Repeat a part/all of what was said.
- Replace the problem word or phrase with a suitable question word/the word 'what'.
- Use do/do what to replace a verb phrase you didn't understand.
- Use question/statement word order.
- Stress/Don't stress* the question word.

🗨️ speakout TIP

When trying to understand instructions or directions, it's useful to use part of what the other person says to make the mirror question. This helps the other person see what you understood and what you didn't understand instead of asking them to repeat everything again.

B Complete the mirror questions to check the words/phrases in italics.

- A: You have to sauté the potatoes.
B: _____?
- A: The first player writes an anagram of the word.
B: _____?
- A: You go to the webinar site.
B: _____?
- A: Basically, the aim is to beat the rival team.
B: _____?

C ▶ 3.6 Mark the main stress in the questions above. Listen and check. Then listen again and repeat.

VOCABULARY common actions

50 Things To Do Before You Die

When the BBC asked its viewers what one thing they'd like to do in their lifetime, the response was overwhelming with some 20,000 members of the public sending in their ideas. 50 Things To Do Before You Die takes the viewers on a tour through the top fifty viewer choices, from observing rare and exotic animals in their natural habitat, to travelling a historic route by train, car or jet plane, to some more extreme activities not for the faint-hearted, among them bungee jumping, husky dog sledding and wing-walking. Whether you're a hard-core traveller or an armchair tourist, you're sure to find inspiration for your next journey.

GRAMMAR | narrative tenses

3A Read the first paragraph of Starfish again and underline examples of the past simple; the past continuous; the past perfect and the past perfect continuous.

B Underline the correct verb form in the rules. Use the first paragraph of Starfish to help.

Rules:

- a) Use the past simple / past continuous for completed actions which give the main events in a story.
- b) Use the past simple / past continuous for actions in progress at a particular time or when another (shorter) action happened. Also use it to set the scene of a story.
- c) Use the past perfect simple / past perfect continuous for completed actions that happened before the main events.
- d) Use the past perfect simple / past perfect continuous for longer actions that started before other events and often continued up to them.

Starfish

A woman was feeling exhausted because she had been working all day in the city, so she decided to drive out to the sea. After she'd driven for over an hour, she arrived at a beautiful, deserted stretch of sand just as the sun was going down.

The sea was at its highest point of the day, but the tide was just beginning to go out, so she parked her car and started walking. She was strolling along the beach when she noticed a young man who seemed to be dancing at the water's edge. She watched him, as time and again he bent down, picked something up and then threw it into the sea.

As she drew nearer to the man, she saw on the sand thousands of starfish which had been washed onto the beach by the tide. She was amazed because she'd never seen so many starfish at once but, at the same time, she thought it was a sad and hopeless sight because the stranded starfish seemed sure to die when the tide went out and they dried up. Then she noticed that one by one, the young man was tossing them back into the sea. As she watched, it seemed clear to her that his efforts were futile, that no matter how fast or hard he worked, most of the starfish were doomed to die. Intrigued, the woman said to the young man, 'There are starfish as far as the eye can see. What difference can saving a few of them possibly make?'

C Work in pairs. Mark the stress on the phrases in bold. Circle and write any weak forms (/ə/ or /ɪ/).

- 1 A woman was feeling tired because she had been working all day.
- 2 ... thousands of starfish which had been washed onto the beach.
- 3 Two old men were staying in the same hospital room.
- 4 He had been put in the bed right next to the window.

D 4.1 Listen and check. Then listen and repeat.

HOSPITAL WINDOW

Two old men, both very ill, were staying in the same hospital room. One man, Walter, had been suffering from a serious illness for a few months. He had been put in the bed right next to the window and, during the afternoon, he was allowed to sit up for an hour or two. The other man, Frank, had been in hospital for only a week and was in a bed some way from the window.

Owing to his illness, Frank had to spend all his time flat on his back. Needless to say, this made him feel very low because he could never sit up or see outside. So every afternoon, while Walter was sitting up, he used to tell his roommate everything happening outside the window. He would describe a park with a beautiful lake: ducks and swans were swimming in the water, children were sailing their model boats and couples were walking amongst the trees. He always made these images of the outside world come to life, and Frank looked forward to the hour or two every day when Walter would bring the beauty of the world into their bare hospital room. He realised that more than any doctor or medicine, Walter's descriptions saved him from depression and helped him on the road to recovery.

One day, sadly, Walter passed away. Shortly afterwards, the nurse asked Frank if he wanted to move to the bed next to the window.

PRACTICE

4A Work in pairs. Complete the story below with the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

One afternoon, Socrates ¹____ (stand) outside the gates of Athens when he ²____ (notice) a traveller who ³____ (stare) at him for a long time. Socrates ⁴____ (ask) the man why he ⁵____ (come) to Athens. 'I am thinking of moving to Athens,' he said. 'What is it like to live here?' Socrates ⁶____ (look) at him. 'First, would you tell me what it was like in your home city?' The man replied, 'Oh, it was awful. Everyone stabs you in the back and wants to make money from you.' Frowning, Socrates ⁷____ (tell) him, 'Well, you will find the same thing here. I suggest you go somewhere else.'

Socrates ⁸____ (stand) there a few hours more when another man ⁹____ (approach) him. This man too ¹⁰____ (just arrive) in Athens and he ¹¹____ (consider) moving to the city. He too asked Socrates, 'Can you tell me what it is like to live here?' Socrates asked, 'First, would you tell me what it was like in your previous home city?' 'Where I come from the people all work together and help each other', said the man. 'Kindness is everywhere and you are never treated with anything but complete respect.' 'Well,' ¹²____ (reply) Socrates, 'you will find the same thing here. Welcome to Athens.'

B Work in pairs. What is the moral of the story?

VOCABULARY | sayings

5A Work in pairs and match the halves of the sayings. What do you think they mean?

- 1 Every cloud g a) there's hope.
- 2 What goes around b) do as the Romans do.
- 3 Where there's smoke c) twice shy.
- 4 Once bitten, d) when we come to it.
- 5 When in Rome e) there's fire.
- 6 Where there's life f) comes around.
- 7 Nothing ventured, g) has a silver lining.
- 8 Let's cross that bridge h) nothing gained.

B Complete the conversations with one of the sayings in Exercise 5A.

- 1 A: Shall I enter the talent show?
B: Oh, go on! After all, _____.
- 2 A: Did you eat snake in China?
B: Yes, you know what they say: _____.
- 3 A: Joe was fired but now he's found an even better job!
B: Really? Well, _____.
- 4 A: You should buy your new phone online.
B: No, last time my card details were stolen. _____.
- 5 A: Since my accident, Pam's been so helpful.
B: You were always there for her. _____.
- 6 A: Alain said he wasn't dating Kim.
B: Well, I've seen them together, and _____.
- 7 A: What happens with our picnic if it rains?
B: I think it's unlikely but anyway, _____.
- 8 A: The company can't survive another year!
B: Look, we're still in business and _____.

speakout TIP

People often use only the beginnings of a saying and expect the listener to understand the full idea, e.g. What goes around ... or When in Rome ... or Let's cross that bridge later. Look at B's sentences in Exercise 5B. Which part of each saying could you leave out?

C Work in pairs and discuss. Do you have similar sayings in your language? What other common sayings do you have?

SPEAKING

6A Choose an experience in your life that illustrates one of the sayings in Exercise 5A.

B Prepare to tell your story. Write down eight to ten key words to help. Think about the verb forms you want to use.

C Work in groups and take turns. One student: tell your story. The other students: guess the saying it illustrates.

WRITING a story

7A Read the story opposite. Did the ending surprise you? Why?

B Read the story again and answer the questions.

- How does the writer link the beginning and end of the story?
- Which paragraph sets the scene? Which verb forms are used to do this?
- Which paragraphs develop the story? Which verb forms are used to do this?
- Where does the writer include his feelings and what he learnt from the incident?

LEARN TO use adverbs

8A Work in pairs and circle ten -ly adverbs in the story in Exercise 7A.

B Write the adverbs in the correct category in the table.

adverbs of manner (describing how an action happened) attitude markers (expressing the writer's attitude to something in the story)	apparently time markers (referring to time)

C Match meanings 1–5 with adverbs from the table.

- The writer thinks something is normal and not surprising (two adverbs) naturally,
- In a sad and disappointed way
- The writer has heard something is true but he's not completely sure about it
- In a clumsy and uncoordinated way
- After a long time (two adverbs)

Speakout TIP

To make a story more interesting, use a range of different adverbs. When you write the story in Exercise 9A, try to include at least two of each type of adverb.

9A Choose one of the following tasks and write a story (120–200 words) for a magazine. Use a saying as a title.

- an experience that illustrates a saying
- an experience that disproves a saying
- your story from Exercise 6A

B Check your story for accuracy of verb forms and spelling and for use of adverbs of manner, attitude and time.

If at first you don't succeed ...

- 'They say 'If at first you don't succeed ... try, try again.' But I'm not so sure that's always true.
- A few years ago, I was visiting some friends in France, on the coast of Brittany. These friends were all avid windsurfers and apparently most of them had been windsurfing since childhood, or so it seemed because they were all quite good at it. So, on my first day there, we all went to the beach and I got my first chance to try out the sport. I watched them for a while and tried to see how they did it.
- Finally, my turn came, so I waded into the cold sea water, pushing the board in front of me hopefully and stood up on it. Stupidly, I wasn't paying attention to the waves, so when a small wave came, I slipped awkwardly and fell in the water. My friends laughed from the beach; naturally I felt embarrassed, but I was determined to succeed. I stood up again on the board, this time keeping my eyes out for the waves, and I was able to stand without falling in. Then came the next step: pulling up the sail. I began to pull the sail up by the cord attached to it, lost my balance and fell in. I climbed up again, started to pull the sail up and fell in again.
- I must have done this at least fifty times and, by now, fortunately, my friends had left the beach because they'd got tired of laughing at me. Eventually, I began to feel cold – unsurprisingly, as I'd been falling in and climbing out of the water for an hour – and I came out of the water, defeated.
- I walked back to my towel dejectedly and in my mind rewrote the saying: If at first you don't succeed ... give up!

A LIFE IN SIX WORDS

GRAMMAR | I wish, If only, should have | VOCABULARY | multi-word verbs (1) | HOW TO | talk about regrets

A LIFE IN SIX WORDS

In the 1920s, the American author Ernest Hemingway bet ten dollars that he could write a complete story in just six words. He wrote: 'For Sale: baby shoes, never worn.' He won the bet.

An American online magazine has used the Hemingway anecdote to inspire its readers to write their life story in just six words, and they've been overwhelmed by the thousands who took up the challenge. They have published the best in a book, which they have given the title of one of the submissions: Not Quite What I Was Planning. The online magazine editor, Larry Smith, appeared on Today, BBC Radio 4's early morning current affairs programme.

Today then invited its listeners to send their own six-word life stories to the BBC website.

LISTENING

1A Work in pairs. Read the text and discuss the questions.

- What do you think Hemingway's six-word story is about?
- Why is Larry Smith appearing on Today?
- Where does the title of the book come from?
- Do you think you could write your life story in six words?

B 4.2 Listen to the interview with Larry Smith and answer the questions.

- What does his magazine website believe about story writing?
- What surprised him about the response to the six-word life story challenge?
- What feeling do a lot of the stories express?

C Listen again and complete sentences in the six-word stories you hear:

- Not quite what I was planning.
- Wasn't born _____.
- Found _____.
- Never _____.

D Work in pairs and discuss. Which of the stories above sounds most interesting? What do you think happened in this person's life?

GRAMMAR I wish, If only, should have 2A Work in pairs. Look at the six-word stories from the BBC website. What does each person want to change about their life?

- Wrong era, wrong class, wrong gender.
- Really should have been a lawyer.
- Born London, lived elsewhere, died inside.
- Any chance I could start again?
- Worry about tomorrow, rarely enjoy today!
- Aspirations compromised by procrastination, then children.

B Match sentences a)–f) with stories 1–6 above.

- I wish I could do it all again. 4
- If only I weren't so anxious.
- I wish I'd been born twenty years later.
- If only I hadn't given up on my dreams.
- I should have stayed where I was happy.
- I shouldn't have become a doctor.

C Complete the rules. Use the sentences in Exercise 2B to help.

Rule:

To express regret about the present or future use If only / I wish + _____

To express regret about the past, use:
If only / I wish + _____ or:
should(n't) + _____ + _____

D 4.3 Listen to the sentences from Exercise 2B and underline the stressed words. Then listen and repeat. Pay attention to the weak forms in should have /'ʃʊdəv/.

PRACTICE

3A For each pair of sentences, complete the second sentence so that it means the same as the first.

- I'd really like to have a new laptop.
I wish I had a new laptop.
- I regret growing up in a small family.
I wish _____.
- I'm sorry I didn't learn another language.
I should _____.
- I'm not very sociable.
If only _____.
- I regret not travelling more when I was younger.
I should _____.
- I never learnt how to touch-type.
If only _____.
- I often lose my temper with people.
I wish _____.
- I can't cook very well.
I wish _____.
- I gave up doing sport a while ago and I regret that.
I shouldn't _____.
- I regret not spending more time with my grandfather.
If only _____.

B Tick the sentences in Exercise 3A which are true for you. Change the others so that they are true.

I wish I had a new laptop car.

C Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: say your sentences from Exercise 3B. Student B: ask follow-up questions.

A: I wish I could cook.

B: Do you? Why's that?

VOCABULARY regrets

4A Put sentences a)–f) in the correct order to complete the forum entry.

What's your greatest regret?

- I actually turned down an offer to teach English abroad in my gap year. Now I realise that it was a missed opportunity.
- Lately I've had second thoughts about becoming a lawyer.
- Every time I remember that, I kick myself for not having jumped at the chance.
- It's my fault in the end, and it's a pity that I didn't listen to my father's advice. He was a lawyer and he always said I shouldn't become one.
- To make things worse, my best friend from university is teaching abroad, and I'm gutted every time I get a postcard from him.
- With hindsight, I think it's the wrong job for me and I should have gone into teaching or something more 'human'.

B Work in pairs and answer the questions.

- Which phrases in bold mean:
 - I regret? (4 phrases) I've had second thoughts about,
 - when I look back now? (1 phrase)
 - a chance I didn't take? (1 phrase)
- Which two phrases are very informal?
- Which phrase is followed by:
 - that?*
 - about + noun/-ing form?*
 - for + (not) -ing form?*

C Write your own entry for the website forum. Use at least four of the phrases.

D Work in pairs and takes turns. Tell your partner about your regret and give each other advice.

SPEAKING

5A Work in pairs. Do any of the six-word stories below describe your life? Why/Why not?

- If only I had turned left.
- No A Levels but a millionaire.
- Alas, Mr Right never turned up.
- Wasted my whole life getting comfortable.
- Started slowly then dashed to line.
- Ditched the map, found better route.

B Write your own six-word story about an aspect of your life.

C Work in groups and take turns. Ask and answer questions about your stories.

VOCABULARY PLUS multi-word verbs

6A Underline the multi-word verbs in stories 1–4 below. Then match each verb with meanings a)–f).

- Alas, Mr Right never turned up.
- Gave up chocolate, took up running.
- Loved Sonia. Settled down with Elena.
- Set up company. Money ran out.

- started (a hobby or habit)
- was completely used up
- arrived
- started (a business)
- started living a quiet life, e.g. got married and had children
- stopped (a hobby or habit)

B Work in pairs. Look at the extracts from the Longman Active Study Dictionary. Which verb:

- can sometimes be used without an object?
- must be used with an object?
- can be separated with an object?
- can be followed by a preposition?

set up phr v 1 to start a company or organisation

run out phr v 1 a) to use all of something, so that there is none left; +of We've run out of sugar | I'm running out of ideas. b) If something is running out, there will soon be none left. We'll have to make a decision soon - time is running out.

SPEAKOUT TIP

A dictionary gives useful information about multi-word verbs, including: the meaning, an example, whether the verb takes an object, whether the verb and its particle can be separated. In the extracts above, how does the Longman Active Study Dictionary show these features?

7A Look at the photos in the article on the right. What do you think this man's life has been like?

B Read the text and answer the questions.

- What was his first job?
- What almost prevented him from appearing on TV?
- What makes him a particularly good traveller?

Sir David Attenborough was born in London in 1926 and grew up in Leicester. He was brought up alongside two brothers and two adopted sisters. As a child he collected stones and fossils, and went on to read geology and zoology at Cambridge University.

After a short time in the Royal Navy, Attenborough was taken on by a publishing company, editing children's science textbooks. He didn't take to the work and, in 1952, he joined the newly formed BBC television Talks Department. Ironically, the woman who hired him didn't want him to appear on camera because she thought his teeth were too big – she believed this would put viewers off, so he initially worked as a producer.

In 1954, he made the first of his famous Zoo Quest series, which, over the next ten years, took him to wild places all around the world. He then became Director of Programmes at the BBC but stepped down from this position in 1973 and also tuned down the job of Director General in order to return to his first love, making programmes.

As the presenter of such landmark documentary series as Life on Earth and Life in Cold Blood, Attenborough is perhaps one of the most travelled men ever. He has a reputation for stamina and also for his ability to get over jet lag. 'I am perfectly able to fly to Australia and film within three hours of arrival,' he says.

As the years go by, Attenborough remains one of the most recognisable faces on TV screens all over the world, and millions have him to thank for bringing a passion for nature into their lives.

C Read the article again and match meanings 1–10 with the multi-word verbs in bold.

- | | |
|------------------------|--|
| 1 be hired | 6 start to like |
| 2 recover from | 7 pass (talking about time) |
| 3 be raised | 8 make someone dislike |
| 4 refuse | 9 resign |
| 5 spend your childhood | 10 do something after doing something else |

SPEAKING

8A Make notes for a life story about someone you know – a famous figure, a family member or an acquaintance. Use at least five of the multi-word verbs from Exercise 8.

B Work in pairs. Student A: tell your partner about the person but stop when you get to each multi-word verb. Student B: try to guess the multi-word verb.

A: He caught malaria on holiday, but he soon ...

B: Got over it?

SPEAKING

2A Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 In your country, are there any books that are considered important to read?
- 2 Why might somebody lie about having read certain things? Would you ever do this?

B Work in pairs. Read the article and answer the questions.

- 1 Why do people lie about their reading?
- 2 What sort of reading do men, women and teenagers think is important?

Many lie over books 'to impress'

Nearly half of all men and one-third of women have lied about what they have read to try to impress friends or potential partners, a survey suggests.

A poll of 1,500 people found that men were most likely to do this to appear intellectual or romantic. The men polled said they would be most impressed by women who read news websites, Shakespeare or song lyrics. Women said men should have read Nelson Mandela's autobiography or Shakespeare.

About four in ten of the 1,500 said they had lied about what they had read to impress friends or potential partners – forty-six percent of men and thirty-three percent of women. Among teenagers, the figure rose to seventy-four percent, with most saying they would pretend to have read social networking pages or song lyrics.

FUNCTION expressing likes and dislikes

3A Work in pairs. Look at the three books in the photo. Have you read any of them or do you know anything about them?

B ▶ 4.4 Listen to the conversation and complete the table. For each person write (✓) if they liked it, (X) if they didn't like it or (–) if they haven't read it. Which book does Amy decide to take?

1 The Girl With the Dragon Tattoo Amy Barbara ✓ Carl
2 Life of Pi Amy Barbara Carl
3 Pride and Prejudice Amy Barbara Carl

C Listen again and make notes about the reasons why they liked or didn't like each book.

D Work in pairs and discuss. Which of these books would you choose to read? Why?

1 Read the programme information and answer the questions.

- 1 Where is the story set?
- 2 What two things do the female characters have in common?
- 3 How do you think Angel 'saves' the four women?

BBC Tess of the D'Urbervilles

This film of Thomas Hardy's 19th century novel tells the tragic story of Tess, the daughter of uneducated peasants in rural Wessex, the semi-fictional setting for many of Hardy's novels. In this episode, Tess and three other dairymaids* are all in love with Angel Clare, the son of a local clergyman. On their way to church one Sunday, the four dairymaids find their way blocked by a flood, but fortunately Angel arrives to save them.

* dairymaid – traditional female farm worker involved with the production of milk.

- 1 One of the characters is Basil Fawlty, who runs a hotel. Who is the other one?
- 2 What happens?

B Listen again and tick the key phrases you hear.

keyphrases

I've seen [it/this] X times and [I never get tired of it/I can't get enough of it/it's my absolute favourite].

It's a(n) [amazing/very moving/really cool] scene.

It always [makes me laugh/cry/sends shivers up my spine].

It's like a lesson in [comic acting/timing/directing].

My favourite scene is the scene [when... / with...]

It's very cleverly done.

If you've never seen it, you really should.

C Think of a favourite scene in a TV programme or film. Write notes on:

- the point in which it appears in the programme/film (what has happened to set the scene?)
- the moment itself (what happens exactly?)
- why you like it.

D Work in pairs. Tell your partner about your favourite TV/film scene.

writeback a description of a scene

4A Read the magazine article. What type of film is it? Have you seen it?

My favourite film moment

I loved one bit in Star Trek: The Motion Picture. The whole film is about watching how the original crew get together. My favourite moment comes when Spock is in charge of the Starship Enterprise because the captain has left the ship. He makes an important decision about something and Bones, the doctor, comes up to him and asks if he can have a quiet word. He pulls Spock aside and says 'Are you out of your Vulcan mind?' Spock just looks at him and raises an eyebrow.

Bones's accent, his expression, and the way he delivers that line are all exactly the same as in the original TV series. It's not a classic moment in the film by any stretch of the imagination, but it shows how much effort was put into finding people who were similar to the original cast. It's a way of honouring the original. There were a few other moments like that in the film, but for some reason that's the one that sticks in my memory. I laugh out loud every time I remember it.

B Write a description of a favourite TV/film scene for a magazine. Don't include the name of the programme/film.

C Read other students' descriptions and write the type of programme/film and, if you know it, the name.

SAYINGS

1A Work in pairs. Look at the prompts. What are the sayings?

- 1 bridge – come
- 2 ventured – gained
- 3 Rome – Romans
- 4 bitten – shy
- 5 life – hope
- 6 smoke – fire
- 7 goes – comes
- 8 cloud – silver

B Which sayings are paraphrased below?

- 1 We should deal with that only when necessary.
- 2 We're not dead yet, so a solution isn't impossible.
- 3 You always get what you deserve in the end.

C Choose three other sayings and paraphrase them. Don't use any of the words in the original.

D Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: read your paraphrased saying. Student B: guess the 'real' saying.

NARRATIVE TENSES

2A Complete the first part of the story with the verbs in brackets in a correct narrative tense.

He ¹ _____ (be) an old man with big hands and a limp, and he ² _____ (live) in the same house all of his life. The house ³ _____ (fall) apart and he ⁴ _____ (not paint) it for years, so it ⁵ _____ (look) as if it would collapse at any moment. He ¹³ _____ (watch) me, and I felt as if he ¹⁴ _____ (watch) me for a long time. Then he ¹⁵ _____ (come) out of the house ...

B Work in pairs and write an ending to the story.

EXPRESSING REGRET

3 Read the email extract and correct one word in each phrase in bold.

You know me – I'm never one to have regrets – but this has been the worst month of my life! Remember that job I applied for? I really wanted it but they gave it to someone else and I was absolutely stomached. However, they offered me a different position so I took it but, when I went home, I had second decisions about taking it – something didn't seem quite right about it.

Well, it's a sadness that I didn't listen to my instincts because it turned out to be a disastrous decision. I hate the new job. On top of that, the day after I started, I got another offer of a job abroad that I really wanted, so that was a real missed possibility. Now I'm hitting myself for taking the first job that came along. With looking back, I realise I should simply have been more patient!

I WISH, IF ONLY, SHOULD HAVE

4A Look at the list and complete the sentences.

My wish list

- 1 I didn't finish university.
I wish ...
- 2 I spent too little time with my friends in secondary school.
If only ...
- 3 I didn't travel very much when I was younger. I should ...
- 4 My partner doesn't like the same kinds of music as me.
I wish ...
- 5 I have a boring desk job.
If only ...
- 6 I don't have enough time for sport. I wish ...

B Write your own wish list. Write three sentences about the past and three about the present. After each one write: I wish ..., or If only ..., or I should ....

C Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: read out one of the sentences on your list. Student B: try and complete the sentence.

A: I didn't study English when I was younger. I should ...

THE WORLD'S WORST INVENTIONS

Fast food and speed cameras rank among the most hated inventions of all time. But what really gets you worked up? Thousands of votes were cast on the BBC website and the results, published by the BBC science magazine, Focus, make for a surprising read.

1 _____ Bombs, guns, biological _____, you name it – innovations that go bang or cause bodily harm were the most widely frowned upon in our survey. Nuclear _____ were the worst offender, getting eleven percent of the total vote. They've only been used twice in warfare – in 1945, the US dropped the bomb 'Little Boy' on the Japanese city of Hiroshima, followed three days later by 'Fat Man' which fell on Nagasaki.	2 _____ A surprising silver medal for the gadget that's revolutionised communication – _____ have been available in the UK since 1985 and have been widely used since the late 1990s. Almost three quarters of Britons now own one. Despite health scares linking _____ usage to brain tumours, most studies have found there is no increased risk. Maybe it's those annoying ring tones that have put _____ here.	3 _____ accidents are rare but can have devastating effects. _____ plants have higher construction and operating costs than their fossil fuel counterparts, and are supported by large subsidies courtesy of the taxpayer. Waste storage is also a concern but supporters promote _____'s green status as it produces no carbon dioxide directly.
5 _____ Cancer-causing chemicals in _____ mean that men who smoke are twenty-two times, and women twelve times, more likely to develop lung cancer than those who don't. Smoking is also linked to other cancers and heart attacks. Pregnant smokers are at greater risk of giving birth to underweight babies. The World Health Organisation says up to twenty-nine percent of British men and nineteen percent of women smoke.	4 _____ The _____ haters out-voted the petrol users. Developed in the late 1880s, the modern _____ was initially the toy of the wealthy, but falling prices have made it a key part of family life. The motor industry is now booming – 63 million _____ and light trucks were produced globally in 2005. But a green fuel is unlikely to take over from petrol soon, so the _____ continues to add to our growing carbon footprint.	7 _____ Americans are the ultimate _____ eaters, spending an estimated $142 billion (£73 billion) on it in 2006. But it seems our days of carefree consumption of fatty, cholesterol-rich food may be numbered, as we gradually wake up to the health risks. In 2002, some obese US teenagers filed a lawsuit against McDonald's accusing the _____ chain of fattening them up. A judge later threw out the lawsuit.*

*threw out the lawsuit – decided there was no basis for any legal action

READING

1 Work in pairs and look at the photos. Why do you think the inventions are on the 'World's worst inventions' list? Write down one reason for each.

2A Read the article and complete headings 1–7 with the inventions in the photos.

B Read the article again. Which inventions do sentences 1–7 refer to?

- It's more dangerous to men than women. smoking cigarettes
- Research hasn't shown them to be dangerous.
- It's more expensive than traditional sources.
- Americans consume the most.
- It's not clear why it's unpopular.
- It was voted the worst idea of all.
- At first only rich people had one.

C Find words/phrases in the text which mean:

- disliked (invention 1)
- be extremely destructive (invention 3)
- given by (invention 3)
- increasing and becoming very successful – about a business (invention 4)
- replace (invention 4)
- first arriving (invention 6)
- limited (invention 7)
- start to realise and understand something (invention 7)

D Work in groups and discuss. Can you think of any other inventions that have been as damaging as the ones on the list? Agree on one idea and tell the class why.

GRAMMAR articles

3A Check what you know. Complete the sentences with a(n), the or – (no article). Then check your answers in the article in Exercise 2A.

- _____ World Health Organisation says up to twenty-nine percent of _____ British men and nineteen percent of _____ women smoke.
- In 2002, some obese US teenagers filed _____ lawsuit against McDonald's accusing _____ fast food chain of fattening them up.
- But it's actually _____ reality TV that's _____ main offender with three percent of _____ vote.
- Developed in _____ late 1880s, _____ modern automobile was initially _____ toy of _____ wealthy.
- In _____ America, _____ reality television's popularity has risen in the 21st century; in _____ US there are two television channels devoted to it.

B Circle the correct alternative to complete the rules. Use the sentences in Exercise 3A to help.

Rules:

- Use a(n)/the/– with plural and uncountable nouns when you are talking about things in general.
- Use a(n)/the/– with singular countable nouns when you are not talking about a particular thing, or when you mention something for the first time.
- Use a(n)/the/– with any type of noun when you and your reader/listener know which particular thing you are talking about, for example because it is unique or it has been mentioned before.
- Use a(n)/the/– with a singular countable noun or an adjective to talk about things in general.
- Use a(n)/the/– with most place names.
- Use a(n)/the/– in fixed phrases such as in _____ 1960s, in _____ beginning.

C 5.1 Circle the where it is pronounced /ðə/ and underline it where it is pronounced /ði:/. Then listen and check.

- The interesting thing is that many of the people who hate it are the ones who watch it.
- The automobile has done less well since the economic crisis.
- Those who voted for the car mentioned the harm it does to the environment as the biggest problem.

D Complete the rule with vowel or consonant.

C Work in pairs. Which three statements in Exercise 5A do you most agree with? Give reasons.

D Work in groups and take turns. Explain your choices and reasons.

SPEAKING

6A Choose two commonly-used inventions. Make notes about why they are important.

B Work in pairs. Compare your ideas and agree on the most important invention.

C Work with another pair. Try to persuade them that your invention is the most important.

Previously, people used to ...

Without the ... we couldn't ... we'd have to ...

D Work in groups. Discuss all the inventions and agree on the order from most to least important.

A Wrist radio

B Ring pull

D Jet pack

C Bottle cap

VOCABULARY PLUS compound nouns

7A Work in pairs and look at the pictures above. Which inventions do you think were the least/most successful?

B Complete the encyclopaedia entries with the names of the inventions in the photos.

The ¹ _____ was expected to be a major breakthrough for transport but in the trade-off between safety and efficiency, safety won. The outlook for its future remains poor.

The ² _____ was expected to revolutionise communication but had a serious drawback: it could not be used over a long range and communication breakdowns were common.

As glass bottles were replaced by cans, the ³ _____ needed a replacement that was easier to use and the outcome was the ⁴ _____. The downside of the move to cans was a huge increase in rubbish volume.

C Match definitions 1–6 with the words in bold above.

- compromise or balance between two things trade-off
- expectations of what will happen
- the failure of a system
- a new discovery or development
- disadvantage or weakness (2 words)
- the result of something

8A Complete the information with examples from the entries in Exercise 7B. More than one answer is sometimes possible.

Compound nouns are usually made of two words. They can be written as separate words, e.g. bottle top, or a single word, e.g. ¹ _____. or they can be written with a hyphen, e.g. ² _____. The plural is made by adding an s to the end, e.g. breakdowns. Several common compound nouns are made of a verb + preposition, e.g. ³ _____, or a preposition or adverb + verb, e.g. ⁴ _____. If you understand both parts of the compound, you can often guess the meaning.

B 5.2 Listen to seven sentences. Write the compound noun in each sentence in your notebook and underline the stress. Where does the stress usually come?

C Work in pairs and choose three inventions. Write an encyclopaedia entry for each one using two of the compound nouns above. Write they/it instead of the invention.

They were an important breakthrough in the twentieth century. They give us relatively clean energy but they also have some serious drawbacks, including the danger of a major breakdown.

D Exchange entries with other pairs and guess the inventions.

LISTENING

1A Work in pairs. Complete the questionnaire on the right and make notes on your answers.

B 5.3 Listen to the radio programme and check your answers to the questionnaire.

2A Work in pairs and underline the alternative to complete what the expert said. Use a dictionary to check any new words. Then listen again and check.

- Each machine would sell two hundred cans per day, unless the market was too small/crowded/saturated.
- Choice/Advertising/Hunger* makes people want things.
- People are expected to think, 'If there are two similar products at different prices, I'll buy the cheaper/more expensive/bigger one.'
- We intuitively feel that if something is advertised/costs/appears on TV more, it's better.
- To make it so shiny, a food chef/stylist/handler has painted the meat with oil/ink/ketchup or maybe lacquer.
- 8.20 is a very good-/aggressive-/sad- looking time.
- Blue is linked more to intellect and technology/precision/speed.
- Seventy-five percent of young people/children/women prefer purple to all other colours.

B Work in pairs and discuss. Which statements in Exercise 2A surprised you most?

What's your advertising IQ?

1 Imagine there's a Coke machine in the centre of town. It sells a hundred cans of Coke a day. Pepsi comes in and puts a machine right next to the Coke machine. After that, how many cans would each machine sell?

2 You want to introduce a new product to the market, for example a new lipstick. The product you want to compete with sells for five euros. Should you price your product above or below your competition?

3 What special ingredients are used to make a hamburger look so delicious in advertisements?

4 What time does a watch or clock nearly always show in adverts, and why?

5 Which colour (blue, green, orange, purple, red or yellow) is best to use in an advert for:

- high-tech products?
- drugs and medical products to indicate safety?
- energy drinks, games and cars?
- toys?
- food?

6 Why do you rarely see the colour blue in a food commercial?

GRAMMAR conditionals

3A Match sentences 1–4 with conditional forms a)–d).

- If you price your product just above the competition's price, you'll end up with a bigger share of the market.
 - If something costs more, it's better.
 - If I were to introduce a new lipstick on the market, should I price mine above or below the competition?
 - If a watch showed 8.20, it wouldn't sell as well.
- a) Zero conditional: if + present simple, present simple
- b) First conditional: if + present simple, will/can/could/may/might/should + infinitive
- c) Second conditional (A): if + past simple, would/should/could/might + infinitive
- d) Second conditional (B): if + were to + infinitive, would/should/could/might + infinitive

B Work in pairs and complete the rules.

Rules:

- Use the _____ conditional to talk about hypothetical present or future events or situations.
 - Use the _____ conditional to talk about something that is likely to happen in the future as a result of an action or situation.
 - Use the _____ conditional to talk about something that is always or generally true as a result of an action or situation.
- 2 In formal English, if + _____ + infinitive can be used for hypothetical situations.

C Look at examples a)–c) and find three conjunctions which mean if and only if, and one which means if not.

- Yes, it's fine to look at as long as you don't eat it.
- Each machine would probably sell two hundred cans a day unless the market was saturated.
- People will pay more providing/provided the difference is small.

4A 5.4 Listen and write sentences 1–5 in your notebook.

B Underline the two main stresses in each sentence, one in each clause. Listen again and check. Then listen and repeat.

PRACTICE

5A Underline the correct alternatives in the text.

If you wanted a new product to reach the maximum number of people for the minimum cost, what ¹*would/will* you do? The answer is launch a viral advert – a video that people can email so that it spreads like a virus and gives your product free publicity. It works like this: your company makes a video and then, ²*providing/unless* this viral advert reaches a 'susceptible' user (one who likes the idea), that user ³*will/would* send the advert to others, thus 'infecting them'. ⁴*As long as/Unless* each 'infected' user shares the idea with more than one other user, the number of users ⁵*grows/would grow*. So, ⁶*provided/unless* an advert is novel or entertaining enough, it ⁷*will spread/spread* across the Web like a virus at no extra cost to the advertiser. If you ⁸*send/were to send* out a viral advert that didn't catch on, it would go nowhere – people would simply delete it. ⁹*Unless/As long as* adverts are funny, smart or edgy, they ¹⁰*won't/will* have any effect.

B Work in pairs and discuss. Have you ever sent or received a viral advert or video? What's your favourite/least favourite TV or internet advert at the moment?

SPEAKING

6A Read the guidelines on creating a viral advert. What product is being advertised in the example?

How to create a viral advert

STEP 1: Make a video of a person or animal in an odd place, for example a businessman trapped on the branch of a tree, using both hands to balance.

STEP 2: Introduce a problem, e.g. a mosquito attacks him but he can't swat it as he can't let go of the tree.

STEP 3: Bring in an unexpected solution, e.g. a gorilla swings in on a vine, lands on the same branch and hands the businessman a spray.

B Choose a product from the photos and create your own thirty-second viral advert, following the guidelines above.

C Work in groups and take turns. Describe your viral advert but don't say what product you chose. Can the other students guess?

WRITING a report

8A What influences you when you buy a new gadget? Write a list of factors and put them in order of importance.

I always go for the latest model because it makes me look trendy.

B Work in groups and compare your ideas.

9A Look at the chart below which shows the results of a survey on why men, women and teenagers choose a particular smartphone. What is the most and least important factor for each group of people?

B Read the report written by a student on the survey results and answer the questions.

- Which factors are mentioned?
- The student has made one factual error. What is it?
- What is the purpose of each of the first three paragraphs in the report?

The bar chart shows the results of a survey of students and employees in our language school in relation to their reasons for buying a particular mobile phone.

First of all, comparing the results for men and women, it can be seen that some factors affect both groups more or less equally. For example, there is no difference in how much size and colour influence their choice of phone, and the results for 'my friends have the same one' show only a slight variation.

There are, however, significant differences in the results for other factors. The usefulness or practicality of a phone's features is far more important for men than for women, as is the price and how much it makes the owner look successful. On the other hand, women place greater importance on brand loyalty.

The results for teenagers showed an interesting contrast to those for men and women. First of all ...

READING

1A Work in pairs and discuss: What do you understand by 'brainstorming'? What is it used for?

B You are going to read about the rules of brainstorming. Before you read, discuss what the underlined words in sentences 1–5 might refer to.

- It's more important than quality.
- Sometimes it leads you to the perfect solution.
- It's the worst thing you can do in a brainstorm.
- It's important to notice who they are and make sure they get a chance to contribute.
- One person does this or the ideas are lost.

C Read the rules and check your ideas.

The five rules of brainstorming

- Quantity is more important than quality. Let's say you're looking for a way to get kids to love vegetables. At the brainstorming phase, you don't want just one brilliant idea, you want five, ten, dozens to choose from, including some weird and obscure ones. So the goal of brainstorming is to produce as long a list as possible.
- No idea is too predictable or absurd. In fact, sometimes these ideas somehow lead you to the perfect solution.
- Zero judgment. At this point you can't say an idea is dreadful or unrealistic or just too ambitious, because what you need is just ideas, ideas, ideas. The worst thing you can do in a brainstorm is to criticise an idea.
- Everybody's equal. You have to spot the shy people and encourage them. There's no hierarchy, it only works if you work as a team.
- Keep a record. Write the ideas down – each and every one. Have one person as a secretary and they just write whatever anyone says.

VOCABULARY | adjectives

2A Match definitions 1–8 with the adjectives in bold in the interview above.

- | | |
|------------------------|---------------------|
| 1 strange weird | 5 obvious |
| 2 awful | 6 not obvious |
| 3 impractical | 7 senseless |
| 4 aiming very high | 8 clever; excellent |

B Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: choose a definition from 1–8 above. Student B: agree, using an adjective from the interview.

- A: It's strange.
B: Yes, it's a weird idea.

FUNCTION | suggesting ideas

3A You are going to listen to a brainstorm on ways to make children like eating fruit and vegetables. Before you listen, work in pairs and write three ideas.

B ▶ 5.5 Listen to the first part of the brainstorm. Are any of your ideas included? What other ideas do they give?

4A ▶ 5.6 Listen to the second part. Which ideas are rejected and why? Which one is chosen in the end?

B Listen again and complete the phrases.

- How _____ about this idea?
- What _____ a competition?
- Would _____ the gardening campaign?
- How does the recipe idea _____ you?
- It _____ if we could get kids into vegetarianism.
- _____ try combining the two ideas.

C Work in pairs and practise saying the phrases in Exercise 4B. Remember to start the intonation quite high when you are proposing ideas.

How do you feel about this idea?

D Put the words in the correct order to make reactions to the ideas.

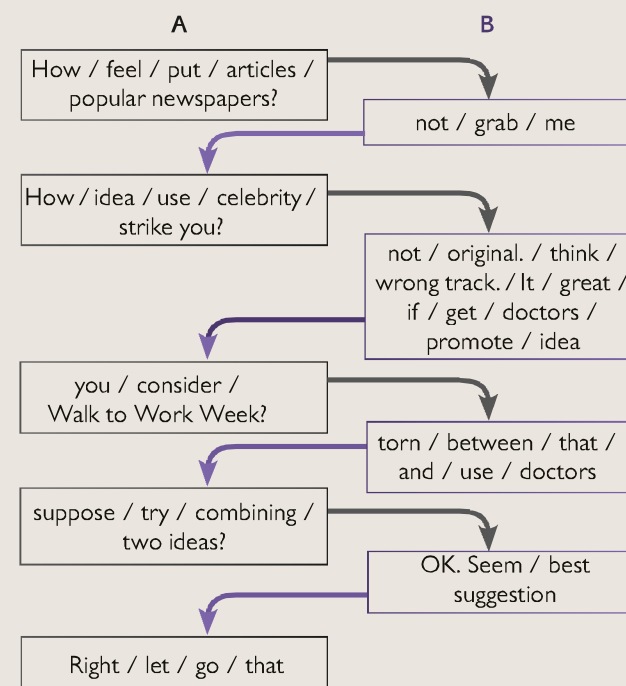

- not / It's / enough / original
- complicated / I / to / think / set / it's / up / too
- me / grab / doesn't / It
- we're / think / wrong / track / I / on / the
- idea / I'm / campaign / and / the / between / viral / torn / that
- go / Let's / that / with

5A Work in pairs and look at the ideas for getting people to walk to work. Which ones do you think are best?

Getting people to walk to work

- put articles in popular newspapers
- get celebrity spokesperson to promote idea
- get doctors to promote idea

- ____, that could be a problem.
- ____, it wouldn't be my first choice.
- ____, I think it's too complicated to set up.
- ____, it's all wrong.
- ____, I think we're on the wrong track here.
- ____, I was thinking of that myself.

B Look at the audio script on page 169 and write the missing words/phrases in comments 1–6 above.

C Which one signals a very negative comment?

speakout TIP

We often use short phrases before making negative comments in order to prepare the other person in situations where their feelings might be hurt or they may feel uncomfortable about a comment. Some phrases (to be honest, actually, as a matter of fact) can also signal a positive or neutral comment, depending on the intonation and context.

7A ▶ 5.7 Listen to the phrases and pay attention to the intonation. Do they signal a positive (+) or negative (–) comment?

B Listen again and repeat the phrases. Pay attention to the intonation.

SPEAKING

8A Work in groups. Choose one of the topics below and brainstorm at least five ideas.

- How to encourage people to learn a foreign language
- How to get people to visit a particular country or city
- How to make men interested in shopping
- How to make football appeal to women
- How to encourage young people to be more polite to older people

B Look at your list of ideas and choose the best one. Give reasons for rejecting the other ones.

C Tell the class your best idea and briefly describe two other ideas you rejected.

We considered the idea of ... but we decided against it because ...

In the end we chose to ...

DVD PREVIEW

1A Work in pairs. Read the programme description and decide if the statements are true (T) or false (F).

- 1 Celebrity guests present their ideas.
- 2 The ideas are generally both funny and clever.
- 3 The audience decides which ideas are 'genius'.

BBC Genius

Can an idea be both silly and genius at the same time? That's what the BBC programme Genius is all about. Each week, members of the public present their wild and wacky ideas for a new product or service. Presenter Dave Gorman and a celebrity guest humourously grill each inventor to get to the bottom of the invention, and help the celebrity guest decide whether the idea is truly genius or not. Tonight's suggestions include a new type of choir where each chorister has very little to do!

B Look at these ideas from the programme. What are the benefits and drawbacks of each one? Which is the most 'genius' idea?

- Sell socks in threes instead of pairs.
- Set up a 'democrobus' bus service where the passengers decide where the bus goes.
- Have genetically engineered 1 metre-high mini-elephants as pets.
- Send food direct to houses via taps for those times when you don't want to cook.

- 1 Who gets invited to the show?
- 2 What is Dan Haythorne's invention?
- 3 What did the show add to his invention to make it work?

B Which of these do you think are good tips for presenting an idea?

Presentation tips

- Prepare and practise your first and last sentences.
- Don't over-prepare. Be spontaneous, and respond to the audience.
- Make eye contact with your audience.
- Include humour.
- Use visuals to create interest and direct the audience's focus away from you.
- Speak clearly; don't mumble.
- Never show your back.
- Dress appropriately.

C Watch the DVD again and tick the ones you think Dan Haythorne follows.

3A Underline the correct alternatives in the article.

Seducing shoppers

¹*Provided/Supposing* you wanted to sell something in a shop; exactly where ²*would/do* you place it to encourage people to buy it? And if you ³*might/could* move your competitors' products to a poor location, where ⁴*would/could* that be? Nowadays, placement of goods in a shop is a whole science.

For example, if there ⁵*are/would* be two similar products, identical in quality but different in price, the shop ⁶*will put/put* the more expensive one on the shelf you see first, and put the cheaper one around the corner. That way, ⁷*provided/imagine* you want to buy the product, you ⁸*put/would put* the expensive one in your basket; and then, even if you ⁹*were to/would* see the cheaper one later, you probably ¹⁰*wouldn't/won't* go to the trouble of swapping it. Similarly, if a product is on the bottom shelf, consumers ¹¹*are/would be* less likely to buy it (they're often too lazy to bend over ¹²*unless/if* they're quite short).

B Work in pairs and discuss:

- Which of the ideas in the article in Exercise 3A do you think are true?
- What makes you decide to buy one brand over another?
- What makes you buy something that you hadn't planned to buy?

They say I can stay out late now – even six months ago I wasn't allowed to go out on a weeknight, and at weekends I had to phone them every hour to say where I was. So that's the best thing, I guess, and, of course, that I can hang out with friends. The worst thing about being _____ is not having enough money. Like, last Friday, I couldn't pay for my own cinema ticket because I didn't have the cash, so I had to borrow from my friend.
- B By _____, the best thing is you appreciate your friends and family and every moment you spend with them, you don't take anything for granted. All of my friends are still healthy and active, so we can do a lot of things together, such as travel, and we're lucky enough to have the money to do it. I must admit that if there is a worst thing it's the fear of growing older and that, one day, I won't be able to do the things I want to. I don't think of myself as elderly ... I'm still middle-aged. As they say, 'Old age is always ten years older than you are.'
- C The best thing about being _____ is living away from home! I live in a hall of residence and although we're supposed to attend lectures, I only go when I feel like it. To be honest, I prefer going out and enjoying myself. I do some reading for lectures and I study, but I know I ought to do more. So far it's been enough. I managed to pass my first set of exams, though it wasn't easy. The only bad thing for me is that I don't look my age, I still look quite young for my age, and girls think I'm immature, so I haven't managed to find a girlfriend yet.

- D The thing I find most difficult about being _____ is that I feel obliged to give everyone the impression that I'm successful. Older people keep telling me I'm in my prime, that I should enjoy this period of my life, so I pretend I have a good job, that I'm happy, but it's just a pretence. In fact, so far my working life hasn't been all that satisfying. And my friends seem to do the same, you know, trying to outdo each other. But the best thing I reckon is that there's plenty of time ahead of me, time to get things right.
- E I think the best thing is that I don't have to work and I don't need to worry about money. The worst thing? Homework! The teachers make us do two hours homework a day and we have to do four hours at the weekend. Oh, and my mum's always yelling at me for being noisy, she's always saying, 'Tina, act your age!' I tell her 'Mum, I am acting my age, I'm only _____!' Anyway, Mum says I mustn't write any more now 'cos I've got to do my maths. Then maybe she'll let me watch some TV. I'm never allowed to do anything fun before I finish my homework.
- F When I look back at the past, at how insecure I felt fifteen or twenty years ago, I have to laugh, because one thing I appreciate now is how comfortable I feel in my own skin. I've outgrown the need to seek other people's approval – I guess that's part of the maturity that comes with age and experience. I'm happy with the things I've achieved: my professional life has been OK, my marriage is fine, we don't have kids yet but I'm not in a panic about that. So, I'm _____ and I feel pretty content. I don't have a worst thing, or at least I can't think of one.

GRAMMAR modal verbs and phrases

4A Check what you know. Underline the modal verb in each sentence. Then put it in the correct place in the table.

- They say I can stay out late.

LISTENING

1A Think about your life over the next year. Write one thing you will definitely do / will probably do / aren't likely to do / definitely won't do.

B Work in pairs and compare your answers.

2 Read the programme information. Would you like to receive a letter from your younger self? Why/Why not?

3A ▶ 6.3 Listen to a woman reading a letter she wrote to herself four years ago. Is her letter optimistic?

B Listen again and underline the correct alternative.

At sixteen, Laura expected her twenty-year-old self to be ...

- unchanged/different.*
- abroad/in the UK.*
- with/without a partner.*
- with/without children.*
- happy/unhappy.*
- working/studying.*

C ▶ 6.4 Listen to the second part of the programme and answer the questions.

- How does Laura see her sixteen-year-old self now?
- Is she happy with the way her life has turned out?

GRAMMAR future perfect and continuous

4A Look at sentences a) and b) from Laura's letter. Which one talks about:

- things that will be completed before she opens the letter?
 - things that will be in progress around the time that she opens the letter?
- a) I'll have changed so much.
b) I bet when I get this, it'll be raining.

B Complete the rules.

Rules:

- To talk about something that will finish before a specific time in the future, use will + _____ + _____.
- To talk about something that will be in progress at or around a specific time in the future, use will + _____ + _____.

C Underline the correct alternative in the sentence and explain your reason.

In ten years' time, I expect I'll be owning / I'll own a flat.

5 ▶ 6.5 Listen to the sentences in Exercise 4A. Underline the stressed words and mark the weak forms of have /əv/, and be /bɪ/. Then listen and repeat.

Letters to myself

The idea is simple: write a letter to yourself, and futureme.org will keep it and send it back to you at a point in the future – you pick the date. You will get a glimpse of the person you used to be and discover if you have met the expectations and hopes of your younger self. In this BBC radio programme, people read aloud and comment on their letters.

PRACTICE

6A Complete the questions with the correct form of the future perfect, future continuous or future simple.

- By the end of the day, do you think _____ (you/receive) more than fifty emails?

WRITING a letter

10A Read the letter from Greg to his future self. Which two words/phrases below describe his personality best?

- a pessimist
- a workaholic
- a family man
- a realist
- an optimist
- a dreamer

Dear FutureMe,

1 _____ I'm writing to see how you're doing and because you might appreciate a friendly message from the past.

2 _____ You'll probably be working in your father's business, you might even be managing one of his hotels yourself by then. I hope very much you'll be enjoying the work but I also hope you went into it because you wanted to and not because you were expected to. Are you still doing everything because of family pressure to conform?

3 _____ You could have started that band you were always talking about with Sammy and maybe you'll have made a million dollar album and will be rich and famous. Yeah, I like the sound of that! But somehow, I doubt it.

4 _____ I hope by now you will have quit smoking and will have found some great person to settle down with. Maybe you'll have some kids – make sure you spend enough time with them so that they'll actually want to spend time with you when you're older. Don't work all hours of the day and night in order to make money. Remember to keep in touch with your old friends so as to have people around you who know what you're really like (and don't mind). Why don't you phone up one of them now for a chat?

5 _____ Well, that's another story. I wish I could be there with you to see what it's like. Did they do something to sort out the environment? Did the global downturn end up being a good thing for some people, or for the world? Who are the great world powers now?

Look after yourself,

Greg

B Put sentences a)–e) in the correct places in the letter.

- Maybe your life will have turned out quite differently.
- And what about the rest of the world?
- Here I am in 2010 and there you are in 2020.
- Here's some advice and good wishes from 'present me':
- These are the things I expect you'll be doing.

LEARN TO use linkers of purpose

11A Work in pairs. Look at the linkers in bold in the letter and answer the questions.

1 Which linkers are followed by:

- an infinitive? to
- a subject + modal verb?
- a noun?

2 Which two linkers are often used in more formal situations?

3 How do you change the underlined linkers to make the sentences negative?

Make sure you keep practising in order to forget your English.

Send emails and phone your friends so as to lose touch with them.

B Join the sentences from other letters using the linkers in brackets.

1 I'm writing to you on my twenty-first birthday. I never want to forget how happy I was. (so that)

I'm writing to you on my twenty-first birthday so that I never forget how happy I was.

2 I wish I could get a letter back from you. Then I might know what to do next. (because)

3 I hope you took a year off. You wanted to take a round-the-world trip. (for)

4 If you haven't found a partner yet, try to do so soon. Otherwise, you might find yourself alone and lonely in your old age. (so that)

5 I imagine you're still doing sport every day. You always thought you could impress people that way. (so as to)

6 I guess you have to be optimistic. Otherwise, you wouldn't always dream about being rich and famous in the future. (to)

7 Make sure you read this every day. You need to remember how you used to be. (in order to)

8 If you're not happy in your job, try something else. You'll regret wasting years of your life doing something you don't enjoy. (in order not to)

12 Write a letter (120–180 words) to your future self to be opened five years from now. Make sure you mention:

- why you're writing.
- what you imagine you'll be doing.
- what you hope for your future self.
- advice for your future self.
- questions about changes that will have happened.

B Work in pairs. Which of the activities above can you see in the photos?

C Work in pairs and discuss. At what age do you think it's appropriate for someone to do activities 1–12?

D Tell the class any activities/ages you disagreed about.

FUNCTION persuading

2A ▶ 6.6 Listen to a radio phone-in and tick the three activities in Exercise 1A that the people discuss.

B Listen again and make notes about the callers' problems and the DJ's opinions.

problem	DJ's opinion

C Work in pairs and check your answers.

D Work in pairs and discuss. What's your opinion about each of the situations from the phone-in?

3 Match examples 1–4 with meanings a)–d).

- 1 Is that an important part of growing up?
 - 2 That's an important part of growing up.
 - 3 Surely that's an important part of growing up.
 - 4 Isn't that an important part of growing up?
- a) an opinion
 b) a genuine question – the listener can answer yes or no
 c) an opinion where the speaker is inviting the listener to agree with them
 d) a strong opinion where the speaker thinks the listener should agree with them

4A Complete the questions from the phone-in.

- 2 _____ that the world used to be a safer place? (you/not agree)
- 3 _____ what every generation says. (Surely/that/be)
- 4 _____ that just normal nowadays? (not be)
- 5 _____ it's just a stage he's going through? (you/not think)
- 6 _____ to be like her friends? (she/simply/not want)

B ▶ 6.7 Listen and check.

C Listen again and repeat. Pay attention to the intonation.

Surely that's what every generation says.

Doesn't she simply want to be like her friends?

LEARN TO ask for clarification

6A Read the extract from the radio phone-in. Find two phrases where people ask for clarification of an idea.

- DJ: So I gather your point is whether she's too young to have a mobile.
 Vince: Yeah, yeah, that's right.
 DJ: Er, surely it's the parents' responsibility to set some sort of guidelines ahead of time.
 Vince: So what you're saying is I should have given her some rules?

B Read the audio script on page 170 and find three other phrases to ask for clarification.

speakout TIP

Asking for clarification of an idea by putting it into your own words is useful not only to check that you understand, but also to 'buy' time while you think about how to react.

C Complete statements 1–6 with your own ideas.

- 1 The biggest problem with young people today is ...
- 2 It's not fair that ...
- 3 I think it was a mistake to ...
- 4 I get upset when I see an elderly person ...
- 5 One thing I learned from my parents ...
- 6 If I regret anything, it's that ...

D Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: read out your statements from Exercise 6C. Student B: ask for clarification using any of the phrases below.

- If I've got it right ...
- I gather your point is (that) ...
- So what you're saying is (that) ...
- So, in other words, ...
- So what you're getting at is (that) ...

A: It's not fair that people with money can get the best education.

B: So, in other words, education should be free?

A: That's right, and ...

SPEAKING

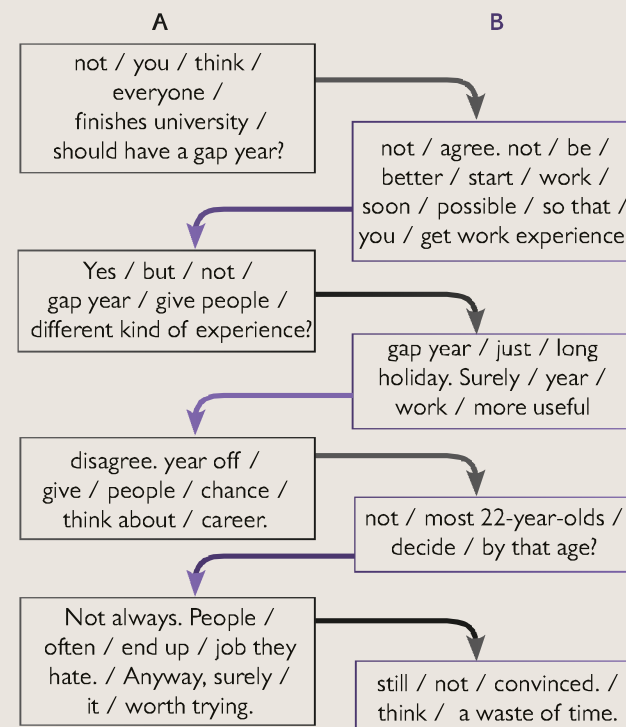

7A Work in pairs. For each statement, think of two points that support the opinion and two points against it.

- Thirteen is too young to join a social networking site.
- A seventeen-year-old boy shouldn't be allowed to get a tattoo.
- An eighteen-year-old who has just passed his driving test isn't ready to drive the family car alone.

B You are going to take part in a radio phone-in. Student A: turn to page 159. Student B: turn to page 160. Student C: turn to page 162.

5A Work in pairs. Do you know anyone who has had a 'gap year' either before they went to university or between university and work? What do you think of the idea?

B Use the prompts to complete the conversation.

C Work with a new partner and take turns to practise the conversation. Use the flow chart to help.

DVD PREVIEW

1 Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- Who is the oldest person you know or have known?
- What do you think they would say is the secret to a long life?

2A Match 1–8 with a)–h) to make collocations.

Horizon: How to Live to 101

The quest to live longer has been one of humanity's oldest dreams, but while scientists have been searching, a few isolated communities have stumbled across the answer. On the remote Japanese island of Okinawa, in the Californian town of Loma Linda and in the mountains of Sardinia people live longer than anywhere else on earth.

A group of scientists have dedicated their lives to trying to uncover the secrets of these unique communities. Tonight's documentary travels to Okinawa to meet some of its long-living and remarkably healthy inhabitants.

DVD VIEW

4A Watch the DVD. What are the two main reasons mentioned for why Okinawans live such long lives?

B Are the statements true (T) or false (F)? Watch the DVD again and check your ideas.

- Okinawa has double the percentage of people over a hundred that Britain and America has.
- The Okinawans think a lot about the effect of their lifestyle on their longevity.
- Bradley and Craig have been studying the Okinawan diet for 20 years.
- Their diet is rich in antioxidants and protein from meat and eggs.
- The Japanese saying hara hachi bu means eat about a thousand calories a day.
- Bradley sees the attitude towards eating as different from in the west.

C Watch the DVD again and underline the word you hear.

- Unaware of the latest diet or lifestyle fad/fashion, Mr Miyagi has developed his own way of defying/fighting the ageing process.
- The explanation for this extraordinary miracle/phenomenon begins in the most ordinary of places.
- They've identified a number of crucial qualities/properties that guard the Okinawans from disease.
- You go and you load up at the all-you-can-eat restaurant and you walk away with this swollen/bloated feeling.

D Work in pairs and discuss. How easy do you think you would find it to live on Okinawa? Is there anything you would find difficult?

speakout a debate

5A Look at the topic for a debate. Work in pairs and write one idea in favour of the statement and one idea against it.

Age discrimination should be illegal at work.

B 6.8 Listen to part of the debate. Which speaker do you agree with most?

C Listen again and tick the key phrases you hear.

I would like to start off by saying that ...

I would like to support the point made by ...

Going back to what [Juniko] said

I would like to pick up on the point made by ...

In [answer/reply] to the point made by ...

- Junk food can shorten lives and should be made illegal.
- Politicians should be young – younger adults understand the changing world better.
- Children should take care of their parents when they get old.

B Work in pairs either for or against the statement. List at least four points to support your opinion.

C Work in groups and debate the topic. At the end, have a vote.

writeback a forum comment

7A Read the forum comment and discuss in pairs. Do you agree with the writer?

I grew up in a traditional society, where my grandparents lived with us and were always in the house. When I came to this country, it surprised me how unusual it was for three generations to live together. I accept that most young people's lifestyles don't fit with those of grandparents. However, in my opinion, we are fully responsible for taking care of our ageing parents and grandparents. My reasons are that:

- our parents and grandparents invested a lot in caring for us, and it's our duty to do the same for them.
- elderly people can experience loneliness and helplessness. If we care about someone, we should protect them from these feelings.
- it's more expensive and wasteful for people to live in separate homes.

I feel strongly that everyone should reconsider the way they live, and move towards a more traditional family structure, even in a modern context.

B Number parts a)–d) in the order they occur in the forum comment.

- summary statement
- reasons for opinion
- statement of opinion
- personal background

C Choose one of the topics from Exercise 6A and write a forum comment giving your point of view.

AGE

1A Add the vowels to complete the sentences.

- 1 Society, not families, should take care of the _ld_rly.
- 2 People _n th_ _r pr_m_ should simply enjoy life and not work.
- 3 The key sign of someone c_m_ng of _g_ is when they earn enough money to pay their own rent.
- 4 It's embarrassing when an older man or woman dresses too young f_r h_s or h_r_g_. People should dress and act th_ _r_g_.
- 5 _g_ d_scr_m_n_t_ _n is necessary in certain types of jobs.
- 6 M_t_r_ty comes from experience, not from age.

B Work in pairs and discuss. Which sentences do you agree with?

MODAL VERBS AND PHRASES

2A Underline the correct alternatives in the website forum.

My worst job

My current job is the worst ever. I'm a waiter in an amusement park restaurant and the manager ¹*makes/lets* us dress up as animals. The bear costume is the worst because it's so heavy and when I'm wearing it I ²*can't / 'm not able* to see properly to write down the orders. I can't believe some of the things children ³*are allowed to / should* do. We ⁴*don't have to / aren't supposed* to get angry with them but I'm sure one day I ⁵*can't / won't be able* to keep my temper and will do something awful! Thankfully, we ⁶*don't have to / aren't allowed* wear the costumes for more than two hours at a time and I can tell you, it's a relief to take them off in the breaks. Fortunately, because of the masks, my friends ⁷*don't need to / oughtn't to* know that I spent my summer holidays dressed as a bear! Once, I ⁸*could / managed to* serve two of my friends without them realising it was me!

B Work in pairs and discuss. What's the worst job you've ever had or that you can imagine?

FUTURE PERFECT AND CONTINUOUS

3A Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in brackets.

4A Correct twelve mistakes in the words/phrases in bold.

I've had my downs and ups at work, but I will never forget my first job: teaching French to a group of sixteen-year-olds in a state school. I had fixed feelings about taking the job, since I was very young myself, but I'd learned to always look on the light side of things. I went in the first day feeling beat-up and really looking backward to meeting my group. I was in for a surprise, as my group was the most difficult bunch of sixteen-year-olds imaginable – cynic about the past and gloom about their future. I taught them every morning and for a long time I truly dread those lessons. No matter what I tried, I always felt I was taking two steps forward and one step back. Then, one day, a promise thing happened, and from my despaired I was suddenly filed with optimism. One of the students brought a ...

What's on the Beeb?

If you think Brits spend a good deal of time around the coffee machine talking about the weather, you'd be wrong. They're actually discussing the latest episode of EastEnders or Top Gear. Want to join in? Then check out a few must-see shows on the Beeb, as the BBC is affectionately known by its viewers.

EastEnders

EastEnders first aired in February 1985 and since then has remained one of the top-rated programmes in the UK. Set in a fictional east end London square and its surroundings, this award-winning soap opera follows the domestic and professional lives of a group of local residents. There are plenty of typical storylines: family life, rows, romance and business troubles, but the show's writers also aim for greater realism than is found in most soaps. During its long run, the show has tackled quite a few issues previously unseen on mainstream UK TV, such as racism, unemployment and drug abuse.

Top Gear

If your idea of heaven is James Bond fantasy car rides, lots of crazy challenges and no rules, this is the series for you. With its humorous style and easy relationship between the three presenters (Jeremy Clarkson, Richard Hammond and James May), each programme regularly attracts 350 million viewers worldwide. A recurring feature is 'The Power Lap', where the Stig (a mysterious white-suited figure) completes a lap around the track to test a car's performance. Top Gear is also famous for one-off exploits such as when the four men raced across London: May in a Mercedes, Hammond on a bicycle, the Stig on public transport and Clarkson in a speedboat.

Strictly Come Dancing

This reality show has it all: show-stopping dances, celebrities, glamorous dresses, big band music, a popular host and plenty of viewer participation. Sixteen famous contestants with little or no experience of dancing pair up with internationally renowned professional dancers. They learn everything from the traditional ballroom waltz to Latin dances such as the tango or salsa. The couples then perform in front of a live audience every Saturday night to impress the viewers and judges and keep their places in the competition. Each week, after the viewers' vote, the bottom two couples face each other in a dance-off where the judges decide who will leave the show. The show, which regularly attracts audience figures of over ten million in the UK, has been exported to thirty other countries.

Newsnight

Newsnight is a current affairs programme famous for its in-depth reporting, hard-hitting interviews and intelligent analysis. Its main presenter, Jeremy Paxman, has won several journalistic awards and is regularly praised for being tough, but he has also come under fire for being aggressive with interviewees. Very few politicians enjoy the experience of being 'Paxoed' – on one famous occasion, he asked a senior politician the same question an astonishing twelve times. Newsnight is on daily at 10.30p.m.

Doctor Who

There are few fictional characters who are as well known as Robin Hood or Sherlock Holmes, but 'The Doctor' is one. He is a mysterious alien who travels through space and time, righting wrongs and fighting monsters such as his ongoing enemies, the robotic Daleks, all with a little help from various companions. Equally famous is his time-ship, the 'Tardis', which looks from the outside like an old-fashioned police box but has lots of room on the inside. Twelve actors have played the Doctor over the lifetime of the series, which has been running off and on since 1963. Doctor Who has cross-generational appeal and millions of fans worldwide. One not to miss.

SPEAKING

8 Work in pairs. Read the information and discuss:

- which surprises you the most?
- which is the most worrying?
- which is reassuring or is a good idea?

The average young person living in the USA watches television twenty-five hours a week.

Forty-seven percent of nine-year-olds in Ireland have a TV in their bedroom.

Some experts say that television helps children develop a richer vocabulary.

A sociologist has stated that children who don't watch TV have difficulty relating to their schoolmates.

Children's television shows contain about twenty violent acts per hour.

By the time the average child finishes elementary school, he or she will have witnessed eight thousand murders on TV.

TV advertising aimed at children is banned in Sweden.

9A Work in groups and discuss the questions.

c) say no and threaten _____ (report) your boss to her boss?

B Work in pairs. Take turns to ask and answer the questions in Exercise 9A.

WRITING a discursive essay

10A Look at statements 1–3. Write one reason for and one reason against each statement. Give examples.

- The media should be free to examine the private lives of public figures.
- Positive images of celebrities in the media have a good effect on people.
- The internet is the most reliable source of news and information.

B Work in groups and compare your ideas.

11A Read the essay and answer the questions.

- Which of the topics in Exercise 10A is it about?
- Do you agree with the writer's point of view?
- Can you think of a good title for the essay?

These days the media is full of stories of celebrities' private lives: their relationships, rows, problems with weight and so on. In fact, the public seems to have a never-ending appetite for this type of gossip.

It could be argued that celebrities invite publicity, for instance by giving interviews or welcoming the media into their homes, despite knowing this will leave them open to public attention. Therefore, it is hypocritical for them to complain when the media shows interest in other aspects of their lives. Also, celebrities are influential role models to many people and because of this, their private lives should be open to public examination. Additionally, the public have the right to know about the rich and famous since it is our money that supports them, through sales of tickets, DVDs and music downloads.

However, there are several reasons why celebrities deserve a certain level of privacy. Firstly, while some people actively seek fame, others do not. For example, a person might want to be a great tennis player but not wish to suffer media intrusion into their or their family's private lives. Secondly, although reporters might claim an item is 'in the public interest' often, in fact, they are more interested in selling a sensational story than in investigating something of genuine importance. Lastly, the unwelcome attentions of reporters and photographers can put celebrities under great stress or sometimes even in danger. Just think of Michael Jackson or Princess Diana.

On balance, I believe that celebrities have the right to the same kind of privacy as anyone else. Just because, on some occasions, they invite interest, often in order to publicise their work or please their fans, this does not mean that, on other occasions, they should not be able to say 'no'.

B Read the essay again and underline the correct alternative.

- The introductory paragraph explains why the topic is of interest / gives the writer's opinion about the topic.
- Paragraph two gives points for / for and against the idea.
- Paragraph three gives points against / for and against the idea.
- The conclusion asks the reader's / gives the writer's opinion.

LEARN TO use linkers of contrast

12A Look at sentences 1–4. Circle the linker which is used to show a contrasting idea.

- Celebrities invite publicity despite knowing this will leave them open to public attention.
- While some people seek fame, others never want or plan for it.
- Although a reporter might claim that a story is 'in the public interest', often they are more interested in selling a sensational story.
- However, there are a number of reasons why celebrities deserve our sympathy.

B Work in pairs and answer the questions.

- What punctuation follows However?
- Which form follows despite?
- In sentences 1, 2 and 3, which is the main clause?
- Do the linkers in 1, 2 and 3 introduce the main clause or the subordinate clause?

C Use the linkers in brackets to connect the ideas in two different ways.

- some celebrities are good role models for young people / others set a negative example (however, although)
- anonymously published internet news is unreliable / many people rely on it as a main source of information (despite, while)
- false reports of celebrity deaths are common / some people still believe them (while, however)
- the scandal damaged his reputation / he still has millions of fans (although, despite)

13A Write notes for the four sections of a discursive essay on one of the other topics in Exercise 10A.

speakout TIP

A discursive (or 'for and against') essay is different from an opinion essay. In an opinion essay, the writer starts out by stating his/her opinion; in a discursive essay, the writer gives a balanced view and in the conclusion can either state his/her opinion or give a summary of both sides of the argument. Check the notes you have made to see that your introduction and conclusion are appropriate.

B Write the essay (250–300 words).

▶ FUNCTION | adding emphasis ▶ VOCABULARY | the press ▶ LEARN TO | make guesses

VOCABULARY the press

1A Read the headline of the article below. What do you think the six topics are? Then read the article and check your ideas.

Six topics that keep the tabloids in business

In an age when broadsheet newspapers are seeing a serious drop in circulation, tabloid newspapers are in no danger of dying out. There are six topics that always guarantee sales:

- 1 Scandal – more than any other topic, it's scandal that fuels tabloid sales. The public loves glimpses into the lives of the rich, famous and powerful.
- 2 Money – everyone wants more, and some people will stop at nothing to get it. Many tabloids have a columnist dedicated to writing features about money.
- 3 Babies – whether it's because they were born in a taxi or can speak two languages from birth. It seems we can't get enough of them.
- 4 Animals – flip through any tabloid and you'll find a heart-warming story about a brave dog, or a cat that's befriended a mouse.
- 5 Royalty – hardly a day goes by that a 'royal' doesn't make an appearance somewhere in the tabloids.
- 6 Winners – from lottery winners to Olympic gold medallists, a winner on the front cover guarantees a high readership.

Bold headlines, appealing photos, low prices and colour supplements also make tabloids the perfect bait for a commuter seeking some escape from real life. The tabloids aren't afraid to be biased and show their opinion, most strikingly in the editorial page, which tends to be direct and aggressive in stating the editors' position on major issues. The public want excitement and sensationalism, and tabloids deliver.

B Read the article again. Which types of stories would you read?

2A Match meanings 1–10 with the words in bold in the article.

- 1 the section of the newspaper that gives the paper's opinion editorial page
- 2 special reports or articles about a topic
- 3 the (number of) people who read a newspaper
- 4 someone who regularly writes a section of a newspaper, under the same title or topic
- 5 an extra section of a newspaper which can be pulled out, often a magazine
- 6 a serious newspaper, usually printed on large sheets of paper
- 7 giving a single point of view, unfairly
- 8 reporting news to make it sound as exciting as possible
- 9 the number of newspapers sold in a day or week
- 10 a popular newspaper, half the size of a standard newspaper, with few serious stories

B Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 Which paper in your country is the most sensationalist/biased?
- 2 Which sections do you read: the main news story, foreign news, sports coverage, features, the editorial, magazines or colour supplements?

BBC

The Funny Side of the News

The Funny Side of ... is a BBC series that looks at all the things that can go wrong on TV, from talent shows to wildlife programmes. Tonight it takes a look at TV news. As serious as news can be, mistakes and blunders are unavoidable. And with the introduction of 24-hour rolling news, mistakes have become more frequent and more visible with newsreaders stumbling over their words and endless technical hiccups. From the autocue malfunctioning to the wrong guest being brought into the studio for an interview, disaster is waiting to strike at any moment.

▶ DVD VIEW

2A Watch the DVD and make notes on which blunder:

- you found the funniest.
- you didn't find funny or didn't understand.

B Watch the DVD again. Number the blunders in the order they appear in the programme. Some have more than one example.

- Malfunctioning equipment /
People stumbling over their words
The wrong guest in an interview
An accident on a live programme

C Complete extracts 1–5 from the DVD. Then listen again and check.

- 1 It's one of the few things on television these days that really is live. So if it starts going _____, you're going to see it.
- 2 The _____ about rolling news _____ that you have to fill an awful lot of time ...
- 3 I'm afraid we obviously have the wrong guest here. That's deeply _____ for us.
- 4 But the undisputed _____ of the wrong guest division is the BBC news 24 incident _____ the charming but inappropriate Guy Goma.
- 5 It goes to _____ just how much the public love a good news blunder.

D Work in pairs and discuss. Which incident do you think was the most embarrassing for the newsreader?

I don't remember all the details, but ...

C Think about a recent news story. Make notes and think about which key phrases you can use.

D Work in groups and tell each other your stories. Ask follow-up questions and take notes.

writeback a newspaper article

4A Read the article and write down the two things that the man traded that are mentioned in the article, but not in the recording.

MAN TRADES PAPER CLIP FOR HOUSE

A Canadian man has made internet headlines by trading a paper clip for a house. Blogger Kyle Macdonald became bored with his work one day and had the idea of swapping a red paper clip on his desk for a house.

His first trades were for very small objects – a pen, a door knob, later a neon sign – but step by step the 26-year-old built up to items of larger and larger value. His big breakthrough came when he swapped an afternoon with rock icon Alice Cooper for a snow globe. People who were following his trades thought he had made a big mistake by giving away something of such great value for a less desirable article, but as it turned out, a film director who collected snow globes wanted this one so much that he offered the Canadian a part in a film.

This swap gave the enterprising trader the opportunity he needed for the final trade when a mayor of a small town offered him an empty house in exchange for the film part. The whole process took one year and fourteen trades.

B Read the article again and do the tasks.

- 1 Underline three different words (synonyms) for thing(s).
- 2 Circle five different ways to refer to the man in the story apart from he or his.

C Write an article (150–200 words) about one of the stories your group told in Exercise 3D. You may need to invent some details.

- 8 Each/Both of us has a pet.
- 9 We spend several/a great deal of hours in the gym every week.
- 10 We both like having few/a few minutes' sleep in the afternoon.

B Which sentences are true for you and your partner? Change any that are not true.

A: Do you enjoy airports?

B: No.

A: Me neither. OK, so neither of us enjoys airports.

REPORTED SPEECH

3A Rewrite the sentences in reported speech.

- 1 Last week, an interviewer asked me, 'What's your biggest weakness?'
- 2 The other day, a complete stranger walked up to me and asked, 'What have you been doing lately?'
- 3 Once, I was trying on trousers and the shop assistant asked, 'Would you like to try a bigger size?'
- 4 Every day, my flatmate says, 'Could you do the dishes?' and then says, 'I'll do them next time.'
- 5 At the end of a first date, the girl asked me, 'So when do you want to get married?'
- 6 At 3a.m., my phone rang, and the person asked, 'Are you sleeping?'

B Which question would make you feel most uncomfortable?

REPORTING VERBS

4A Complete the questions with the correct form of a verb in the box. Add any necessary words.

1A Match photos A–C to the headlines.

B Look at the photos and read the headlines. What do you think happened in each situation? Write two sentences about each one.

C Read the articles and check your ideas.

Hiker risks life

Chamonix, France – A hiker who risked his own life to save the lives of two stranded hikers says he would do the same thing again.

Akira Sakamoto was among a number of hikers caught in the snowstorm on Mont Blanc late on Sunday afternoon, and was in the middle of his descent when he came upon two fellow hikers. Tamas Konig and Sandor Petres had stopped their own descent, too exhausted to continue, and had built a makeshift shelter in the snow to try to survive the night.

Sakamoto had two choices – to carry on and send up a rescue party from the bottom, or to stay and help them even though this could mean he put his own life in serious danger.

'It was obvious that they couldn't survive the night,' said Sakamoto. 'And I wasn't sure I could get a rescue party in time. So I stayed with them.'

Sakamoto used a rain poncho to protect the three of them from moisture, and made them huddle together to minimise the loss of body heat. The three shared Sakamoto's remaining food.

'In doing so, Akira probably saved their lives,' a park spokesman said on Thursday. 'If he had left them there, they wouldn't be alive now.'

The three were evacuated by helicopter in the morning and treated for hypothermia at a local hospital before being discharged.

Mother turns son in to police

Wellington, New Zealand – Sandra Matthews called it the toughest day of her life, but she felt she had no choice after seeing the CCTV footage on the TV news showing her son robbing a local shop.

'I wanted to talk to Simon first before I contacted the police, but I couldn't get in touch with him,' said Ms Matthews. 'So I just walked into the police station and turned him in.'

The heartbroken mother told police that it was her son Simon, 21, who security cameras showed pointing a gun at the manager of the shop and stuffing cash into a bag. It was the second of two robberies there this month. Police found Matthews hiding at a friend's house later that day and arrested him.

Ms Matthews also apologised to shop manager Carl Ruiz. 'I just felt so bad. It must have been a real shock for him,' she said.

'He's my son, and I love him, but I didn't see any other option except to turn him in,' Sandra said. 'I couldn't call myself a good mother if I hadn't.'

'I admire her,' a family friend said. 'If I were in the same situation, I'd find it difficult to turn my son in.'

Couple ordered to return cash

Birmingham, UK – A couple who found a winning lottery ticket and cashed it in were ordered to pay back the money.

Dorothy Millet, 59, bought the Euromillions ticket at a local shop on 31 May, and dropped it later that day in the post office. Alan and Megan Beecham found the ticket and cashed it in at the same post office. They immediately spent half of the € 50,000 prize money on a new car and other luxuries.

'When Alan showed me the ticket, we talked about what to do,' said Megan. 'It wasn't an easy decision, but we felt as if we had found the money and it was ours.' 'Maybe it wasn't the best decision,' Alan added. 'But the temptation was too great.'

'If I'd been paying attention, I wouldn't have dropped the ticket,' said Millet. 'It's just part of my routine so I didn't pay attention to where I put it.'

The lottery company used computer records to find out that the ticket had been cashed in at their main office. Millet used the receipt to prove that she had purchased the winning ticket.

'If she hadn't saved the receipt, we might never have recovered her money,' a spokesman for the lottery company said.

2 Match statements 1–8 with the people mentioned in the articles.

- 1 His mouth was covered but I recognised him from his eyes.
- 2 I just thought we were lucky, that's all. I didn't think it was illegal.
- 3 We had no idea the weather could change like that.
- 4 It's happened to us before – the last time was just a few days ago.
- 5 I was so angry at myself that I couldn't sleep all night.
- 6 That's why we always tell people to keep the receipt in a separate place.
- 7 I didn't really think seriously about leaving them there.
- 8 She shouldn't have done it.

3 Work in pairs and discuss. Who had the most difficult decision: Sakamoto, Sandra Matthews or the Beecham couple? Do you think you would have behaved in the same way?

4A 8.2 Listen to the BBC radio programme. Were any of your ideas mentioned?

B Who made statements 1–8? Write lark (L) or owl (O). Then listen again and check.

- It is just so peaceful and so beautiful.
- I stay there until the absolute last second.
- I do look at other people walking their dogs, or walking along with a bounce in their step and I just think, 'Where does it come from?'
- You've wasted the best part of the day.
- It's just quite a nice feeling of being awake and nobody else is there.
- That's when I'm really thinking straight.
- Anybody mentions 'party' to me and I cringe.
- David and I always joked before we had children that it would be great because he would be great in the morning and I would be great in the evenings.

3 When do you feel at your lowest ebb?

- Monday morning
- Friday evening
- Sunday night

4 You're on your way to an all-night party. You ...

- have a sense of dread.
- hope it'll be fun.
- have a spring or a bounce in your step.

5 Your alarm clock has just gone off! You ...

- love it and are wide awake straightaway.
- aren't that fussed.
- despise it with a passion – you usually turn over and go back to sleep.

key

Mostly As: Good morning! You're clearly a lark, a person who is most efficient and alert in the morning. The downside is that you wilt like an unwatered flower by early evening and cringe at the thought of going out after nine.

Mostly Bs: Hi there! Getting up early might not be your favourite thing in the world, but you do it if you have to and you can't imagine why some people make such a fuss about it. You're not fond of staying up late but feel your routine is normal and wonder why everyone can't be like you.

Mostly Cs: Good evening! You're a real night owl and you're not really on the ball until it starts to get dark – that's when you come alive and you feel most energetic. Your ideal schedule would be sleeping in until noon and doing all your work and socialising after dinner.

- Does it take an army of alarm clocks to make you waking/to wake/wake up before 9a.m.?
- I'm an owl, coming to life late in the evening and capable of dancing/to dance/dance till dawn.
- I despise getting up/to get up/get up with a passion.
- Should I just eating/to eat/eat more vegetables ...?
- ... or should I get up earlier being/to be/be more awake?
- Late evening is best for me being/to be/be focusing rather than partying.
- Being/To be/Be* a late riser can cause problems.
- Do you tend sleeping/to sleep/sleep late?
- Perhaps this will let larks understanding/to understand/understand why owls are the way they are, and vice-versa?

WRITING an informal article

11A Read the article and choose the best title.

- a) Time is money b) Pressed for time? c) Killing time

Have you ever felt you don't have enough hours in the day? Or that you'd give anything for a whole day to catch up with yourself? Well here are some ideas that work for me.

First of all, make a to-do list every day and prioritise ruthlessly. The trick here isn't making the list; that's the easy part. No, the trick is prioritising. I look at my list and put a star next to anything that's really urgent. Then I put '2' next to anything that will just take a couple of minutes. I actually do these quick tasks before I get on with the urgent ones; it's a bit like clearing off the top of your desk before sitting down to write that important letter.

Second, know which is the most productive time of day for you and do your work or study then. One of the shocking discoveries I made about myself is that if I get up at 5a.m, I can do a day's work and even fit breakfast in before 9.30. Of course, if you're an early bird it can be difficult to accomplish tasks that involve phoning 'night owls', but that's what email's for!

Finally, don't let your inbox run your life. I just realised recently how frequently I interrupt my real work to check my inbox and respond to the most trivial of emails. So now I only open it when absolutely necessary and this saves me hours. If your work depends on you being constantly accessible by email, then you can't do this; but be honest and ask yourself, 'Am I an email addict?'

With these simple, practical techniques, you'll become more effective, less stressed and be able to win some 'me-time' for yourself.

B Underline the correct alternative and give a reason.

- The article is probably for a student magazine/serious newspaper.
- The aim of the article is to describe/give advice.
- The topic sentence is at the beginning/end of the three main paragraphs.

LEARN TO use an informal style in articles

12A Work in pairs and read the guidelines. Are they true (T) or false (F)? Find examples in the article.

In an informal article you should:

- give personal examples
- use the pronouns I and you
- avoid contracted forms
- use conversational language
- use linkers to help structure the article
- use questions to the reader
- avoid multi-word verbs
- use the passive where possible

B Work in pairs and brainstorm a list of main ideas for an article about:

- the perfect study plan
- what to do when you're bored
- tips on how to waste time

C Choose the best three ideas and discuss ideas for opening/closing paragraphs. Then write the article (250–300 words).

▶ FUNCTION | handling an awkward situation ▶ VOCABULARY | manner ▶ LEARN TO | soften a message

VOCABULARY manner

1A Look at the pairs of adjectives. Are they similar (S) or different (D) in meaning? Use a dictionary to check.

- 1 supportive – unhelpful
- 2 diplomatic – tactful
- 3 sensitive – sensible
- 4 confrontational – collaborative
- 5 aggressive – assertive
- 6 direct – focused

B Work in pairs. Which adjectives above describe your manner when:

- you break bad news to someone?
- a friend is down or in trouble?
- making a complaint?
- you work on a project with someone?
- you are driving or cycling?
- trying to sort out a problem between two friends?

I think I'm tactful but also quite direct if I have to break bad news to someone.

C Which adjectives in Exercise 1A become opposites by adding/removing a prefix/suffix?

supportive unsupportive

SPEAKING

2A Work in pairs. Look at situations 1–3 and photos A–C. What would be the best way to handle each situation? How might the person react?

- 1 A flatmate of yours keeps borrowing money and never pays you back.
- 2 You're the manager of an elegant restaurant and a waitress has come in with blue hair.
- 3 Your colleague has loud, personal conversations on the phone when you're trying to work.

B Work in pairs. Read the tips and discuss: Which do you agree/disagree with? Would you add anything to the list?

Tips for talking things through

Sometimes we have to raise topics with a friend, colleague or even our boss which we find embarrassing or awkward. Following these five tips will help smooth the process and minimise hurt feelings.

- » 1 Say clearly why you want to talk to them at the start and stay focused.
- » 2 Give the message clearly. Be specific.
- » 3 Don't tell them what other people say or think.
- » 4 Get their point of view. Give them space to say what they think and feel.
- » 5 Suggest a solution (if they don't).

FUNCTION handling an awkward situation

3A ▶ 8.5 Listen to the conversation. Tick the tips in Exercise 2B that the man follows.

B Listen again. Are the statements true (T) or false (F)? Correct the false statements.

- 1 Liz owes Jim a small amount of money.
- 2 She wants to pay him back immediately.
- 3 She doesn't always keep her promises.
- 4 Jim wants her to pay a set amount of money each week.

4A Complete phrases 1–5. Then look at the audio script on page 172 and check.

Preparing the ground

There's something I've been ¹_____ to talk to you about.

Giving the message

It's ²_____ that ...

I hope you don't ³_____ this the wrong way, but ...

I don't want you to get the wrong idea, but ...

Getting the other person's point of view

Do you know ⁴_____ I mean?

Do you see where I'm coming from?

How does that ⁵_____?

B ▶ 8.6 Listen and underline the stresses in the phrases. Does the voice rise or fall at the end of each phrase? Why?

- 1 There's something I've been meaning to talk to you about.
- 2 I hope you don't take this the wrong way, but ...
- 3 I don't want you to get the wrong idea, but ...

C Listen again and repeat.

LEARN TO soften a message

6 ▶ 8.7 Listen to the sentences and add the extra words or sounds you hear.

- 1 It's not that. I hope you don't take this the wrong way, but it's just that this isn't the first time I've lent you money and you haven't paid it back. I know it's not a lot, just small amounts each time but it adds up quickly. I dunno. Do you know what I mean?
- 2 Actually, you've said that once before. I don't want you to get the wrong idea, but it never happened. And it makes things awkward. It makes me feel annoyed. Do you see where I'm coming from?

speakout TIP

Fillers can help you sound less confrontational and allow thinking time. Some fillers (e.g. um, er, well, you know, I mean, kind of), are used anywhere you would pause. Modifiers (e.g. (just) a bit, slightly, quite) often come before an adjective and soften even a very strong message (e.g. I'm just a bit concerned = I'm VERY concerned).

SPEAKING

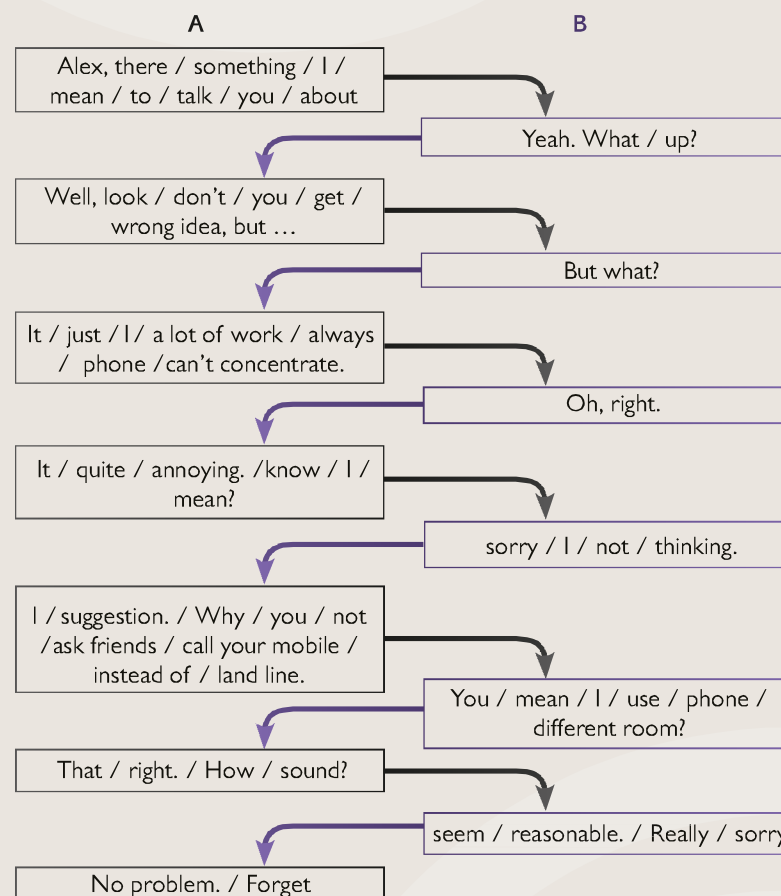

7A Work in pairs. For each situation below, write the first two sentences of the conversation.

- 1 You've been driving your colleague to work for over a month. He/She has never offered you money for petrol.
- 2 Your neighbour leaves bags of rubbish in the hall for days. He/She eventually takes them out but there's always a bad smell in the hall as a result.
- 3 Your friend has long conversations on her mobile when you're out together.
- 4 A friend often gives you a lift on their motorbike but you think their driving is scary.

B Role-play one of the situations.

C Work with another student and role-play a different situation.

5A Use the prompts to complete the conversation.

B Work in pairs and take turns. Role-play the conversation. Use the flowchart to help.

DVD PREVIEW

1A Work in pairs. For each photo A–C discuss the questions.

- 1 What kind of ritual can you see in each photo?
- 2 How well do you think the people know each other?
- 3 Do you do anything similar in your country?

B Read the programme information.

Which of the photos could appear in this particular programme?

BBC

The Human Animal

Desmond Morris is widely known for his study of human behaviour, customs and rituals and his writings on the area, such as The Naked Ape, Mamwatching and Christmas Watching. Originally a zoologist, Morris decided to observe and classify human behaviour in much the same way as he would observe animals – in his words ‘to do for actions what dictionary makers had done for words.’ In this programme in the series, Morris focuses on customs connected with greeting and on the meaning of different gestures.

DVD VIEW

2A Before watching, discuss:

- 1 How many different ways of shaking hands do you know?
- 2 How do you express ‘You’re crazy’ with your hands?

B Watch the DVD. Complete each sentence with a number.

Morris talks about:

- 1 ____ different handshakes.
- 2 ____ different ways to express ‘You’re crazy’.

C Watch the DVD again and answer the questions.

- 1 Why does Morris call himself a ‘man watcher’?
- 2 How long did it take him to complete his classification of human body language?
- 3 Why do Kurdish farmers in Turkey shake hands for so long? When can they stop?
- 4 What does Morris say the purpose of handshaking is?
- 5 What are the different ways of saying ‘You’re crazy’?

D Work in pairs and discuss. Are there any gestures which would be important for a visitor to your country to know about?

speakout a ritual

3A Read the dictionary extract. Can you think of an example of a personal ritual?

ritual /ˈrɪtʃuəl/ n [C] a set of actions that is always done in exactly the same way.

B Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 Do you have any customs or rituals that are particular to your family or that are typical in your culture? Think about: holidays, birthdays, particular days of the week, food and drink.
- 2 Do you know how the ritual developed?
- 3 How do you feel about it?

C ▶ 8.8 Listen to someone talking about a ritual. What is it and how did it start?

D Listen again and tick the key phrases that you hear.

keyphrases

I don’t know how it started

Whenever [we get together/the first grapes are picked/we give a gift]

This involves [giving presents/coming down for breakfast]

All the presents are [laid out... /exchanged...]

It was just something that we invented for [the children/each other]

It’s come down from [my side of the family/hundreds of years ago]

4A Prepare to talk about one of the family or cultural rituals that you discussed in 3A. Make notes about:

- what exactly happens
- how it started
- why it’s important to your family/culture.

B Present your talk to other students. Listen to other students’ presentations and make notes of questions to ask them at the end.

writeback a family ritual

4A Work in pairs and read the forum entry. Did you do anything similar when you were younger?

Tell us about a family ritual

Stephen: I’m from South Africa and I spent my childhood in a part of the world where spaces are vast, towns are far apart and we lived fairly harsh lives. One of my best memories was of a kind of family ritual we had where twice a month we would drive forty miles to the next town and meet the family of a colleague of my dad’s, Mr. Matthews, on a Sunday afternoon. There were four of us kids and six or seven of them, so when we came together it was a huge rowdy party; kids running around barefoot all over the yard while the adults drank long cool drinks and sat and talked. Then at about five o’clock, as the sun was setting, the Matthews would drive halfway back with us and we’d stop under a huge acacia tree to watch the sun set. We kids would collect wood and make a huge bonfire and we’d all sit talking and telling stories until the fire was ready for a barbecue. And the best part was that Mrs. Matthews would bring out a bowl of sour dough and mix it to make sour dough bread that she would roast on the grill.

B Write about a family ritual you remember from when you were younger. Write 200–250 words.

 - People would spend / have spent more time together now.
 - my parents would end up / have ended up in different jobs.

B For each sentence, circle the ending a), b) or c) that is most true for you.

C Work in pairs and compare your ideas.

COLLOCATIONS

2 Underline the correct alternative in each sentence.

- I had no time to analyse/stick to the situation and had to act quickly – if I had postponed/come to the decision any longer, more people would have died.
- We would like to take more time to arrive at/weigh up the pros and cons before we come to/follow a final decision.
- You should examine/compare the situation carefully and not be afraid of doing/putting off the decision.
- I always try to betray/stick to my principles and never go against/arrive at them.

FEELINGS

3A Add the letters to complete the questions about feelings.

- How do you feel when you wake up in the morning: gro_ _ _ , ale_ _ or in-between?
- How much time passes between the moment you wake up and the moment you feel wid_ _ awa_ _ ?
- What makes you cri_ _ _ more: saying something stupid in front of a group or your best friend doing the same?
- In which season do you feel at your sha_ _ _ _ and when are you at your low_ _ _ eb_ ?
- Are there any types of people who you des_ _ _ _ with a pas_ _ _ _ ?

B Work in pairs and ask and answer the questions.

-ING FORM AND INFINITIVE

4A Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in brackets.

- The most difficult thing about my day is _____ to and from work. (travel)
- I've always been able _____ new words just by _____ them. (learn, hear)

- I enjoy _____ films in English. (can watch)
- _____ a uniform is the worst part of my job. (must wear)

B Tick any sentences you agree with. Make the others true for you.

C Work in pairs and take turns. Student A: read one of your sentences. Student B: ask follow-up questions.

A: The worst part of my job is ...

B: Oh, why is that?

AWKWARD SITUATIONS

5A Correct the mistake and add the missing word in each sentence.

- Excuse me, Wendy. Do ^{you} have a ~~moment~~ ^{moment} ~~monument~~?
- There's nothing I've meaning to talk to you about.
- Look, I want you to get the right idea, but ...
- It that just I've noticed that ...
- I feel brighter if ...
- How you fill about that?

B Work in pairs. Choose one of the situations below and practise the conversation. Student A: use all of the sentences from Exercise 5A in order. Then choose another situation and exchange roles with Student B.

- telling a colleague that their clothing isn't appropriate for the workplace
- telling a friend that they always forget your birthday and it bothers you
- telling a student that they didn't pass an important exam

1 Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- 1 Would you say you've got a good memory?
- 2 What tricks do you know for remembering PIN numbers, passwords or people's names?

2A Read the article and find three examples of false memories.

B Read the article again. Are statements 1–8 true (T) or false (F)? Underline any words/phrases that help you decide.

- 1 In court, evidence from a witness is not important if there are other kinds of proof.
- 2 Forty percent of people in one study were able to give a very full description of the film of the bus.
- 3 Ost's study shows that our memories are unreliable.
- 4 A poor memory doesn't usually matter in day-to-day life, according to the article.

Memories on trial

Even in these days of DNA tests and other forensic techniques, witness testimony still plays an important part in court cases. But how reliable are our memories? BBC Focus magazine's Andy Ridgway finds we know less than we think ...

Most of us have some recollection of the 2005 terrorist attacks in London. It could well be a mental image of a red double-decker bus in Tavistock Square with its roof ripped off by the force of the explosion. That's not surprising given the number of photographs of the damaged bus that were carried in newspapers in the days after the attack.

But what about CCTV footage? Do you remember seeing a video of the bus exploding? What can you see in that video?

Well, the truth is, you shouldn't be able to see anything in your mind's eye because such CCTV footage simply doesn't exist. But don't worry. If it only took a suggestion that you may have seen a video of the explosion to create an image in your mind, you're not alone. In fact, in a study carried out by Dr James Ost at the University of Portsmouth, forty percent of people claimed to have seen this nonexistent footage. Some even went on to describe what happened in vivid detail.

Many of us think we have a good memory. After all, it's got us through the occasional exam. But what Ost's study clearly demonstrates is just how easily influenced our memories are. 'Facts' from the past can become confused in our minds. And it can simply be the fact that we've been asked about something, such as a nonexistent video clip, that can alter our memory.

Many people believe they have seen video footage of the moment Princess Diana's car crashed – but no such footage actually exists.

In many cases, an unreliable memory is not a problem. It just means we forget to send a birthday card on time or a story we tell at a party is not one hundred percent accurate. But sometimes the contents of our memories can have huge consequences – putting people behind bars or even, in the USA, on Death Row.

In 1998, an American study calculated that in ninety-five percent of felony cases – the more serious crimes – witness evidence (in other words, people's memories) was the only evidence heard in court. In the UK, despite DNA and other forensic evidence being used more regularly, witness memories are still a vital part of court proceedings.

Even before a case gets to court, a few false memories can get an investigation off to a bad start. In the sniper* attacks that took place in the Washington DC area in 2002, witnesses reported seeing a white van or truck fleeing several of the crime scenes. A white vehicle may have been seen near one of the first shootings and the media began repeating this. When they were caught, the sniper suspects were actually driving a blue car. It seems many witness memories had been altered by the media reports.

Immediately after a traumatic event, our memories may be poor and are usually fragmented. A good example is how in car crashes a person might have a vivid memory of the texture of the material on the inside of the car door because he or she looked away at the moment of the crash.

*sniper – someone who shoots at someone from a hidden place and from a distance

GRAMMAR -ing form and infinitive

4A Underline the correct alternative in sentences 1–3. Then check in the article.

- 1 Do you remember to see/ seeing a video of the bus exploding?
- 2 Some people even went on to describe/ describing what happened in vivid detail.
- 3 It just means we forget to send/ sending a birthday card on time.

B Work in pairs and check what you know. What is the difference in meaning between the pairs of phrases in bold?

- 1 a) I remembered to set the alarm before I left the building.
b) I remember thinking the building seemed very quiet.
- 2 a) I forgot to phone for tickets for the Coldplay concert.
b) I'll never forget seeing Coldplay in concert for the first time.
- 3 a) Henri stopped to drink some coffee.
b) Then he stopped driving because he still felt tired.
- 4 a) After three years' training, Billy went on to become a famous dancer.
b) Billy went on practising five hours a day even when he was famous.
- 5 a) He tried to recall her name, but couldn't.
b) Then he tried going through the alphabet and remembered it was Valerie.

C Match rules 1–10 below with meanings a)–j). Use the examples in Exercise 4B to help.

Rules:
1 remember + -ing form	a) do something that is one's responsibility
2 remember + infinitive with to	b) not do something that is one's responsibility
3 forget + -ing	c) have a memory of an event or a feeling
4 forget + infinitive with to	d) not have a memory of an event or a feeling
5 stop + -ing form	e) finish an action
6 stop + infinitive with to	f) continue an action
7 go on + -ing form	g) finish an action in order to do something else
8 go on + infinitive with to	h) do something after finishing something else
9 try + -ing form	i) experiment with an activity
10 try + infinitive with to	j) make an effort to do something difficult 5A Look at the phrases in bold in 1a)–3b) in Exercise 4B. Cross out the letters which are silent when they are said at a natural speed.

I remembered to set the alarm before I left the building.

If someone came to your door and pretended to be a police officer, in uniform and with a badge, would they fool you? Would a fight or a loud noise in a public place distract you so much that someone could easily snatch your wallet or your mobile or swap it for an identical one? How easily do you think you could be taken in by a professional con artist? The Real Hustle aims to show how such scams work so that the viewer doesn't fall for them.

The Real Hustle is a factual entertainment programme about scams and cons and how easy it is to deceive people in everyday life. It features a team of con artists, Alexis, Paul and Jess, as they are filmed by hidden cameras. Their scams depend on similar techniques, for example they often divert someone's attention and grab their belongings while they're not looking; or they switch a genuine item with a counterfeit one; or pose as police officers or other officials to win the victim's trust. Popular scams from the series include: the Jewellery Shop Scam, Free Gift Wrapping, the Bag and PIN* Snatch, the Fake Hire Car Scam and the Counterfeit Money Con.

 - 5 The woman must have been working with the guy.
 - 6 She couldn't have been a real customer.
- a) I'm almost certain this happened.
b) I feel it's possible this happened.
c) I'm almost certain this didn't happen.

B Complete the rules. Use the sentences in Exercise 4A to help.

Rules:

- 1 To speculate or make a deduction about something that happened in the past, use the modals: must / _____ / _____ / _____ / _____ + have + _____.
- 2 To emphasise that an activity was in progress, use modal + have + _____ + _____.
- 3 In the passive, use modal + have + _____ + _____.

5A ▶ 9.3 Listen to the pronunciation of the past modals in connected speech. Then listen again and repeat.

must have /məstəv/ could have /kʊdəv/ might have /maɪtəv/ can't have /kɑ:ntəv/ couldn't have /kʊdntəv/

B ▶ 9.4 Listen to the sentences in Exercise 4A and repeat.

PRACTICE6 Complete the accounts of two scams. Use modals of deduction and the verbs in brackets.

I was taking out money at an ATM. Just as my card came out, a guy behind me said I'd dropped some money. Sure enough, there was a twenty-euro note on the floor. I bent down, picked it up and my card was gone ... and so was the man! He ¹ _____ (drop) the twenty-euro note and pretended it was mine, or the note ² _____ (fall) out of my wallet and he simply took advantage of the situation. He ³ _____ (pull) my card out of the ATM when I bent down.

An estate agent was showing me a flat when she got a phone call from another customer who wanted to put down a deposit on that same flat. So I gave the agent my deposit, signed the contract, and was given the key. When I went back later to move in, the key didn't work ... and the agent didn't answer her phone number! The woman ⁴ _____ (be) an estate agent. She ⁵ _____ (be) an imposter and the other customer ⁶ _____ (work) with her.

SPEAKING7A Work in pairs. Read about other scams from The Real Hustle. Student A: turn to page 159. Student B: turn to page 161.

B Tell each other your experiences and try to work out how the scam was done. Then turn to page 162 to see if your ideas were right.

VOCABULARY PLUS

dependent prepositions

8A Work in pairs. Complete the headlines with a preposition and the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

Fake police officer charged _____ £600 necklace (steal)

2
Woman accuses con artist _____ bag and PIN (take)

Gang arrested _____ one car nine times (sell)

B Write the headlines in full. Which are active and which passive?

1 A fake police officer has been charged with stealing a £600 necklace. Passive

C Complete the headlines using a dependent preposition and the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Then check with a partner or in a dictionary.

- 1 Hacker suspected _____ government computers (access)
- 2 Student apologises _____ in exam (cheat)
- 3 President blames 'greedy' banks _____ crisis (cause)
- 4 Local girl dreams _____ top talent (become)
- 5 Agency criticised _____ size zero models (employ)

WRITING a 'how to' leaflet10A Work in pairs. What advice would you give a visitor to a city about how to avoid getting into trouble?

B Read the extract from a 'how to' leaflet for tourists. Which ideas are different from the ones you discussed?

C Complete the guidelines for writing a 'how to' leaflet with the words in the box.

bullet-points title fonts sections contracted subheading underlining

- 1 Give the leaflet an overall _____.
- 2 Divide the leaflet into different _____, each with its own short _____.
- 3 Use different _____ or _____ so that it is easier for the reader to see the main points before they start reading.
- 4 Use _____ when you are writing a list.
- 5 To make your leaflet more direct and informal, use 'you' and _____ forms.

LEARN TO avoid repetition11A Look at the verbs in bold in the leaflet and:

- 1 put a box around two adverbs used before the verbs.
- 2 underline five verb phrases used before the verbs
- 3 circle the remaining four imperatives.

B Complete the rules and examples with words from the leaflet.

To avoid repetition or simply giving a list of advice:

- 1 use the adverbs always and _____.
- 2 use a range of synonyms (words/phrases) in the imperative:
 - a) Make _____ you
 - b) Be _____ to
 - c) Be particularly _____ to
 - d) Try _____
 - e) Take _____ to 12 Write a 'how to' leaflet (200–250 words) on one of the following topics. Use a variety of ways to give advice and avoid repetition.

- advice for people travelling solo
- advice for internet banking
- advice for passing exams

How to avoid trouble on holidayTaxis

Be careful when taking taxis, especially at the airport. As an unsuspecting tourist, you may find yourself charged up to three times the normal fare or in a taxi with a driver who claims to have no change.

- Never take a taxi without a company name on its side.
- Always ask the approximate fare before entering.
- Phone for a taxi ahead of time rather than catching one in the street.
- Make sure you carry plenty of change with you.

Money

Be careful around any major tourist sites. Pickpockets often work in gangs and will come up behind you while you're walking and unzip your backpack or may 'accidentally' bump into you and steal your money or mobile before passing these on immediately to a partner. Also, take care when using an ATM. A tiny hidden camera may have been installed to steal your card number and PIN.

- Keep your credit cards and larger sums of money in a money belt under your clothes.
- Be sure to keep any money that you think you'll use that day loose in your pocket, so that you don't need to pull out large notes.
- Be particularly careful to cover the keypad when you enter your PIN into an ATM machine.
- Use ATMs inside a bank where they are less likely to have been interfered with.

Tours

If someone offers a 'budget' tour, you may find that the price is cheap but you'll spend more time at shopping places not on your itinerary than the places you intended to visit. This is because your 'guide' is being paid by the shopkeepers for taking you there.

- Book tours only with reputable companies.
- Try to check with other visitors or with your hotel before booking a tour.
- Take time to look on the internet for reviews and recommendations.

B Work in pairs. Student B: ask Student A how the burglar got into and out of the house. Draw a line showing his route. Help Student A with difficult vocabulary.

A: The burglar first climbed the ... thing for rainwater ... going down ...

B: The drainpipe? Which one?

A: The ... drainpipe ... on the left/right.

DVD PREVIEW

1A Work in pairs and discuss. Imagine you are on board a sinking ship. Which three things from the list would be the worst that could happen?

- no one is in charge
- the power goes off
- the ship's hull is damaged
- everyone gives up hope of being rescued
- someone falls into the water
- the crew jump ship, leaving the passengers behind
- an airlift harness breaks
- there are gale-force winds
- there aren't enough lifeboats

B Read the programme information. Who organised the rescue on the Oceanos? Why, do you think?

BBC 999

In this series, Michael Buerk presents sensational stories of ordinary people caught up in extraordinary life-or-death situations. Tonight's programme features a remarkable account of the cruise liner Oceanos that sank near South Africa in 1991, as told by Moss Hills, one of the 581 people on board the ship. Despite being on the ship simply as entertainers, Hills, his wife and other members of the entertainment team found themselves coordinating the evacuation of hundreds of passengers in a race against time before the vessel disappeared beneath the waves.

DVD VIEW

2A Work in pairs and number the events in the order you think they happened.

- The storm hit. /
- Helicopters arrived.
- The helicopters ran out of fuel.
- The power on the ship went off.
- The captain and crew got off the ship.
- 350 people successfully got into lifeboats.

B Watch the DVD and check the order.

C Work in pairs. Complete the extracts. Then listen and check.

- There was a great _____ when we set sail. It's kind of typical, there's always people partying, there's a whole sail-away _____, it's one of the highlights of a cruise.

 We need to prioritise them.

C Work alone and choose six items from the list in Exercise 3A. Make notes on why they are important and why other items are not as important.

D Work in groups and take turns. Try to persuade the other students that your choices are important then decide on six items as a group.

writeback a lucky escape

4A A website has asked readers to write a story about a lucky escape using the string of words. Work in pairs and discuss. What story can you imagine for the first word string below?

spring countryside lost dark fence garden dog sandwich run jump escape

August camping forest dry tent sleep smoke fire trapped soup rain escape sea cool friends swim snorkel hours tired cold stiff drowning save escape

B Read the story. What happened and how did the man get out of the situation without being hurt?

It was early spring, and I was taking a walk in the countryside with my girlfriend. We were mostly walking along country roads, but sometimes cutting across fields and gardens. Late in the day, as it started to get dark, we realised we were lost. We had a map with us, but it didn't help because we didn't really know where we were.

There was a fence running along the road next to us, and I decided that we should go over the fence and cross that property to get to the next road. So we climbed the fence, and started crossing the grass. It was in fact someone's private garden, and there was a very big house on it. There was also a very big dog, and it was running towards us, barking. I'm terrified of dogs, but my girlfriend kept a cool head, took a sandwich out of her bag, and threw it to one side.

Amazingly, the dog went for the sandwich, and we had enough time to run to the next fence and jump over. It was a very lucky escape.

C Choose another word string. Write your story (200–300 words) using three paragraphs.

D Read other students' stories. Which one do you think was the most unusual escape?

9.5 << LOOKBACK

-ING FORM AND INFINITIVE (2)

1A Underline the correct alternative in the article.

OK, you've just been mugged. Your first impulse may be to go on ¹*doing/ to do* whatever you were doing, but don't. First, stop ²*checking/ to check* that you're fine. Some victims forget about ³*being/ to be* hit or ⁴*falling/ to fall* and only discover injuries later. Try ⁵*finding/ to find* a safe place, maybe a café with people (you may need to borrow a phone). You're probably in shock – give yourself time to stop ⁶*shaking/ to shake* and take slow, deep breaths to calm yourself. If this doesn't work, try ⁷*drinking/ to drink* some cool water – avoid coffee. Remember ⁸*phoning/ to phone* someone you know and tell them where you are and what happened. If you remember ⁹*seeing/ to see* what the mugger looked like, write down the details. If you forget ¹⁰*doing/ to do* this you may find that you can't recall much detail later, when you talk to the police.

B Work in pairs and discuss. Which ideas do you agree with?

CRIME

2A Make a list of as many crimes as you can remember.

B Work in pairs and think of:

- 1 two crimes that involve damage to property
- 2 four crimes that involve people and can happen on the street
- 3 three crimes that involve technical expertise on computers or other machines
- 4 two crimes involving money that could be committed by a company
- 5 one crime that involves theft but not usually in a street

C Work in pairs and discuss. Which crimes are most often in the news in your town/city/country?

SYNONYMS

3A Rewrite the sentences with a synonym for the words/phrases in bold.

- 1 Does listening to music when you study divert your attention?
- 2 Can you snatch fifteen minutes' sleep in the middle of the day?
- 3 Would you find it easier to pretend to be someone older or younger?
- 4 If you exaggerate your internet profile, are you fooling people unacceptably?
- 5 Have you ever been taken in by a lie someone told you?

B Work in pairs and take turns. Ask and answer the questions.

MODALS OF DEDUCTION

4A Work in pairs and read the situations. For each one, rewrite the options using a modal of deduction.

- 1 A man checked his post box every day but it was always empty. Meanwhile his friends sent him dozens of letters a week.
 - a) I'm sure the man moved recently. The man must have moved recently.
 - b) Maybe his friends sent mail to the old address.
 - c) I'm certain the postmen didn't deliver the letters.
- 2 A pianist performed a concert in a concert hall. She played perfectly but at the end no one clapped.
 - a) She was probably practising in an empty concert hall.
 - b) I'm certain she was deaf.
 - c) They definitely didn't like the music.

B Look at the extra information below and make a final guess to explain each situation. Then turn to page 161 and check your ideas.

- 1 The friends wrote the correct address on the letters./The postman always put the letters in the post box./There wasn't a hole in the bottom of the post box.
- 2 The concert hall was full./No one had hearing problems – everyone heard the performance and liked it.

DESCRIBING AN INCIDENT

5A Complete the sentences with the correct form of a word in the box. One of the words is not used.

occur if go catch remind become like cross realise happen (x2)

- 1 It occurred to me that he/she shouldn't have ...
- 2 He/She _____ me of ...
- 3 It was only later that I _____ ...
- 4 My mind _____ blank.
- 5 Before I realised what had _____, she/he'd ...
- 6 I _____ (not) the number plate.
- 7 It all _____ so fast.
- 8 It _____ my mind that ...
- 9 He/She looked as _____ ...
- 10 He/She seemed _____ ...

B Work in pairs. Choose one of the following incidents to report to the police and decide which sentences from Exercise 5A you could use.

- someone shoplifting in a department store
- someone looking at confidential information on someone else's computer
- someone hanging around an ATM with two friends sitting in a car nearby

C Work in pairs and take turns. Role-play the phone call. Student A: you are the police officer. Student B: you have seen the incident.

B Take turns. Student A: describe one of the films using at least three of the adjectives from Exercise 1B. The other students: ask a question each and then guess the film.

A: It's fast-paced and the special effects are brilliant but some of it is predictable.

B: Is it a thriller?

A: Yes.

C: Does it star ...?

LISTENING

3 Read the information about a radio programme. Why do you think people listen to this programme? Would you listen to it?

The Edith Bowman Show

Join Edith Bowman's daily afternoon show on BBC Radio 1, with its mix of music and chat. Studio guests this week include singer Calvin Harris, guitarist Serge from Kasabian and, from the world of film, Emma Watson and Elijah Wood. Also, latest reports from the festival circuit. James King appears in his regular slots: on Wednesday he answers listeners' movie questions and on Fridays he chats to Edith about the latest films.

4A ▶ 10.1 Listen to James King's review of the film Let the Right One In and underline the correct alternative.

- 1 He loved/ quite liked/ hated the film.
- 2 He says the film is fast-paced/ slow-paced/ has too much blood.
- 3 He doesn't talk about the plot/ the setting/ the director/ the acting.

B Listen again and complete the extracts from the review.

- 1 I certainly am. _____, _____ horror film, this one.
- 2 It's a _____, _____ film, it really is very, very good ...
- 3 It's sort of slow, and really _____.
- 4 ... because of that, I think really, really _____.
- 5 ... and the most _____ things are happening on screen ...
- 6 Absolutely. And I think a really _____ film.
- 7 You can have something that's really _____ and ...
- 8 The two kids in this are, well, just _____.

C Work in pairs and discuss. Have you seen or heard of this film? If not, would you watch it based on this review? Why/Why not?

GRAMMAR relative clauses

5A Check what you know. Complete the extract from an online review with who, which, whose, where or when.

I've never liked films ¹ _____ are designed to frighten me, but Let the Right One In is a horror film ² _____ goes beyond the usual moments of terror ³ _____ any good horror film delivers.

The story centres on the relationship of two young adolescents: twelve-year-old Oskar, ⁴ _____ is bullied by other kids, and Eli, a young girl ⁵ _____ he makes friends with. However, Eli is a vampire and she needs blood, ⁶ _____ gives Oskar a real possibility of striking back against the bullies.

I saw the film as being less about vampires and more about the insecurities and horrors of growing up, ⁷ _____ we can all identify with. Some of my favourite scenes in the film are the most poignant such as the moment ⁸ _____ Oskar asks Eli, 'Will you be my girlfriend?' and Eli says, 'Oskar, I'm not a girl', by ⁹ _____ she means of course that she's a vampire.

Oskar is played by Kare Hedebrant, ¹⁰ _____ is appealing in his portrayal of pain and innocence. Eli is played by Lina Leandersson, ¹¹ _____ sad eyes and gentleness are an ironic contrast to her violent needs. The film was mostly shot in northern Sweden, ¹² _____ the snow that was needed to create the bleak, empty atmosphere was guaranteed.

B Work in pairs and answer the questions about the review above.

- 1 Which relative clauses are defining (give essential information) and which are non-defining (add extra information). Write D or ND.
- 2 Which type of clause, D or ND, always has a comma before it, and a comma or full stop after it?
- 3 What does which in examples 6 and 7 refer to?
- 4 In which five relative clauses can you use that instead of who, which or when?
- 5 In which three relative clauses can you omit the relative pronouns who, which and when?
- 6 Look at examples 5, 7 and 9. Where is the preposition in the relative clauses?

6 Look at the extract from the review. Underline the non-defining relative clauses.

The story centres on the relationship of two young adolescents: twelve-year-old Oskar, who is bullied by other kids, and Eli, a young girl who he makes friends with. However, Eli is a vampire and she needs blood, which gives Oskar a real possibility of striking back against the bullies.

7A ▶ 10.2 Listen to the intonation in the non-defining clauses. Are they spoken in a higher or lower voice than the rest?

B Listen again and say the recording at the same time. Try to copy the intonation.

PRACTICE

8A Join the sentences using a relative clause.

- 1 In The Curious Case of Benjamin Button, Brad Pitt plays a man. He lives his life backwards.
 In The Curious Case of Benjamin Button, Brad Pitt plays a man who lives his life backwards.
- 2 Megastar Zac Efron gives an emotional and mature performance in his latest film. He shot to fame in High School Musical.
- 3 Invictus is a story about leadership and forgiveness at a critical period. Nelson Mandela had just become president of South Africa.
- 4 The film Star Trek was based on a popular TV series. The series has been watched around the world.
- 5 The film is Daniel Craig's second outing as James Bond. It is directed by Marc Forster.
- 6 Adrian Brody plays a Jewish refugee in The Pianist. He is a famous Polish piano player.
- 7 Lost in Translation is a film about two Americans in a Tokyo hotel. They meet and form an unusual bond there.
- 8 The Hurt Locker is a gripping story about the insanity and foolishness of war. It was made in Jordan.

B Work in pairs. Write three sentences about films. Use a relative clause in each sentence.

C Work with another pair. Read out your sentences but replace the film with this/these film(s). The other pair guess the film or film star.

A: These films, which were filmed mainly in New Zealand, were some of the most successful ever.

B: The Lord of the Rings?

SPEAKING

9A Complete the sentences below so that they

- I loathe films where ... My favourite male actor is ..., who ...
- I like the work of the director ..., whose ... The film which ... is ...
- My favourite actress is ..., who ... I like it in films when ...

are true for you.

B Work in pairs and take turns. Talk about your ideas and ask follow-up questions.

WRITING a review

10A Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- Where do you usually read film reviews (e.g. on the Internet, in magazines)?
- What is the main purpose of a film review?
 - to make people want to see the film
 - to help people decide if they want to see a film
 - to give factual information about the film
- Which of the items in the box do you usually find in a film review?

plot summary description of the film's ending actors' names recommendation ticket prices setting of the film reviewer's opinion of different elements

B Read the film review and write the topic of each paragraph.

FILM REVIEW

- Slumdog Millionaire* is set in Mumbai and stars Dev Patel as Jamal, an illiterate call-centre worker from the city slums, and Rubina Ali as Latika, his childhood friend and lost love.
- As the film opens, Jamal is about to answer the last vital question to win the jackpot in the Indian version of the quiz show Who Wants to be a Millionaire? However, the show's host is suspicious because of Jamal's run of correct answers, and when the programme has to break overnight, he calls in the police. Convinced he is a cheat, the police take Jamal away and torture him. Through a series of flashbacks, we see a number of horrific incidents experienced by Jamal and his brother Salim as orphans in the slums of Mumbai. Remarkably, each answer from the show relates to one of these situations.
- Skilfully directed by Danny Boyle, the film cuts between the glitter of the TV studio and the poverty, companionship and cruelty of the Mumbai slums. The script is alternately gripping, shocking and hilarious and the camerawork is sensational. As Jamal, Dev Patel is electrifying although, for me it is the character of young Jamal, poignantly acted by Ayush Khedar, who is the most moving of all.
- With its breathless intensity, Slumdog Millionaire is a hard-hitting, emotionally-draining film which I'd thoroughly recommend.

C Work in pairs and take turns to tell your partner about the answers.

Popular culture Q&A

Want to know the best-kept secrets of popular culture? Read our Top 10 Questions & Answers to find out.

Q: How do actors cry on demand?

A: There are certain ways of making it look like you're crying, such as putting glycerine in your eyes, sniffing a freshly cut onion or, on stage, concentrating on a bright point of light. Most actors use more internal techniques that exploit emotional memory. By recalling a time when they were sad or upset, an actor can often get the tears flowing. Or sometimes they'll build an association between an object – a prop they'll be handling during the scene – and that emotion, so that, when they touch the prop, they feel inclined to cry. Interestingly, most actors say it's easier to cry convincingly than to laugh convincingly.

Q: How do singers keep their voices steady when they're dancing?

A: Singers such as Beyoncé, whose stage show involves her dancing all over the stage, can't always deliver high-quality vocals live as it's physically extremely difficult to control the voice while jumping around. Because of this, many performers rely on a backing track to provide vocals during some songs, and whilst they may be singing live, the audience can't actually hear their voice. Some stationary performers use a backing track when they're concerned about difficult parts of the performance, for example hitting a very high note or even remembering the words to a song.

Q: Who decides whether something is 'art' or not?

A: This is an age-old question, and you need to be flexible in your outlook. Art is about crossing boundaries, and the range of works and styles of painting regarded as art by different people is astounding – from cave paintings to Rembrandt to Jackson Pollock. One argument goes that a painting is art if the painter says it is, and gives sound reasons to support their position. Many artists would reject that idea as they don't care who regards their work as art. We'll probably never agree on who the most beautiful woman or best-looking man is, so we'll just have to enjoy exploring and sharing our notions of art and beauty without a definitive answer.

Q: What's the secret to making an audience laugh?

A: Every stand-up comedian knows that making people laugh with prepared material, on stage, is very different from making your friends or colleagues laugh in an informal setting. You need to focus on technique, such as which words to stress, when to pause, how to use facial expressions and body movements, as well as sensing how to work each individual audience. Ironically, shows with paying audiences are better than freebies. Having paid to be entertained, people are often more ready and willing to laugh.

Q: Why do great photographers need to change their photos on a computer?

A: In this digital age, the average person sitting at his or her home computer is able to manipulate photographs easily. People talk about digital photography destroying the purism of traditional photography. But what they aren't aware of is that photographers who printed photographs on paper were able to manipulate colour, contrast, framing and content as much as someone working with a computer nowadays. It's just that, in the past, very few people were involved in the printing process, with most people paying for someone else to develop their photos.

GRAMMAR participle clauses

2A Read the article below. Why do celebrities use fake names?

B Work in pairs and look at the participle clauses in bold in the article. Then complete the rules.

Do stars use their real names when travelling?

In short, no. In fact, stars ¹registered at hotels under their real name are a rarity – their day can be ruined by paparazzi ²trying to take their pictures and members of the public ³seeking autographs. So if you're going to change your name, why not have fun doing it? Names ⁴involving wordplay are common: Britney Spears uses Ms Alotta Warmheart among other names, and Brad Pitt and Jennifer Aniston, ⁵married in 2000 but divorced five years later, used to call themselves Mr and Mrs Ross Vegas. And the fun doesn't end there – George Clooney travelled ⁶using the name Arnold Schwarzenegger. 'It was funny, the hotel staff had to call me Mr Schwarzenegger, ⁷knowing, of course, I wasn't him,' said Clooney.

Rules:

- 1 A participle clause begins with either a _____ or a _____.
- 2 Some types of participle clause can replace a relative clause. There are five examples in the text: numbers _____.
- 3 A participle clause beginning with a _____ is active in meaning and a clause beginning with a _____ is passive.

C Compare each pair of sentences below and underline the correct alternative to complete the rules.

- 1 a) Names which involve wordplay are common.
b) Names involving wordplay are common.
- 2 a) When George Clooney travelled, he used the name Arnold Schwarzenegger.
b) George Clooney travelled using the name Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Rules:

- 1 When a relative clause has a verb in the present simple, the participle clause uses a present participle / the present simple.
- 2 When two actions happen at the same time and have the same / a different subject, they can be joined by using a participle clause.

Speakout TIP

Using participle clauses can improve the level of your writing and speaking. Try to improve this sentence by using a participle clause: I stayed at home and I read the paper and watched the sport on TV. Recognising participle clauses can also help you understand complex sentences when reading, e.g. The people stopped at the border were all Americans.

PRACTICE

3A Rewrite the sentences using a participle clause.

- 1 People who take photos should ask their subjects' permission first.
- 2 Films that are based on books are usually disappointing.
- 3 It's great to see rock stars in their sixties who still play concerts.
- 4 Architecture which was designed in the 1960s is generally quite ugly and ought to be pulled down.
- 5 Photos of people who are posing for the camera don't work as well as spontaneous pictures.
- 6 Film and TV stars who appear in the theatre attract huge audiences.
- 7 Jokes which involve racial stereotypes are not funny.
- 8 Photos which have been altered to make celebrities look thinner should be banned.

B Work in pairs and discuss. Do you agree with the statements in Exercise 3A? Give examples where possible.

VOCABULARY the arts

4A Which of the forum comments are generally positive (✓), negative (✗) and mixed (–)?

I'd read a lot about this new singer in the music press. She's certainly creating a stir with her ground-breaking mix of rap and folk. Ever since she got those rave reviews in the press, each performance has been a sell-out and it's impossible to get tickets. Everyone says it's the must-see performance of the year. Is she really that good?

Well after all the hype surrounding her concerts, I went to see her on Friday, expecting something really sensational ... but the concert was a real letdown! It was a complete flop because we couldn't hear her properly.

Yeah, I was at that gig and the technical side was pretty bad but her album is amazing, really innovative. I've never heard anything quite like it before. I just hope she doesn't go mainstream and boring like all the other alternative artists.

B Work in pairs. What do you think the words in bold above mean? Use the context, grammar and your knowledge of similar words to help. Then check in a dictionary.

C Think of a performance you have seen or heard. Write a forum entry about it using at least four of the words which are new to you.

D Read other students' forum entries. Find a performance you would like to see or hear.

SPEAKING

5A Choose three of the questions below to answer. Write the name of the thing/person and two or three words to explain why you liked it/him/her.

- 1 What's the best gig/concert or dance performance you've ever been to?
- 2 What's the best music album ever made?
- 3 Who's the funniest comedian you know?
- 4 What's the most moving, scary or exciting film you've ever seen?
- 5 What's the most memorable exhibition you've ever been to?
- 6 What's the best photo you've ever taken?
- 7 Who's the painter or other type of artist you most like? What's your favourite work of his/hers?
- 8 What's the most unforgettable show or play you've ever seen?

B Work in pairs and take turns. Talk about your experiences and feelings.

C Work in groups and take turns. Recommend something you've recently been to/seen/heard.

VOCABULARY PLUS two-part phrases

6A Work in pairs and look at the two-part phrases in sentences 1 and 2. What do you think they mean?

- 1 There are some basic dos and don'ts when taking a good photo.
- 2 I've worked in the film business off and on for most of my life.

B Check your ideas with the dictionary entries.

dos and don'ts things that you should and should not do: the dos and don'ts of having a pet off and on/on and off for short periods of time but not regularly: I worked as a secretary off and on for three years.

7A Match a word from A with one from B to make a two-part phrase.

A			B
peace	pros	and	ready	tired (of) leaps	rough		quiet	then on	sick		bounds	through through		cons	take
			on	downs

B 10.3 Listen and check. Then listen and repeat, paying attention to the linking, the weak form of and and the dropping of /d/ in connected speech.

peace and quiet
/ə'n/

8A Work in pairs. Student A: turn to page 163. Student B: turn to page 160. Read the definitions and then complete five of the sentences below.

- 1 I hate having music on in the background. I prefer some _____ and _____.
- 2 I used to go to rock concerts a lot but nowadays I only go _____ and _____.
- 3 I'm a reggae fan _____ and _____.
- 4 I'm _____ and _____ of having to listen to people's favourite music on the train. I wish they'd turn their MP3 players down.
- 5 Any skill such as playing the piano improves in _____ and _____ if you practise enough.
- 6 Every relationship has its _____ and _____ so it's not surprising that most bands break up after a few years.
- 7 I don't like jazz. Some of the pieces go _____ and _____ for far too long.
- 8 It's OK for my neighbours to play music I don't like. You have to have a bit of _____ and _____. I'm sure they don't like my music!
- 9 There are _____ and _____ to buying a live recording as opposed to a studio album.
- 10 Some of the music videos made by ordinary people on YouTube are a bit _____ and _____ but that's OK.

B Work in pairs and take turns. Help your partner to complete the sentences and understand the two-part phrases.

C Discuss. Which of the ideas in Exercise 8B do you agree with?

▶ FUNCTION | giving a tour ▶ VOCABULARY | dimensions ▶ LEARN TO | express estimates

SPEAKING

1 Work in pairs and discuss the questions.

- When was the last tour you took? How was it?
- Look at the photos and answer the questions.
 - Which photos are of Greenwich Village in New York, USA and which are of Oxford in the UK?
 - What do you know about each place?
 - Which place would you most like to visit? Why?

FUNCTION giving a tour

2A ▶ 10.4 Listen to two people showing friends around Greenwich Village and Oxford. Number the photos in the order you hear them.

B Listen again and write one fact you hear about each place.

- The Blue Note Jazz Club
- The Café Reggio
- Greenwich Village in general
- Washington Square Park
- The Bodleian Library
- The Oxford colleges
- The Bridge of Sighs
- New College
- The 'Schools'
- Christ Church College

3A Work in pairs and complete the phrases. Sometimes there is more than one possible answer.

Leading the way

Let's ¹_____ over to Washington Square Park and then ²_____ back.

Why don't we ³_____ our steps and go back to the Café Reggio?

Giving facts

It was ⁴_____ on the Arc de Triomphe.

It was built to ⁵_____ the hundredth anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as president.

In front of us is the Bodleian, ⁶_____ after the ⁷_____ – Thomas Bodley.

Commenting on facts

⁸_____ I'm sure you _____, Greenwich Village has always been a centre of artistic life – very bohemian.

⁹_____, the oldest college was actually only founded a hundred or so years earlier!

¹⁰_____, the biggest room can seat somewhere in the region of 500 students although I haven't seen it myself.

We can actually go inside if we're quick. It's well ¹¹_____ a visit.

B Compare your answers with the audio script on page 174.

C ▶ 10.5 Listen to the intonation in the phrases. Then listen again and repeat.

Interestingly, the statue disappeared at the time of his death.

The story goes, he threw it in the lake.

Apparently, it was made of gold.

Surprisingly, no one has ever tried to find it.

▶▶▶ page 146 LANGUAGEBANK

4A Complete A's part in the extracts from a tour of Paris.

A: ¹Let's / head / over / the cathedral, Notre Dame.

B: On the island? Do we have time to go inside?

A: ²It / well worth / visit / but we / not have / time / to look inside today.

B: ... So that's the Arc de Triomphe?

A: ³Yes, / model / a famous Roman arch.

B: And why was it built?

A: ⁴celebrate / one / Napoleon's great victories.

A: ⁵... So here we are / the Eiffel Tower / named / its designer, Gustave Eiffel.

B: Wow! It's impressive.

A: ⁶Yeah / apparently / can sway six to seven centimetres in the wind!

B Work in pairs and take turns. Practise the conversations using the prompts above.

VOCABULARY dimensions

5 Complete the tourist's questions with the noun or verb form of the adjectives in brackets.

- What is the _____ of the tower? (high)
- Does this road go the _____ of the town? (long)
- When did they _____ the entrance? (wide)
- What is the _____ of the wall here? (thick)
- The road _____ here. Why's that? (narrow)
- What's the _____ of the river and _____ of the water here? (broad, deep)
- Why don't they _____ the map? It's so small. (large)
- It's nine o'clock and it's still light. When do the days _____ here? (short)

LEARN TO express estimates

6A Look at the extracts and underline five phrases for expressing estimates (when we don't know the exact number).

- A: How many colleges are there?
B: Just under forty. Well, thirty-eight to be exact.
- A: How 'new' is new?
B: Roughly 1370.
A: You're kidding!
B: No, really! Interestingly, the oldest college was actually only founded a hundred or so years earlier!
- Apparently the biggest room can seat somewhere in the region of five hundred students
- A: How many students are there at the university in total?
B: To be honest, it depends. In term time, you'd probably get upwards of twenty thousand.

B Which phrases in Exercise 6A could be replaced by 1) fewer than, 2) more than or 3) about/around/ approximately?

C ▶ 10.6 Listen and tick the exact number.

- a) 1,400 b) 1,518
- a) 30 b) 38
- a) 1,180 b) 1,220
- a) 712 b) 746
- a) 2.13 b) 1.10
- a) 318 b) 371

D Work in pairs and take turns to estimate:

- the number of students in your school/employees in your workplace.
- the age of the building you're in.
- the population of your town/city.
- the distance from your home to where you are now.
- the cost of dinner in a good restaurant in your town/city.
- the number of contacts on your mobile phone.
- the number of English words you know.

SPEAKING

7A Work in pairs. Design a one-hour walking or cycling tour of your town/city for a visiting friend.

Make notes on:

- four or five places to see.
- a fact or personal opinion about each place.
- some approximate numbers associated with the place (how many people visit it; how much it costs; how old/long/high etc. it is).

B Work with a new partner and take turns. Role-play the tour. Student A: lead the way. Student B: ask questions.

1A Work in pairs. Look at the picture above and the background photo. Which of the words/phrases in the box would you use to talk about graffiti?

eye-catching has artistic merit positive defaces buildings striking stimulating offensive provocative conveys a message ugly hideous pleasing to the eye messy

B Read the programme information and answer the questions.

- Who is Banksy?
- Why do you think he keeps his identity a secret?
- Why did Bristol host a Banksy show?

BBC The One Show

The mysterious graffiti artist Banksy, whose pioneering work has brought graffiti into mainstream art and whose pictures fetch hundreds of thousands of pounds, is rumoured to be from the city of Bristol. While no one knows for certain if this is true as his identity is a closely guarded secret, the city recently hosted an exhibition of Banksy's work. So what do local people think of Banksy and graffiti in general? Cerrie Burnell, a reporter from BBC 1's topical magazine programme went along to find out.

DVD VIEW

2A Watch the DVD. Do these people think graffiti is art (A) or vandalism (V)?

- Spud Murphy _____
 Woman 1 _____
 Man 1 _____
 Man 2 _____
 Woman 2 _____
 Woman 3 _____
 Man 3 _____
 Man 4 _____

B Watch the DVD again and complete the sentences.

- We've been astounded by the number of people coming through the door and _____ down the street.
- The spray painting work is onto canvas, so it's actually _____ his work in a different way.
- ... you can't have _____ for one and not for the other.
- Has graffiti really become a credible and _____ art form or is it seen by most as just vandalism?
- Very, very artistic, very _____ to the eye, and sometimes it has a very _____ message...

3 Work in pairs and discuss whether you agree/disagree with the statements.

- Holding an exhibition of graffiti is irresponsible because it encourages people to think spray-painting graffiti on public buildings is acceptable.
- There's a difference between artistic graffiti and simple vandalism. There should be separate laws for graffiti artists like Banksy and for kids who just deface property.

speakout a town project

4A 10.7 Listen to three people discussing a new artistic project for their town. Which project does each person, Tim, Nigel and Sarah, like from the list below? Why?

- an outdoor sculpture (modern or traditional)
- a concert space
- a theatre workshop space for young people
- a state-of-the-art multiplex cinema
- a botanical garden
- a skateboarding park

B Listen again and tick the key phrases you hear.

keyphrases

I'm really in favour of [the state-of-the-art multiplex cinema/the fountain]
 I think that it would be [useful and beneficial for the community/popular].
 I'd rather have something that would [appeal to all ages/make a statement]
 We have to consider [costs/maintenance]
 Can you see the [older/younger] generation [using/liking] it?

5A Work in pairs. You are responsible for choosing an artistic project for your town/city. Choose two items from the list in Exercise 4A. The items must:

- have artistic and/or architectural merit.
- represent the town/city in some way.
- convey a positive image.

B Work with other students. Discuss your ideas and decide on one project.

C Present your decision to the class.

writeback a work of art

6A Work in pairs. Read about the competition and tell your partner what you would choose and why.

We want you to write about a favourite work of art or building. It could be a statue or sculpture, a fountain or bridge, a painting or even a favourite room. Send us your description in 150–250 words, and we'll put the five best entries on our website.

B Read the description and tick (✓) the things in the box that the writer mentions.

setting when it was made material colour size who made it why he/she likes it

My favourite building is Bilbao's Guggenheim Museum. It's an awe-inspiring structure, more like a sculpture than a building. Sometimes it reminds me of a collection of building blocks, and at other times it makes me think of a ship reflected in the nearby river.

Its architect, Canadian Frank O Gehry, designed it with flowing curves and covered it with shiny titanium panels that look like the scales of a fish. The museum's colour alters with the light, from silver in the sunlight to gold in the evening.

This twentieth century masterpiece is absolutely breathtaking inside and out. It is without doubt my favourite building in the world and a sight no one should miss if they are visiting this part of Spain.

C Write your competition entry.

- 5 a person for whose/that/whom money is not important.
- 6 three interesting places in this town/city which/to which/where I've never been to.

B Change the words in bold in four of the sentences above so that they are about things/people you'd like to find.

C Ask other students questions about your sentences in Exercise 2B.

A: Do you know anyone whose main interests include going to the cinema?

B: Yes – me.

A: Right. Who's your favourite actor?

B: At the moment, Robert Pattinson.

PARTICIPLE CLAUSES

GRAMMAR

1.1

questions direct questions

Word order for most questions is: (question word) + auxiliary verb + subject + main verb.

What does 'strategy' mean? Have you finished yet?

Subject questions: When the question word is the subject of the sentence, use the affirmative form of the verb.

What happened then? NOT ~~What did happen then?~~

Prepositions in questions usually come at the end.

Who did you go with?

In very formal English, prepositions can come at the beginning.

With whom did you correspond?

Use Wh- + be + subject + like to ask for a description of a thing or person.

What's your new boss like?

indirect questions

Use indirect questions to ask for information in a more polite way or to ask personal questions. After the introductory phrase, use the affirmative form, not the question form.

Do you know what time the class starts?

In yes/no questions use if or whether + the affirmative form.

I'd be interested to know whether Mike's married.

The following phrases are often used to introduce indirect questions: Do you know ... ? Can I ask (you) ... ? Could you tell me ... ? I was wondering ... ? I wonder ... I'd be interested to know ... Do you mind me asking ... ? Have you any idea ... ? I'd like to know ... What/Why etc. + do you think ... ? Would you mind telling me... ?

Only use a question mark if the introductory phrase is a question.

I wonder where Derek is. How do you think he did that?

spoken grammar

Two or three word questions are common in conversation:

A: I'm going out tonight. A: I didn't go to the party.

B: Where to? / Who with? B: How come? / Why not?

A: I hate spicy food.

B: Why's that? / Such as?

In conversation we sometimes use the affirmative form with a rising intonation.

You're living in Saudi Arabia now?

In informal conversation we sometimes leave out the auxiliary.

You been here long? Anyone seen my bag?

1.2

present perfect/past simple present perfect

Use the present perfect to talk about:

- time up to now: an event that happened at some point in the past e.g. in my life, this year, today. The exact time it happened is not mentioned.

I've met four US presidents. (In my life up to now)

- recent events which are in some way relevant to the present. The exact time it happened is not mentioned.

No coffee for me, thanks. I've already had one.

- ongoing situations or repeated events that started in the past and continue up to now.

Julia has swum on the national team since she was fifteen.

Note: The present perfect continuous can often also be used for this meaning. See unit 2.1

past simple

Use the past simple to talk about:

- a completed event where an exact time is given or is obvious.

The plane crashed in the Pacific last week.

- a situation or repeated events that started and finished in the past.

We lived in China for four years before moving here.

As a child, I practised the violin for at least an hour every night.

time phrases to talk about the past past simple	last month, yesterday, ago, this time last week, on date/day, last week/month/year present perfect	just, already, yet, ever, lately, since, so far both	never, always, for, recently, before, in the summer, today, this morning/afternoon today, this morning/ afternoon can be used with both verb forms, depending on whether the period is finished or not.

GRAMMAR

2.1 present perfect simple or continuous?

Use both tenses to talk about situations or repeated actions which started in the past and continue into the present.

• Often there is no important difference, particularly with verbs such as work, live, study.

Ella's worked / 's been working for the company for a year now.

• The present perfect continuous is often used for verbs of longer duration (wait, stay, run, play, sit, stand, etc.).

I've been staying with friends for the last six months.

• The present perfect simple is used for state verbs (know, have, understand, be) and verbs of short duration (drop, start, finish, leave, break, lose, etc.).

I've known Stella all my life. NOT I've been knowing Stella all my life.

Oh no! I've left my ticket at home. NOT I've been leaving my ticket at home.

Use the present perfect continuous to emphasise a continuous or repeated activity and the present perfect simple to emphasise a completed action.

I've been answering emails all morning.

I've answered all my emails.

• The present perfect simple often emphasises a completed result and answers questions such as: How many? How much? How far?

She's run 500 kilometres and she's raised 5,000.

NOT She's been running ... She's been raising ...

• The present perfect continuous is used when there is present evidence of a recent activity.

You look hot. Yes, I've been running.

NOT Yes, I've run.

Sorry about the smell. I've been cooking fish.

NOT Yes, I've cooked fish.

2.2 the passive

Form the passive with be + past participle. In a passive sentence, the agent may or may not be mentioned.

	active	passive
present simple	The press follows him everywhere.	He's followed everywhere by the press.
present continuous	The police are monitoring his emails.	His emails are being monitored by the police.
past simple	Fire destroyed the building.	The building was destroyed by fire.
present perfect	Someone's eaten my sandwich.	My sandwich has been eaten.
will	Someone will tell you.	You'll be told.
modals	We can't do it this week.	It can't be done this week.
-ing form	I don't like people criticising me.	I don't like being criticised.
infinitive with to	The organisers want people to give feedback.	The organisers want to be given feedback.

Use the passive:

• when the object of the verb rather than the subject (the agent) is the focus of the sentence.

The president was honoured by his staff at a special banquet.

• when the agent is obvious, not important or unknown

A man's been arrested on suspicion of murder.

I hate being watched when I'm practising Tai Chi.

I'm being sent all sorts of spam about weight loss.

• to create a distance between the agent and the action, for example to avoid responsibility.

Your ideas will be considered and the good ones put into effect.

All complaints will be taken seriously.

• in more formal texts (e.g. academic writing, business reports) and certain text types (e.g. newspaper articles, radio/TV news).

No survivors have been found in the disaster.

spoken grammar

To avoid using passive in spoken English, we can use pronouns (e.g. they/someone) with an active voice.

They say no one survived the crash.

2.3 giving and responding to opinions

Use these expressions to express your opinion:

I'm (very much) in favour of / (really) against ...

I think / feel / believe that ...

It seems to me that ...

The way I see it ...

agreeing	partially agreeing	disagreeing
That's right. I agree (with you). Exactly/Absolutely/ Definitely I suppose so	You've got a point there, but ... I agree to some extent, but ... I take/see your point, but ... Fair enough, but ... I know what you mean, but ...	I (totally) disagree. I don't agree (with you). I'm not so sure. I'm (still) not convinced.

PRACTICE

2.1 A Complete the answers with the present perfect simple or continuous form of the verbs in brackets.

1 Why are you looking so pleased with yourself?

Because I _____ for some clothes and I've found something I like. (look)

Because I _____ a new pair of jeans. (just buy)

2 You look hot.

Yes, I _____ 15 km. (do)

Yes, I _____. (run)

3 What's the matter?

We _____ to decide where to go on holiday this year. (try)

We _____ we can't afford a holiday this year. (decide)

4 What's up with Jake?

He _____ his knee (hurt)

He _____ with Serge again! (fight)

5 I feel sick.

That's because you _____ a whole packet of biscuits. (eat)

That's because you _____ ice-cream all afternoon. (eat)

B Write a question about each sentence. Use the underlined verb in the present perfect simple or continuous form. If both are possible, use the continuous form.

1 I teach biology at the high school.

How long _____

2 I collect antique books.

a) How long _____

b) How many _____

3 I think Dan's a bit of an idiot.

How long _____

4 I'm saving up money for university.

B: Are you? I'm really against.

A: Well, way I see it, with uniforms everyone's the same, rich or poor.

B: I take your, but they can be very expensive – especially as children get bigger.

A: I know you mean, but kids' clothes are expensive anyway.

B: Fair, but having uniforms deprives children of individual expression.

A: I agree some extent, but uniforms provide a sense of belonging.

B: I'm not so. Lonely kids don't feel any less lonely just because they have a uniform on.

A: Maybe not, but I'm not convinced.

GRAMMAR

3.1 used to, would, be/get used to used to, would Use used to + infinitive for past habits, repeated actions and states which have changed. We can also use the past simple.

Jon used to smoke but he gave up a few years ago.

We always had/used to have a pet when I was young.

We can avoid repeating used to when telling stories by using would instead. We can use would + infinitive for past habits and repeated actions (but not states) which have changed. With would, we often use a past time reference.

We 'd often meet up on a Friday evening after work.

be/get used to

Use be used to + noun or -ing form to talk about a situation which you are familiar with. Use the negative form for a situation which is new and strange for you.

I 'm used to eating with a knife and fork.

I 'm not used to eating with chopsticks.

Use get used to + noun or -ing form to talk about a situation which is becoming more familiar to you.

We 're getting used to the cold winters.

I can't get used to sleeping during the day.

3.2 future forms plans, intentions and decisions

Use be going to + infinitive to talk about general plans, arrangements and intentions about the future. Use might/could + infinitive when a plan or intention is not definite.

I 'm going to look for a job after arriving in Kuala Lumpur.

We might go away for the weekend, we're not sure yet.

Use the present continuous to talk about definite arrangements or plans, often involving other people.

What are you doing today? I 'm having lunch with Mitsuko.

The following phrases can also be used for intentions and plans: planning to/hoping to + infinitive, thinking of + -ing

Pete's hoping to go to university next year.

Are you thinking of leaving the company?

Use will ('ll in spoken English) to talk about new decisions made at the moment of speaking. This is often used with I think.

I 'm tired. I think I 'll go to bed now.

future facts

Use the present simple to talk about facts in schedules, timetables and itineraries.

The course starts in September.

We arrive at 6a.m. at Milan airport.

predictions

Use will/might/could/won't + infinitive to make predictions based on opinion. Use with verbs such as think, hope, expect, know, reckon, guess, be sure, or adverbs such as maybe, perhaps.

I expect Sara will be late as usual.

When the prediction is based on present evidence or something that has already started, use be going to.

Look at those clouds. It 's going to rain. (I can see dark clouds)

Lisa 's going to have a baby. (the pregnancy has started)

Use will + definitely/certainly/possibly/probably to say how certain you are. Note the word order with won't.

Jodie and Al will probably get divorced soon.

You definitely won't get a ticket now. They'll be sold out.

The following phrases also express strong possibility: be likely (to/that), may well, there's a good chance that.

I 'm likely to be / It 's likely that I'll be tired after the journey.

The internet may well mean the end of printed newspapers.

There 's a good chance that Brazil will win the Cup.

after conjunctions of time

To talk about the future, use present simple (or present perfect) after conjunctions of time such as before, when etc.

Let's get together as soon as you arrive. NOT as soon as you'll arrive

3.3 describing procedures

the aim of an activity

The aim/goal/object/point is (for + subject) to ...

emphasise an important point

The main/key/most important thing is to ...

different procedures or steps

The way it works is that the first player ...

What happens (next) is that you ...

The first/next/last thing they/you do is you ...

After they've/you've finished/done that, you ...

First,/Next,/After that,/Then,/Finally, you ...

PRACTICE

3.1 A Complete the exchanges with the correct form of used to, would, be used to or get used to. Sometimes there is more than one possibility.

B: Yes, but I miss the people. I _____ working alone with no one around.

8 A: How can you get any sleep with all that noise outside?

B: I don't even notice. I suppose I _____ it.

B Complete the second sentence so that it means the same as the first. Use used to, be used to or get used to and the verbs in brackets.

1 I lived alone before, but now I have a roommate and it's strange.

I _____ (live) alone, so I _____ (have) a roommate.

2 He feels it's normal for him to stay out late because he always did it before we got married.

He _____ (stay) out late because he always _____ (do) it before we got married.

3 She never had so much free time. Now she does and it's unfamiliar, but less and less so.

She _____ (have) so much free time but now she _____ (have) it.

4 I don't feel comfortable travelling by public transport. Until last year I drove to work.

I _____ (take) public transport. I _____ (drive) to work until last year.

5 I've never had a dog before. I'm sure I'll find it normal soon.

I _____ (have) a dog. I expect I _____ (have) one soon.

3.2 A Cross out the incorrect option in the conversation.

A: Hey Miike, ¹*are you coming / are you going to come / will you come* on the ski trip this weekend?

B: Of course. I haven't signed up yet, but ²*I'm likely to do / I'm going to do / I'll do* that now. Where ³*does the bus leave / is the bus leaving / is the bus planning to leave* from?

A: It ⁴*leaves / might leave / 'll leave* from the front of the office unless it ⁵*will rain / 's raining / rains*.

B: Great! What are the snow conditions ⁶*likely to / going to / hoping to* be like?

A: It's already snowing there now so ⁷*it's being / it's going to be / it'll be* perfect conditions.

B: Great. ⁸*I'll probably see / I'm seeing / I might see* you before then, but if not, see you on the bus!

B Complete the sentences with an appropriate future form. Sometimes there is more than one possibility.

1 I suppose I _____ (stay) at home this evening, but I haven't decided yet. Maybe I _____ (watch) a DVD or something.

2 _____ Sandra _____ (be) there tomorrow? Then I _____ (definitely/go)!

3 The first metro _____ (go) at 5a.m.

4 Rick _____ (think of/move) abroad. I expect he _____ (be) happier there.

5 The deadline _____ (be) midnight tonight, so you _____ (probably/not finish) the application in time.

6 I _____ (see) her before she _____ (leave) but it's not certain.

3.3 A Complete the rules to the game Cyclops by putting the underlined words in the correct order.

¹ it works is that The way you have two players and just one dice. ² thing The is they first do roll to see who goes first. Then the first player rolls the dice, and adds up the numbers that they roll. ³ object is The to get a hundred points.

⁴ point the . Basically is to be lucky enough not to roll a one, because if you get a one, you lose all your points for that turn. ⁵ that is happens What a player gets greedy, thinks he can make a run to a hundred, but then gets a one and loses it all. That's the best part – it's really funny. ⁶ to is thing key The work in little steps, end your turn after a few rolls and don't get greedy!

GRAMMAR

4.1 narrative tenses

Use the past simple for completed actions in the past which tell the main events in a story.

She picked up the phone and ordered a taxi.

Use the past continuous:

- to set the general scene of a story

The music was playing softly, and the guests were arriving one by one.

- to talk about actions in progress at or around a particular point in a story, often interrupted by another (shorter) action or event (usually in the past simple).

He was talking loudly when the waiter brought his food.

Use the past perfect simple to talk about actions or situations that were completed before another action in the story. The actions are often mentioned out of time sequence, and the past perfect makes the order clear.

When I got to the restaurant, all my friends had eaten and some of them had left.

Use the past perfect continuous to talk about longer actions or situations which started before and continued up to a point in the story.

She had been studying for hours when she found out the exam was cancelled.

4.2 I wish, If only, should have expressing regret about the present

Use wish + past tense to express regret about the present.

I wish I wasn't sitting here right now. (I am sitting here)

I wish I had more time. (I don't have enough time)

I wish I could run faster. (I can't run very fast)

Using were instead of was is considered more correct but can sound quite formal.

I wish I weren't sitting here right now.

If only can often be used instead of wish.

If only I had more time. If only I could run faster.

Use would + infinitive after if only/I wish to talk about other people's habits that you want to change.

I wish Sam wouldn't spend so much time on the computer.

expressing regret about the past

Use wish + past perfect to express regret about the past.

I wish I 'd stayed at home. (I didn't stay and I regret it)

We can also use should + have + past participle.

I should have stayed at home.

spoken grammar

In spoken English, we usually say should've instead of the full form should have.

I should've stayed at home.

4.3 expressing likes and dislikes expressing likes	expressing dislikes

I'm a big fan of ...	I'm not a big fan of/not that keen on...
I'm very/really/quite keen on...	I'm not really into .../I'm really not into... (stronger)
I'm really into ...	I can't/couldn't stand/get into ...
What I like(d)/love(d) about it is/was ...	What I don't like/hate about it is ...
The thing I like about it most is that ...	The thing I don't like/hate (most) about it is

Some of these expressions use special structures to put extra emphasis on the main point:

What I + verb (about it) + be that + key information

What I don't like (about it) is that some of the dialogue is not very natural.

(compare: I don't like the unnaturalness of some of the dialogue.)

The thing I + verb (about it) + be that + key information

The thing I liked (most)(about it) was that the characters seem so real.

(compare: I liked the reality of the characters most.)

PRACTICE

4.1 A Complete the sentences using the correct narrative tense.

Last night I saw Jean at the top of a ladder, climbing into the upstairs window of a house. She was using a ladder to get through the upstairs window because ...

- she _____ (forget) her key.
- she _____ (rob) the house.
- all of the downstairs floors _____ (just/paint) and she didn't want to walk on the fresh paint.
- she _____ (use) the door all her life and she wanted a change.

B Complete the news story by putting the verbs in brackets in the correct narrative tense.

Missing child found safe and sound

A search for a missing child in East Paterson ¹_____ (end) happily last week after five-year-old Ricky Ross was found asleep in his own room. Last Monday, Julie Ross, the boy's mother, ²_____ (work) in the front garden when she ³_____ (hear) her son cry out.

He ⁴_____ (play) in the living room but when she ⁵_____ (ran) to the house, she ⁶_____ (see) that the back door was open and there was no sign of her son.

Neighbours ⁷_____ (join) in the search and as they ⁸_____ (search) in the forest behind the house, they ⁹_____ (find) a few pieces of children's clothing. There was initial panic but it was soon clear that the clothing ¹⁰_____ (be) there for years and didn't belong to the boy. Ricky was eventually found by another child who ¹¹_____ (go) into the boy's room while the search ¹²_____ (go) on because she ¹³_____ (hear) a noise from the toy chest. When she ¹⁴_____ (open) it, there was Ricky safe and sound – he ¹⁵_____ (sleep) in the toy chest the whole time, unaware of the panic he had caused.

4.2 A Underline the correct alternative in the sentences.

- It was a mistake to tell him the truth. You should lie / have lied to him.
- It's difficult to work with Harry, because we don't really like each other. I wish we liked / had liked each other a bit more.
- I have to take buses everywhere. If only I knew / had known how to drive.
- Guys don't ask her out because she's too good-looking. If only she were / had been less good-looking.
- We moved to a new flat last year, and I don't like it. I wish we didn't live / hadn't lived in this flat.
- I never knew him. I wish I met / 'd met him.
- I forgot my umbrella and it's raining. I shouldn't leave / have left my umbrella at home.
- I love to sing but I have a terrible voice. If only I had / had had a good voice.

B Complete the sentences using the information and the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

- We live in the city and I hate it.
If only we _____ (live) in the country.
- You party far too much. You came home so late last night.
If only you _____ (party) so much. You should _____ (come) home so late last night.
- You forgot my birthday again.
I wish you _____ (always forget) my birthday. You should _____ (remember) this time.
- The neighbours were playing loud music last night.
I wish they _____ (play) their music so loudly. If only I _____ (sleep) better, I wouldn't feel so tired now.
- I'm just not strong enough to lift anything heavy.
If only _____ (be) stronger. I wish I _____ (be) so weak.
- You bite your nails. It annoys me more than any bad habit.
I wish you _____ (bite) your nails. If only you _____ (have) some other bad habit instead.

4.3 A Correct the mistake in each sentence.

- I'm not that keen of opera.
- I can't stand on depressing books like that one.
- The thing I liked about it most it was the surprise ending.
- I'm not really going into sci-fi books or films.
- Who I love about Lee's films is that there's always a message.
- I'm a big fan for historical novels.
- What I like her acting is that she brings something special to every role.
- I don't get into classical music.

zero, first and second conditionals

	if clause	main clause
Zero conditional	if + present simple	present simple
First conditional	if + present simple	will/can/could/may/might/should + infinitive
Second conditional	if + past simple	would/could/might/should + infinitive

'real' conditionals

Use the zero conditional to talk about a real situation that is always true with a result that always happens.

If you pay by debit card, there's a 5% discount.

Use the first conditional to talk about a real possibility in the present or future. In the main clause, use may/might/can/could instead of will for an uncertain result, and use should for advice.

If you put in the wrong pin number three times, the machine will take your card.

If your card gets stuck, you should ring the number on the machine.

hypothetical or 'unreal' conditionals

Use the second conditional to talk about a hypothetical situation in the present or future. In the main clause, use might/could for an uncertain result.

If Valerie practised more, she could be really good.

Use If + were to + infinitive to talk about a situation which is more hypothetical or in a more formal situation.

If I were to sign the contract, when could I expect payment?

alternatives to if

Use providing/provided (that), on condition that and, less formally, as long as, to mean if and only if.

Children may take part, providing they are over ten.

Use unless to mean if ... not

I'll be there at 10a.m. unless the train is late.

spoken grammar

In spoken English, we often use suppose/supposing and imagine instead of if to emphasise the 'imagining.'

Suppose you won the lottery, what would you do?

GRAMMAR

6.1 modal verbs and phrases

	present	past
obligation (strong)	have to/have got to must need to am obliged to am required to	had to/had got to — needed to was obliged to was required to obligation (mild)	should ought to am supposed to	should have ought to have was supposed to lack of obligation	don't have to don't need to needn't am not obliged to am not required to	didn't have to didn't need to needn't have wasn't obliged to wasn't required to prohibition	mustn't can't oughtn't shouldn't am not supposed to am not allowed to	— couldn't oughtn't to have shouldn't have wasn't supposed to wasn't allowed to permission	can am allowed to may	could was allowed to might ability	can am able to manage to	could was able to managed to obligation

To express that someone causes another person to do something, use make someone do something.

My mum makes me study for two hours every night.

Must can express that the obligation is internal, not (only) because of a rule.

I must finish this report – I don't want to annoy the boss.

lack of obligation / prohibition

Note the difference between don't have to and mustn't:

You don't have to arrive before 5pm. (it's not necessary, but you can)

You mustn't arrive before 5pm. (you're not allowed to) permission

Use let + someone, or allow someone to to say that someone gave permission to someone.

Do you think she'll let me take a day off?

My company allows us to work from home one day a week.

ability

For ability on a single occasion in the past, use was/were able to or managed to (not could).

He was able to find his way out of the forest and get help.

NOT He could find his way...

Use manage to for something that is/was difficult to do.

It was his first marathon and he managed to run it in under three hours.

• things that will happen in the future, when you don't want to express the idea that the action is part of a particular plan or intention, but will happen in the normal course of events.

I expect I'll be talking to Ian tomorrow, so I could ask him then.

Will you be phoning Mum this weekend?

spoken grammar

In spoken English, we often add an adverb and the modal verbs might, could, may to express degree of likelihood.

By tomorrow morning he'll probably have realised that it was a big mistake to leave her.

I definitely won't have spoken to him by then.

By then I might have passed my driving test, so we could drive there.

Use negative questions when you want to persuade someone by inviting them to agree with you.

Don't you agree that Don't you think Isn't it true that Don't you see that Isn't it obvious that	the internet is destroying human relationships?
Shouldn't people Don't parents need to	spend more time with their families?

6.2 future perfect/future continuous

Use will + have + past participle to talk about something that will finish before a specific time in the future.

I'll have finished this report by the end of the week.

Future perfect is often used in conjunction with the time expression by ..., meaning 'at the latest'.

future continuous

Use will + be + -ing form to talk about:

• something that will be in progress at or around a specific time in the future.

I'll be driving home when you call, so just leave a message.

6.3 persuading

Use the following phrases to persuade someone by giving a strong opinion:

Surely Clearly Anyone can see that	parents need to take more responsibility for their kids' education.
--	---

PRACTICE

6.1 A Underline the correct alternatives in the blog.

TRAVELLER'S JOURNAL – CHANGING TIMES

... it was the 1980s and travel there was very restricted back then. Of course you ¹*should / had* to get a visa to enter the country, but you also ²*needed to / must* get a permit to travel to most cities. Or at least you ³*were supposed to / needed* to get a permit; I didn't always get one, and still I ⁴*could / managed* to go to many places that foreigners technically ⁵*couldn't / needn't* go to. In one remote town, the police called me in for questioning; I spoke the language a little so I was ⁶*able to / obliged* to communicate with them. Once they were convinced that I wasn't a spy, they ⁷*allowed / let* me go and I was ⁸*allowed to / obliged* to stay there as long as I wanted.

Of course, it's changed so much now. You still ⁹*must / have* to get a visa to enter, but you're not ¹⁰*supposed to / obliged* to get a permit to go anywhere within the country. As was always the case, if you ¹¹*could / can* speak the language, it's a really enriching experience, and I think everyone ¹²*should / is supposed* to try to spend at least a few weeks travelling there.

B Rewrite the sentences. Use the word in brackets so that the meaning stays the same.

- I fell asleep. It was difficult. (manage)
I _____
- We stayed for dinner. It was our obligation. (oblige)
We _____
- It's OK to listen to your MP3 player here. I give you permission. (allow)
You _____
- It was too dark to see anything. (not able)
He _____
- It's a good idea for her to leave before dark. (ought)
She _____
- The rule was to pay before going in. We didn't pay at all. (suppose)
We _____
- The maximum age to enter this disco is eighteen. (not allow) Adults _____
- A passport was necessary. (have to)

6.2 A Complete the sentences with the future perfect or the future continuous form of the verb in brackets.

- Her plane lands at 11.45p.m.
At 11.50 tonight she _____ the plane. (probably/get off)
By the time we wake up tomorrow, she _____ home. (arrive)
- The film starts at eight, and it's about two hours long.
At nine, I _____ the film. (watch)
By eleven, the film _____ (finish).
- The world hotdog-eating champion can eat more than six hotdogs a minute.
In ten minutes from now, he _____ over sixty hotdogs. (eat)
Tonight in his sleep, he _____ about hotdogs! (dream)
- Give me a day to think about it.
By this time tomorrow, I _____ (decide).
This time next week, I _____ my decision. (definitely/not regret)

B Find and correct the mistakes in A's part of the conversations.

B: No, I'm going out and I won't be back till four if you want to use it till then.

A: ⁶I might still using it when you get back. The technicians might not have fixed mine by then.

6.3 A Write the underlined phrases in full.

A: ¹Don't / agree / people / should / able / start a family when they're teenagers?

Don't you agree that people should be able to start

B: What, even at 16 or 17?

A: Yes. ²Clear / they at the peak of their physical health.

B: ³Is / obvious / most / 17-year-olds aren't even mature enough to be responsible for themselves?

A: Yeah, ⁴but does / depend / the individual? Some 18 year-olds might make good parents.

B: ⁵But / sure / they / need / time to sort out their own lives first.

A: ⁶But / is / it / fact / that in some cultures 18 is a normal age to have a family?

B: Yes, ⁷but / anyone / see / that what works in one culture won't necessarily work in every culture.

A: Hmm. Maybe you're right.

GRAMMAR

7.1 quantifiers

	100%	a large amount	a small amount	0%
uncountable or plural nouns	all, any	a lot of, lots of, plenty of, most	some, hardly any	no, not any uncountable nouns		much, a large amount of, a great deal of	a little, little plural nouns	both (= all of two)	many, a large number of, quite a few	several, a small number of, a few, few singular nouns	each, every			no, not any, neither (= none of two) a few / a little = some or a small amount There's still a little butter left.

few / little = not many/much or not as many/much as wanted or expected
Very few people came to the meeting.

any = It doesn't matter which/who
I like any brand of chocolate.

spoken grammar

With a _____ number of + a plural noun, a singular verb is more correct but a plural verb is often used in spoken English.

A large number of books were destroyed in the fire. A small number were saved.

7.2 reported speech

In reported speech, the original verb form often goes back further into the past. Pronouns, time references etc. also change.

direct speech	reported speech present simple/continuous 'I want to be a pilot.' 'We're working.'	past simple/continuous He told us he wanted to be a pilot. She said they were working.
past simple/present perfect 'Ben phoned me last week.' 'I've read your book.'	past perfect She told me Ben had phoned her the week before. She said she'd read my book.
will/would/can/could/should 'We'll help you tomorrow.' 'You can stay with me.'	would/could/should He said they'd help me the next day. She said I could stay with her.

It is not necessary to change the verb form into the past when:

- reporting something that is still true now, or which was said very recently.
- using the present form of a reporting verb.

'I think it's going to snow.' Jake says he thinks it's going to snow.

reported questions

Use normal statement word order. Don't use do/does/did or a question mark. 'What does Ian think?'

She asked me what Ian thought.

NOT She asked me what did Ian think.

With yes/no questions, use if or whether.

'Are you going to the party?'

He asked me if I was going to the party.

Use asked, wanted to know, enquired and wondered.

They wanted to know what time the train left.

reported requests

Use verb + pronoun/noun + infinitive with to.

'Could you open the window?'

She asked me to open the window.

time phrases and place references

Time phrases and place references usually change.

now → then/at that time,

yesterday → the day before/previous day tomorrow → the following/next day a week ago → the week before here → there

7.3 adding emphasis auxiliary verbs

add or stress auxiliaries	I do hate it when people smoke indoors. It is annoying.

intensifiers
really, totally, so + any adjective	It's so worrying.
absolutely, completely + extreme adjectives	It's completely ridiculous.
such (a/an) + (adjective) + noun	It'll be such an amazing experience. It was such terrible weather.

emphasising phrases
pronoun/noun + be + the one who	You're the one who wanted to guess.
the + adjective + thing is	The amazing thing is the colours.

informal phrases
There's no way (that) ...	There's no way Tom stole the money.
What/Who/Where/Why/How on earth ...?	Why on earth didn't you say so?

PRACTICE

7.1 A Underline the correct alternative.

What does your ring tone say about you?

Almost everyone now has a mobile phone and ¹*a great deal/a large number/the most* of us have our own ring tone. Is it only so that we can distinguish our own phone from others or is it because ²*each/a large number of/both* time our phone rings we want to be able to say, 'Listen to that. That's me!?' Maybe ³*either/both/each* reasons are true. Here is a quick guide to ⁴*some/few/a little* typical ring tones and what they say about their users.

If your ring tone is ⁵*either/both/neither* a hip hop tune or a current hit, then you are young at heart but not particularly original.

⁶*Any/All/Either* classic rock tune means you're probably over thirty but you know you're still cool.

⁷*Not much/A few/Very few* people think annoying animal noises are as funny as the phones' owners obviously do. So ⁸*no/any/neither* points for maturity there.

You download a new one every month? You must be a teenager or you have ⁹*plenty of/a large number of/hardly any* time and money.

You never change it? Either you're too lazy or you don't know how. ¹⁰*Neither/Both/Any* is an acceptable reason!

B Complete sentences 1–8 with a quantifier from the box.

- You can press _____ 'save' or 'save as' and then give the document a name.
- Are you having _____ other problems with the photocopier?
- I like _____ music by Jade. She's my favourite singer.

7.2 A Read the questions then complete the reported speech below.

1 Where have you been all day?

2 What did you watch on TV last night?

3 Have you washed your hands for dinner?

4 Have you got any homework for tomorrow?

5 Are you going to help me with the housework this weekend?

My mother used to ask me questions at the strangest times:

- When I came home from school she wanted to know ¹ where I ...
- The morning after we'd spent the evening watching TV together, she asked me ² _____
- At 10 in the morning, she used to ask ³ _____
- In the middle of the summer holiday, she asked ⁴ _____
- When she knew I was going on a weekend camping trip with friends, she asked ⁵ _____

B Find and correct ten mistakes with reported speech in the story.

My first (and most embarrassing) job interview

I was eighteen when I went for my first job interview, at a photo laboratory. The personnel manager asked me take a seat and then asked what's my name and I was so nervous that I told him I don't understand the question. Then he wanted to know do I have any plant experience; I said that I did some work in my grandmother's garden. He laughed and said that by 'plant' he had meant 'factory', not trees and flowers. I felt terribly embarrassed and simply told him that I have never worked in a factory. He had my file of photos and he asked that I talked about them. I was so nervous that I dropped them all on the floor! Then he asked me if I have any referees; I thought he meant the kind of referees they have in a football match, so I told him that I didn't play team sports but that I had been doing long-distance running for years. I was sure that I had messed up the interview, but then he enquired when I can start! He wanted me that I start the following Monday!

7.3 A Make the soap opera script more dramatic by using the words in brackets.

1 A: What's the matter? You look terrible. (on earth)

2 B: I've just seen Marco with Claudia. I'm furious, I can hardly speak. (so)

3 A: That's crazy. I'm sure there's a mistake. Why don't you call him? (totally)

4 B: I'm not going to phone him. (there's no way)

5 A: But Marco's a great guy and you're good together. (such, so)

6 B: Well you can be sure that Claudia's going to regret it. (really)

7 A: I hope you're not going to do anything stupid. (do)

8 B: You told me to fight for him. I'm just following your advice. (the one)

GRAMMAR

8.1 second, third and mixed conditionals second or 'unreal' conditional

Use if + past simple, would/might/could + infinitive to talk about hypothetical situations in the present/future.

If I saw a person in trouble, I would/might help them third or 'past unreal' conditional

Use if + past perfect, would/might/could + have + past participle to talk about hypothetical situations in the past.

If he'd known the woman, he might have helped her.

For a longer action, use the past perfect continuous.

If I hadn't been sitting there, we wouldn't have met.

mixed conditionals

We can also use a mix of second and third conditionals:

Use if + past perfect, would/might/could + infinitive to talk about a hypothetical situation in the past with a result in the present. This is often used with the verbs be/feel/seem.

If he hadn't missed his plane, he'd be in Mexico by now.

Use if + past simple, would/might/could + infinitive to talk about a general hypothetical state with a past result.

If I were taller, I could have become a police officer.

clause order

It is possible to change the order of the clauses. Note the use of the comma.

If you'd checked your emails, you would have known about the meeting.

We wouldn't have believed it if we hadn't seen it with our own eyes.

spoken grammar

In formal English, we use were instead of was with I/he/she/it. In spoken English (apart from in the phrase If I were you), we usually use was.

Chris would tell me if he was in trouble.

If I were you, I'd go to the doctor's.

8.2 infinitive and -ing forms
infinitive with to

• Use after the following verbs: afford, agree, arrange, decide, expect, hope, intend, learn, manage, need, offer, promise, seem, start, tend, want.

We hope to start the meeting at 9.

• Use as part of semi-fixed phrases e.g. be good/lucky/happy, be necessary/prepared to do, have the chance/opportunity/desire/time to do, someone's goal/aim/ambition/aim is to do.

We were lucky to have the opportunity to go.

• Use to express purpose.

I'm going to the shops to buy some groceries.

• Use after the following verbs with an object: ask, advise, expect, help, invite persuade, remind, require, teach, want*.

Will wants me to go to the party with him.

infinitive without to • Use after modal verbs.

They might be late.

• Use after had better and would rather.

You'd better take an umbrella – it looks like rain.

• Use after *let, make, help with an object.

Our supervisor let us go early today.

* help can be used either with or without to, e.g.

He helped me do/to do the homework.

-ing form

• Use after the following verbs: avoid, come, consider, discuss, despise, enjoy, finish, go, hate, involve, keep, like, loathe, love, mind, miss, practise, suggest.

I keep getting bad headaches.

Dave's gone fishing with his father.

• Use as a subject or object, i.e. as a noun.

Going for a walk is much better than sleeping.

• Use after certain phrases, e.g. not mind, be keen on, can't bear/stand, it's not worth, it's no use.

I can't stand listening to his voice all day long.

• Use after prepositions (often part of a fixed phrase), e.g. look forward to, be used to, be keen on, instead of.

I'm keen on sailing.

8.3 handling an awkward situation

preparing the ground

There's something I've been meaning to talk to you about.
There's something I'd like to talk to you about.

giving the message

I hope you don't take this the wrong way, but ...
I don't want you to get the wrong idea, but ...
It's just that, (you know you borrowed/you said you'd ... etc.)

suggesting a solution

I have a suggestion/an idea.
It would put my mind at ease if ...
I'd feel better if ...

getting the other person's point of view

Do you see where I'm coming from?
How does that sound?
How would you feel about that?
Do you know what I mean?

PRACTICE

8.1 A Choose the correct sentence ending. In one case, both endings are possible.

- If the builders had begun the job two weeks ago,
 - they might have finished it by now.
 - they might finish it by now.
- If you found money in the street
 - what would you have done?
 - what would you do?

GRAMMAR

9.1 -ing form or infinitive
-ing form or infinitive with to (difference in meaning)

Some verbs can be followed by the -ing form or the infinitive with to with different meanings.

	+ infinitive with to	+ -ing form remember forget	for things you plan or want to do or it is your responsibility to do He remembered to buy the tickets.	have a memory of an earlier action I'll never forget going to Canada when I was ten. try	make an effort or attempt to do something which is difficult Angus tried to change his ticket but it was impossible.	experiment to see if something will work Why don't you try clicking on 'OK' on the dialogue box? stop	stop one action in order to do another (infinitive of purpose) We stopped to have some lunch.	finish an action or activity My father stopped driving after his eightieth birthday. go on	for a change of activity The doctor started with a general introduction about obesity and went on to talk about its causes.	continue Debra went on working there even though she hated her job.

-ing form or infinitive with to
(no difference in meaning)

Some verbs can be followed by the -ing form or infinitive with to with no difference in meaning: like, love, hate, prefer, can't stand, can't bear.

I hate writing/to write by hand. I much prefer using/to use a computer.

In American English, the infinitive with to is often preferred. In British English, the infinitive with to is mainly used to talk about choices and habits.

I like to go to the dentist twice a year.

I hate to interrupt, but we have to go.

If the verb after prefer is in the negative, use the infinitive with to.

I prefer not to write by hand.

When we use the verbs begin, continue and start in continuous forms we usually use the infinitive with to.

They're beginning to annoy me.

NOT They're beginning annoying me.

9.2 past modals of deduction

Use modal verb + have + past participle (perfect infinitive) to make deductions or guesses about past actions or states.

You could have left it in the café.

Use modal verb + have + been + -ing form to make deductions about continuous actions or states.

She must have been feeling ill.

Use modal verb + have + been + past participle for deductions using the passive.

It could have been stolen from your bag.

must have	you are almost certain that something is true, based on the evidence.	I must have deleted the email. I can't find it anywhere. might/could/may have	you think it is possible that something is true, based on the evidence.	The plane could have been delayed by the weather. There's a bad storm at sea. couldn't/can't have	you are almost certain something is not true or is impossible, based on the evidence.	It can't have been the waitress. She wasn't in the room when the bag was stolen.

9.3 reporting an incident

referring to time
Before/As soon as/When	I realised what had happened/was happening ...
It was only (a minute/much) later	(that) I realised/remembered ...
It all happened	so quickly/fast/slowly.

describing impressions of a person or thing
He reminded me of	Tom Cruise.
He looked/seemed	as if he was a student. like a student. about 30/very strong.

other phrases for reporting
It never occurred to me It didn't cross my mind	(that) he was a thief.
My mind / I	went blank.

3 He stopped to smoke	c) a cigarette before continuing.
4 He stopped smoking	d) because he wanted to get fitter.
5 Julia remembers to text me	e) whenever she needs a lift from the station.
6 Julia remembers texting me	f) but I didn't get any messages from her.
7 Xavier went on to perform	g) even though audiences became smaller and smaller.
8 Xavier went on performing	h) at all of the best opera houses in the world.

B Underline the correct alternative. Sometimes both are possible.

Most people prefer not ¹*getting/to get* involved in a crime investigation, according to Detective Jaime Lopez. 'I'll give you an example,' said Lopez. 'Last week we were just starting ²*investigating/to investigate* a car theft that had happened in broad daylight in the city centre, and we realized that our biggest challenge might be to find someone who remembered ³*seeing/to see* anything at all. We estimate that twenty or thirty people witnessed the crime but no one tried ⁴*intervening/to intervene* and most people went on ⁵*doing/to do* what they were doing. Interestingly, one tourist stopped ⁶*taking/to take* pictures of the theft in process but then continued sightseeing. He only came forward three days after the incident. 'Sorry, I forgot ⁷*telling/to tell* you that I have some pictures of the crime,' he said. We tried ⁸*identifying/to identify* the thief from the tourist's photograph but it wasn't clear enough.' We asked Lopez how he can bear ⁹*doing/to do* such a frustrating job. 'I like ¹⁰*helping / to help* people. I love this city.'

9.2 A Rewrite the underlined sentence with must/might/may/could/can't/couldn't have.

1 Perhaps Jenna phoned while we were out. Let me check on the answerphone.

Jenna might have phoned while we were out.

2 Knock louder. You know he's a bit deaf. I'm sure he didn't hear you.

3 I locked the door. I'm certain. Maybe the thieves got in through the window.

4 I lost all my work yesterday. I realised it was impossible that I saved the document.

A: Maybe he'd finished?

B: ⁶I don't know. It just seemed quite but then I didn't think any more about it till I saw the programme.

GRAMMAR

10.1 relative clauses types of relative clauses

Use defining relative clauses to give essential information about which person, thing, place or time is being talked about. Do not use a comma before the relative pronoun.

This is the room where I usually work.

Use non-defining relative clauses to give additional, non-essential information. Use commas to separate this clause from the rest of the sentence.

This room, where I usually work, is in the quietest part of the house.

relative pronouns

Use who for people, which for things, when for time, where or which ... in for places and whose for possession.

This is the room which I usually work in.

In defining relative clauses:

- we can use that instead of who, which where and when.
I just ran into a woman who/that I went to university with.
- we can omit the pronouns who, which, that, when or where if they are the object of the relative clause.
Gwen's the woman (who) I'm going to marry. (The subject of the relative clause is I. Who is the object, so we can omit who.)
Mike gave me a ring which belonged to his mother. (The subject of the relative clause is which, so we cannot omit it.)

In non-defining relative clauses:

• we cannot use that.
She's staying with her ex-husband, who/that lives in the south of France.

• we cannot omit the pronoun.

Gwen, who I'm going to see later, is my fiancé. NOT Gwen, I'm going to see later, is ...

• we can use which to refer to the whole of a previous clause or sentence.

The plane was delayed by bad weather, which meant we had a four-hour wait.

When two sentences are joined with a relative clause, we omit words which have been replaced by the relative pronoun (e.g. here, there, then, him, her, it).

She's a woman. I know her well.

She's a woman who I know her well.

spoken grammar

In very formal English, use prepositions at the beginning of the relative clause. In this case always use whom, not who.

He was someone to whom she regularly wrote.

In spoken (and informal written) English, we use prepositions at the end of the relative clause.

He was someone (who) she regularly wrote to.

10.2 participle clauses

Use participle clauses (clauses that start with a present or past participle) to vary your style or to include more information in a single sentence.

The present participle (-ing form) has an active meaning

Seeing her across the room, he went to speak to her.
= he saw her (active)

The past participle has a passive meaning.

The film, directed by Miyakazi, won an award for animation.
= which was directed (passive)

Use participle clauses:

- as an alternative to relative clauses. Omit the relative pronoun and any auxiliary verbs. Use the present participle to replace simple and continuous verbs.

The children caught in the rainstorm came home soaked.

= The children who were caught ...

Do you know that man standing in the corner?

= that man who is standing ...

Anyone taking a photograph will be arrested.

= anyone who takes ...

• to create longer, more complex sentences. This is used particularly in writing when two actions happen at the same time and have the same subject.

*He sat at the lakeside, surrounded by trees, writing a letter and thinking of his childhood.

• to give a reason for something.

Knowing how unsafe the area was, he decided to stay indoors.
= because he knew how unsafe ...

3A Student A: read Sam's story. Circle two words/phrases in the box that best describe how Sam sees himself. Underline two words/phrases that describe how he sees Jade.

- selfish patient talkative a good parent neglected rude a good friend

I think I'm a good husband ...

SAM'S STORY

When I met Jade I liked her straightaway. She was pretty and she was a good laugh. She used to visit me at my flat and she'd enjoy watching me play Battle Galaxy 2525, so she knew what to expect when we got married. BG2525 is amazing! I've been playing it for years. You start off with a character at level one and you fight monsters and aliens in order to make your character stronger and become a Guild Lord.

I think I'm a good husband. I sometimes cook dinner, and I play with my two-year-old son Joe, and only go onto the computer after that. Jade doesn't seem to understand that it helps me relax. On average I spend about three hours a night on BG2525, sometimes till midnight. It's fast-paced and needs concentration so it's annoying when Jade asks me to do something else. I either pretend I don't hear or I tell her to go away – my head's in another space, playing with my friends.

The weekend's great because I have more time to play. I don't know why Jade invites my parents over then, so I just leave her to chat to them. She enjoys that. I'd rather see friends and family outside the home, you know, meet up for a meal or go to their places so I can give them more attention.

Jade says I'm insensitive, but I think she's the insensitive one. For example, once she unplugged the computer when I was at a critical point in the game and some of my fellow players were killed! I was furious with her. I mean, she was just thinking of herself and what she wanted but these people are my mates. I've got friends now from all over the world.

When we had Joe, quite honestly, it didn't make a huge difference. I mean, I always make sure I spend time with him every evening, but I still spend as much time playing. And Joe's used to me sitting at the computer. He's never known anything different. I often sit him on my knee and his little hands reach out and he starts tapping at the keyboard, so he's kind of copying me, which is great. When he's old enough I'm going to teach him how to play.

I went round to a house to look at a car. I'd seen the advert earlier. A young mother showed me round the car – it was a fantastic bargain and I wanted to buy it. She couldn't show me the car papers because her husband had just taken them to pay the car tax. She told me that she'd got lots of other interested people coming round later so I gave her a deposit of £250 and she said I could pick up the car at six. At six o'clock, I found eight other people outside the house, no car and no one at home.

7C Hire car scam

Preparation:

- 1 The con artist team hires an expensive car, changes the number plates and removes any evidence that it's hired.
- 2 The team places an advert in a newspaper or online offering the car at a very low price.
- 3 The team finds an empty house, breaks in and puts some toys around the rooms. This address is given when people answer the advert.

The Scam:

- 4 An attractive female con artist poses as a young mother and greets customers as they arrive. She explains to the customers why there are no car papers. Some of the customers will offer a cash deposit.
- 5 At the end of the afternoon, the team clears out of the house, returns the car to the hire agency and disappears.

Free gift wrapping

Preparation:

- 1 The con artist team goes to a busy shopping mall during the festival season and sets up a tent with a sign saying 'Free gift wrapping'.
- 2 An attractive, friendly, female con artist stands behind the counter.
- 3 The other two con artists are inside the tent, out of sight. They have a scale for weighing things, oranges and packing material.

The Scam:

- 4 When a customer brings an item for wrapping, the woman passes it into the tent.
- 5 The two con artists there open the package, remove the item and weigh it, then put the same weight in oranges into the box with packing material and wrap it attractively.
- 6 They pass it back to the female colleague, who gives it to the customer. The package feels like the original and won't be opened till later!

Popular culture Q&A

Q: Do big stars have to audition for film roles?

A: A big star auditioning for a part is almost unheard of. Actors such as Tom Hanks go straight from film to film, so directors and producers have access to a whole portfolio of their work. The closest such actors ever get to anything resembling an audition is when they're invited to chat about the project informally, which gives the director and producer a chance to evaluate the actor without it feeling like a test. The stars don't usually even have to read part of the script. More often, it's actually a matter of the actor choosing whether to work with the director!

Q: Why do works of art get stolen if they can't be sold without attracting attention?

A: Criminals steal paintings only when they already have a buyer. Sometimes, a wealthy private collector actually requests a particular piece to be stolen – essentially orders it – for part of their private collection. The collector knows that it can never be shown publicly but that's not why they want the piece in the first place. Valuable works of art are a favourite commodity for criminal organisations, who will use them in place of cash for making deals with each other. They are also useful for money launderers, as works of art are easier to transport and harder to trace than cash, as well as easily traded on the black market.

Q: Why is rock music played so loud at concerts?

A: Rock music is characterised by a heavy reliance on a strong bass line and hard, driving rhythm and percussion parts, which are greatly enhanced by amplification. At some point in the evolution of rock, audiences became almost addicted to the sensations of the music they loved 'vibrating' inside them at concerts. The listener goes beyond hearing the music and feels it through their whole body, feels its vibrations, provided it is loud enough. Heavy metal played softly sounds stupid and can only be played as it was intended to be: very, very loudly.

Q: How does a comedian deal with hecklers?

A: Every comedian has his or her own strategy for dealing with members of the audience interrupting their performance with rude comments. Strategies range from simply telling the heckler to be quiet ('Shut up!') to humiliating the heckler into silence by insulting them or someone with them such as their girlfriend. Armed with the microphone, the comedian has a great advantage over the heckler. Some comedians, known for their particularly aggressive way of handling hecklers, actually become more famous for this aspect of their act than their scripted sections.

A: As the photographer Ansel Adams said, 'There are no rules for good photographs, there are only good photographs.' A great photographer can probably take a better photograph with a five-dollar disposable camera than an amateur can with their 3,000-euro Nikon, simply because the photographer has a sensitivity to light, colour, composition and choice of subject. He or she also has a knack for timing, for being in the right place at the right time – and this is how they're able to be 'lucky' more often than the average amateur.

idea behind the site is that story-telling should be egalitarian, you know, democratic. Everyone has a story, we say that over and over. That's our tag line. But in telling different types of stories since we launched a couple of years ago, we found that you had to give people parameters. So playing off the great literary legend, the Hemingway story, we thought, 'Let's ask our readers their six-word life story, a memoir' and see what happened. We really didn't know what would happen.

I: And what did happen?
L: It was incredible. In a couple of months we got fifteen thousand entries and I was just blown away. Funny, poignant – I really believe that everyone has a story and most of us aren't going to write for the Guardian but I was just so inspired by how serious and intense folks took the six-word memoir challenge.

I: OK, but before we look at the examples. It's one thing ... because the Hemingway is a story but it's not a story of a life. That seems to be a bit of a challenge to fit that in six words.

L: Well, it's interesting because some folks clearly tried to tell a whole story of a life in six words, and you can tell, and other times they're telling a moment in their life, right at this moment, something that they're feeling right now. Or perhaps something that's been an evergreen, a thread throughout their lives.

I: Give us some examples.
L: 'Wasn't born a redhead. Fixed that.' This woman took life under control. Whether she just always felt that her soul was a redheaded soul or simply at some point in life she was going to make a switch. She could have quit her job. She changed her hair colour.
I: But a lot of them are ... they're quite sad or there's a sense of regret or disappointment in a lot of them.

L: I didn't expect that. I thought people would come back with a lot of funny things, some playful things, plays on words ... but those are really interesting reality. People really told us, 'It's tough out there.' 'Found true love. Married someone else.' 'Never should have bought that ring.'

C: So, Amy, when's your flight?
A: Tomorrow at one. It's twelve hours so I need a good book. Any ideas? Barbara?
B: Well, I've just finished The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo and ...
C: Didn't they make a film of that?
B: Yeah, apparently it's really good.
A: I haven't read it. It's a sort of thriller, isn't it?
B: Yeah, it's a kind of mixture between a thriller and a detective story, set in Sweden. I thought it was great. I mean I'm a big fan of detective novels anyway but what I really liked about it was the main character, the girl.
C: ... with the dragon tattoo?

B: Yeah. She's really edgy, strange, kind of brilliant but really messed up at the same time.
C: I'm not that keen on detective novels and the modern ones are usually too violent for me, so I don't think I'd like it.
A: Well, it's definitely a possibility. What would you recommend then?
C: What about Life of Pi? Have either of you read it?
A: No.

B: I started it but I just couldn't get into it ...
C: It's brilliant. It's about this Indian kid who's stuck on a boat in the middle of the ocean with a dangerous tiger, and a zebra and some other animals
A: Sounds very strange.
C: No, it's actually all about courage and survival. It'd be really good for a long plane journey – you won't be able to put it down for the whole twelve hours, it's so exciting, you'll just want to know what's going to happen next.

A: Uh huh.
C: But you didn't finish it?
B: No, actually, to be honest, I couldn't stand it, and I gave up after about a quarter of the way through. I suppose I'm not really into fantasy and C: It's not really fantasy, it's er, what do they call it, magic realism.

B: Whatever, I just couldn't get into it. Amy, why not try one of the classics? You know, something like Pride and Prejudice? Do you like Jane Austen?
A: I dunno, I mean, I've seen the movie and the TV adaptation and I liked them, but I dunno, she's not exactly an easy read.

B: Oh, you should try it. I've read it about, what, ten times and it has to be the most romantic story ever written ... The thing I love about it is the writing, the English that she's used is so beautiful.
A: I know what you mean but it just seems a bit, well, a bit serious for a plane journey.
C: Yeah, I agree. I love it too, but maybe not for a plane journey.
A: Actually, you know what? I might try the first one you said, The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo. What's the overall story? You know, without giving too much away?
B: Well, it's about ...

UNIT 4 Recording 7
Fawty Towers I absolutely love Fawty Towers, I've seen this hundreds of times and it's my absolute favourite. It always makes me laugh – in fact, it makes me cry with laughter sometimes ... can't get enough of it. And the main character, Basil Fawty, played by John Cleese, is absolutely brilliant. It's like a lesson in comic acting; the more bad things that happen to this man the more we laugh. My favourite scene is the scene with Mrs Richardson and Basil Fawty. And, it's very, very cleverly done. Mrs Richardson wears a hearing aid and Basil Fawty hates Mrs

Richardson – she's a terrible grumpy old complaining customer who he really doesn't like. So he comes into the room and he mimes at her – so he moves his mouth but he doesn't make any sound – so that Mrs Richardson turns up her hearing aid so that she can hear him. And then he mimes again and he moves his mouth again not making any sound so she can't understand why she can't hear him, so she turns up her hearing aid again. And then once he's sure that her hearing aid is on full volume he shouts at her, 'Mrs Richardson!' – of course which deafens her and, it's, it's very, very funny and it's amazing because he gets his own back on her 'cos she's been awful to him so, he, you know, he kind of wins in the end but, – Oh it's just brilliant. If you've never seen it you really should see it. There were very few episodes made. I think there were only – only ever one series, maybe eight episodes ... something like that ... I'm not entirely sure about that, but not very many made and, they're – they're really, really fantastic. Every one is absolutely priceless.

UNIT 5 Recording 3
I = Interviewer E = Expert
I: We often hear that competition is beneficial but how exactly does it work?
E: OK. Let's imagine a Coke machine somewhere, anywhere, selling a hundred cans a day. Now, Pepsi comes along and puts up a machine next to it, how many cans would each machine sell?
I: Fifty?
E: That's what most people think. In fact, each machine would probably sell two hundred cans a day, unless the market was saturated.
I: That's hard to believe ... What's the explanation?
E: Well, what happens is that the question in the consumer's mind is no longer 'Should I get a Coke or not?' but 'Which soft drink should I get?' Choice makes people want things.

I: Ah, that's interesting. What about pricing?
E: Well, there are several schools of thought on this. People are expected to think 'If I see two similar products at different prices, I'll buy the cheaper one' but, in fact, that's often not how consumers behave. For example, if I were to introduce a new lipstick and I wanted to compete with a product priced at €4.99, should I price mine above or below the competition?
I: OK – I have a feeling you're going to tell me above, but it seems natural to undercut your competitor.
E: We've found that with certain types of products, if you price your product just above the competition's price – so let's say €5.49 – you'll actually end up with a bigger share of the market.

I: Why's that?
E: We intuitively feel that if something costs more, it's better. People will pay more provided the difference is small. They'll think, 'Well, why not? I deserve the best.'

I: OK. Turning to the appearance of advertisements, what tricks are used to make products more appealing?
E: Take this advertisement for a hamburger chain. Big picture of a juicy hamburger with fresh tomatoes and lettuce ...
I: Makes me hungry just looking at it.

E: Yes, it's fine to look at ... as long as you don't eat it. It probably has a hundred percent beef in it, real tomatoes and lettuce ... but to make it so shiny, a food stylist has painted the meat with oil or maybe lacquer; and what appears to be steam rising off the meat is probably cigarette smoke blown onto the hamburger just before the picture was taken.

I: I've just lost my appetite.
E: And look at these advertisements for watches. What time is it on this watch?
I: Ten past ten.
E: And on these?
I: Ten past ten – in all of them. Why's that?
E: There are two theories. One is that with the hands in this position, the face of the watch conveys a smile. The other theory is that it's a bit like a tick symbol. In either case the consensus is that the message is positive.

I: And if a watch showed 8.20 it wouldn't sell as well?
E: Presumably not. 8.20 is a very sad-looking time.
I: What about colour in advertising?
E: It's crucial. We have built-in associations for every colour, for instance red is associated with risk and with energy, so you see it in adverts for energy drinks, cars and sports equipment. Green on the other hand denotes safety, so it's often used for medical products. Yellow and orange supposedly stimulate the appetite, so they're used for food ads; blue on the other hand suppresses the appetite ... it's linked more to intellect and precision, so you see it in adverts for high-tech products. And purple is an interesting one: surveys show that around seventy-five percent of young children prefer purple to all other colours. So you'll see bright purple in advertising for toys for example.

I: Well, thank you. I'll never shop the same again. And neither will our listeners.

UNIT 5 Recording 6
I I'll buy it if you bring the price down.
2 I'd buy it if it weren't so expensive.
3 If I were to get a luxury car, it'd be a Ferrari.
4 I'll come as long as you let me pay.
5 You can't come in unless you're a member.

UNIT 5 Recording 5
M1 = Man 1 M2 = Man 2 W = Woman
M1: OK, let's try to do this quickly. We've got just a few minutes. Who's taking notes?
M2: I'll do that.
M1: Good. OK, let's brainstorm.
W: Colour. Purple vegetables.

M2: Purple vegetables. Yeah.
M1: Or a competition. A prize to kids who eat their two veggies a day.
M2: OK ...
M1: Or a gardening programme in schools.
M2: What do you mean?
M1: If kids grow vegetables, they'll want to eat them.

M2: Right.
W: Have the opposite? What happens if you don't eat your veggies?
M2: I'm not sure about that.
M1: Hey, we're brainstorming.
W: OK. How about this? Forbid them from eating vegetables, at school at least. No veggies allowed. Then they'll want them.

M2: I'll write it down ... Any more?
M1: Something with recipes, like put vegetarian recipes on the back of cereal boxes.
M2: Or on websites.
M1: Viral campaign. Short video with a celebrity. A famous rap star rapping about eating vegetables.
W: OK.
M1: Is that it?

UNIT 5 Recording 6
M1 = Man 1 M2 = Man 2 W = Woman
M1: OK, let's look at the list and cut it down. Here, I'll put these up on the screen.
M2: How do you feel about this idea? The purple vegetables? You know kids, they love purple.
W: Actually, that could be a problem. We're trying to sell something healthy, and we put a chemical in it to make it look attractive.
M1: Good point, yeah. What about having a competition? If the prize is right, children will do anything.
W: Oh, so whoever eats the most vegetables in an hour wins?
M1: No, I was thinking of whoever eats two vegetables a day for a week or something ...
W: To be honest, it wouldn't be my first choice.
M2: It's not original enough. And too difficult to organise.
M1: Would you consider the gardening campaign? We set up little vegetable gardens near schools ... maybe even have a competition ...
M2: Yeah, they could send in photos to a website, and ...
W: Well frankly, I think it's too complicated to set up. We need something that's fairly simple in terms of organisation. Something that we can control and monitor easily.
M1: How does the recipe idea strike you?

M2: It doesn't grab me. Sorry.
W: I was going to say the same. To put it bluntly, it's all wrong. It wouldn't mean anything to the kids, maybe only to their parents.
M1: Fair enough.
W: Uh, with respect, I think we're on the wrong track here.
M1: Yeah?
W: I think it'd be great if we could get kids into vegetarianism.
M2: What do you mean?
W: Well, you know how all children love animals ... we could use that to make them want to stop eating meat, maybe use cute pictures of animals next to meat.
M1: Oh no, that's gross! Anyway, the point is not to make children vegetarians, just to get them eating a more balanced diet.
M2: I agree. I know this sounds weird but we could go for a 'negative' campaign. It could be done in a funny way. We could use fantasy characters in a cartoon ...
M1: As a matter of fact I was thinking of that myself. The ones who don't eat their veggies are the weak ones ...
W: Yeah ...
M1: So what do we think?
M2: At the moment I'm torn between the cartoon and the viral campaign ... a rapper would be perfect ...
W: Suppose we try combining the two ideas, and have a viral campaign but not with a celebrity, with cartoon characters?
M2: I like it.
M1: OK, let's go with that.

UNIT 5 Recording 8
W = Woman M = Man
W: We would like to introduce to you an idea that will change the way you eat: Yummy Utensils. As you can guess, we're talking about knives, forks and spoons that you can eat.
M: You'll never have to throw plastic knives, forks and spoons in the rubbish again. At the end of your lunch, after you finish eating, you simply eat your utensils, like this.
W: Yummy Utensils are made of a special vegetable and flour mixture, are strong enough to cut meat and pierce salad, but easy to digest after you chew them.
M: They're tasty too – a bit like pretzels. Here, would you like to try one?
W: What makes our idea special is that it's not just practical, and it's not a simple gimmick.
M: No, Yummy Utensils are not just practical and fun, they're also environmentally friendly. Just think of all of the resources that go into making plastic utensils, which are just thrown into the rubbish and become a permanent part of the waste that we litter the planet with. Yummy Utensils are made from natural ingredients, using the same processes as are used to make bread products, and of course create no rubbish at all.
M1: How does the recipe idea strike you?

A: Yes and he said 'sorry' and something else, then before I realised what had happened, he had run on. It was only about thirty seconds later that I realised my wallet had gone and that he must have taken it when he hit me, collided with me.

P: But did it cross your mind that it wasn't just an accident?

A: No, it never occurred to me that he'd done it on purpose.

P: Did you run after him?

A: No, my mind just went blank and I stood there not knowing what to do.

P: But you were OK? Not hurt?

A: No, just very shocked.

P: OK. Could you tell me exactly what your wallet looked like and what was in it?

A: It's brown, leather and it has my credit card and about 250 euros and –

P: Hold on a minute, credit card ... about 250 euros, yes?

A: And a photo of my girlfriend.

P: OK. So you saw the man. Can you give me a description?

A: Erm, about twenty, white, quite tall. And he was wearing a sweater, grey colour with a ... you know ... erm, something you put over your head ...

P: A hood? He was wearing a hoodie?

A: Yes, that's the word. So I didn't see his face, not clearly. But he looked as if he was just out jogging, you know, he was wearing some sort of dark trousers, for running or for the gym.

P: Tracksuit bottoms?

A: Yeah. I can't remember anything else, it all happened so quickly.

P: So that's a tall white male, about twenty, wearing a grey hoodie and dark tracksuit bottoms?

A: That's right.

P: And did he have any other distinguishing marks or features?

A: Sorry?

P: Anything special or different from normal? For example, a scar on his face or anything like that?

A: No, he just seemed like a normal guy, out running. Nothing special. Except ...

P: Yes?

A: He reminded me a bit of that actor, Vin Diesel. But younger. Do you know who I mean?

P: Vin Diesel, yeah. I'll put it down. And you said he said something to you.

A: Yeah but I didn't catch what he said. It was too quick.

P: Right, one last question and then I'll take your contact details. Were there any other people in the vicinity?

A: Vicinity?

P: In the surrounding area – nearby. Any witnesses who saw what had happened?

A: No, there was no one nearby, in the ... vicinity.

P: Right, now I just need to take your contact details, Mr Girard, and I can also give you a phone number to ring if ...

W1 = Woman | M = Man | W2 = Woman 2

W1: So we really need to decide then, what it is we get rid of and what is absolutely essential to keep on the life raft, I think that's probably the most important thing isn't it?

M: I'm sure it's easy to get rid of a few things, isn't it?

W2: Like what?

M: Well, I'm not sure about the lighter. I mean, we can't really start a fire on a raft, can we?

W2: No.

W1: I suppose it depends on what the life raft is made out of, doesn't it?

M: Yeah, but it's not exactly top priority to be able to cook a hot meal, you know, when you really just need to survive.

W1: So no lighter?

M and W2: OK.

W1: OK. So what do you think is important?

W2: I'd say that a blanket is essential.

W1: Interesting choice. What for?

W2: Well, you can use it for a lot of different things. To keep you warm obviously, but you can use a blanket as a towel if you get wet –

W1: If you fall in the water.

W2: ... for example. And a blanket can protect you from the sun.

M: That hadn't occurred to me. Okay, I'm convinced. So what else?

W1: Well I can't see the point of taking the hand mirror can you?

M: Actually, I can. Because if ...

UNIT 10 Recording 1

E = Edith Bowman | J = James King

E: Right, another two couple of films to look at. Now, I heard about this and I really want to see it. Are you starting off with Let the Right One In?

J: I certainly am. Creepy, creepy horror film this one. It's the story of a twelve-year-old boy, real loner boy, real kind of geek at school, bullied at school, who befriends his new neighbour, who's a twelve-year-old girl. She happens to be a vampire. And this is set in very snowy and very bleak Sweden. It's a brilliant, brilliant film, it really is very, very good, because I think it's so bleak, because it's a very – although it is a horror film, it's a very quiet horror film, you know it's very sort of slow, and really carefully paced, really not showy at all. And because of that, I think really, really chilling and actually sometimes you're laughing, and the most horrific things are happening on screen because this boy, you know he's in love with this girl, he wants to help her. You know, and even though really horrible things are happening on screen, you ... actually giggle a bit, and I love that ... when you really don't know how to feel, you just feel uncomfortable.

E: Almost the film is running your emotions for you.

J: Absolutely. And I think a really unforgettable film. They are going to do an American version of this, which could be quite good. I think it's the guy who made Cloverfield, Matt Reeves has said that he wants to make an American version of this. But go and see this original version because it really, it really does show you that, you know, in horror films, restraint can be a very powerful thing, and it doesn't just have to be really loud and just loads of blood and guts. You can have something that's really poignant and –

E: ... and beautiful.

J: ... and beautiful at the same time as being really chilling. And the two kids in this are well, just awesome. I haven't stopped thinking about it since I've seen it, it's a really special film, Let the Right One In.

E: How many stars?

J: One, two, three, four, five stars!

E: Yay! Oh, wow ...

UNIT 10 Recording 4

Conversation 1

W = Woman | M = Man

W: So here we are in Greenwich Village.

M: It looks very different from the rest of New York.

W: Yeah, the streets are quite narrow and the buildings aren't as high.

M: It does look quite village-like.

W: Yeah, but it's quite big. It extends out west that way to the Hudson River, north above Washington Square. We'll go up there in a bit.

M: And you lived here?

W: When I first came to New York, yeah. In an apartment just around the corner, on West Third Street. Actually, you can see the building over there.

M: Near The Blue Note Jazz Club?

W: Yeah.

M: I've heard of The Blue Note.

W: It's pretty famous. There are some great jazz clubs around the neighbourhood, and that's one of the best. We can see a show there one night if you want.

M: That'd be great.

W: Now up here on the left is the Café Reggino. It's where I used to hang out and read when I wasn't working.

M: Looks good.

W: Their cappuccino is great. The story goes that the original owner brought cappuccino to America. You can see the original cappuccino machine inside.

M: Cool. We could stop and have a coffee.

W: Maybe a bit later? Let's head over to Washington Square Park and then circle back.

M: OK – lead the way!

...

W: A lot of these clubs we're walking by have a real history. As I'm sure you know, Greenwich Village has always been a centre of artistic life – very bohemian. It's always attracted famous writers, dancers and poets. And in the sixties, it was a big part of the folk music scene: Simon and Garfunkel, Joni Mitchell, Bob Dylan, you know.

M: Before my time! Now what's this?

W: This is Washington Square Park. We'll walk into the park on this side. Can you play chess?

M: A bit, yeah.

W: Any of these guys here would be happy to challenge you to a game of chess. They're here all day, every day.

M: Maybe next time – I'm not that good! What's the arch over there? It looks like the Arc de Triomphe in Paris.

W: Well it should, that's the Washington Square arch. It was modelled on the Arc de Triomphe and built in 1889 to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as president.

M: Could we sit down a second? I need a break.

W: Why don't we retrace our steps and go back to the Café Reggino?

M: Sounds good. I could really do with a coffee.

Conversation 2

W = Woman | M1 = Man 1 | M2 = Man 2

M1: So, this is Radcliffe Square.

W: Wow! Is this right in the centre then?

M1: Pretty much.

M2: What's that?

M1: Hold on. Let's just get off our bikes ... Right, so that building in front of us is the Bodleian, named after the founder – Thomas Bodley. Believe it or not, despite the fact that it's circular, it's actually a library.

W: Cool!

M1: Yeah, it gets a copy of every book published in the UK.

M2: Who can use it?

M1: Any student at the university. Of course, each college also has its own library – you know the university's divided into colleges, right?

M2: Right. How many colleges are there?

M1: Just under forty. Well, thirty-eight to be exact.

W: So that means thirty-eight libraries!?

M1: Mm but they're not all as big as the Bodleian. Anyway, we'll need to get back on our bikes for the next bit ...

...

M1: Can you hear me if I talk as we cycle along?

M2: Yeah.

W: OK, but don't go too fast. I'm not very steady on this thing!

M1: So, here's the famous Bridge of Sighs, connecting two sides of Hertford College.

M2: I've seen the original.

M1: What, of the bridge? In Italy, you mean?

M2: Yeah, it's in Venice. Beautiful.

M1: OK. We'll go past New College and then onto the High Street.

M2: Is that New College there?

M1: Yep.

W: How 'new' is new?

M1: Roughly 1370.

W: You're kidding!

M1: No, really! Interestingly, the oldest college was actually only founded a hundred or so years earlier! Uh-oh, watch out on this corner ...

M1: That's the 'Schools'. It's where the students take their exams. Apparently, the biggest room can seat somewhere in the region of 500 students although I haven't seen it myself. Anyway, we're turning right here. The street's cobbled, so be careful.

M2: How many students are there at the university in total?

M1: To be honest, it depends. In term time, you'd probably get upwards of twenty thousand.

M2: Many international students?

M1: Some, but most are from the UK. We'll finish by cycling down this way to Christ Church. We can actually go inside if we're quick. It's well worth a visit.

M2: Christ Church is another college?

M1: Yeah, the biggest and probably the most famous. Have you seen any of the Harry Potter films?

M2: No ...

W: I have!

M1: Oh, well you'll recognise the Great Hall. It's where they have the feasts in Hogwarts School. You know that bit when Harry ...

UNIT 10 Recording 7

S = Sarah | T = Tim | N = Nigel

S: Right well we have our shortlist for the new feature that we're going to put into the town centre, which one gets your vote Tim?

T: I'm really in favour of the – the state-of-the-art multiplex cinema I think that it would be most useful and beneficial for the community. I think it will be used a great deal, I think it would bring jobs to the area, and I think it would provide entertainment and activities for young people.

N: The only thing that would concern me though is that that's going to be very, very expensive.

T: Um hum.

S: I mean, I personally would prefer the botanical garden.

T: Oh.

S: Because I think that that will satisfy the needs of many different age groups. I think it would be very good for wheelchairs, for ... for blind people, for people with disabilities, there would be areas that would be excellent for young people, and lots of learning opportunities in the education centre. And we know from past experience that the older age group certainly enjoy gardens.

T: The only thing that would concern me on that is that you mention youth, but I don't think that you're going to get as many young people involved in a botanical garden. I think if it was interactive then it would be ... but just as a thing that was showing I'm, I'm not so sure.

N: Well I don't want to harp on about costs again but we have to consider the maintenance of this botanical garden. There are very high maintenance costs involved.

S: Oh so, Nigel what, what would you prefer?

N: Well, my vote would go to the theatre workshop space for young people. And I know we said we don't want to discriminate against any ... we don't want to leave out certain members of our society, but I think we've got a problem in this town about kids getting bored, hanging around on street corners, they need something to do and a theatre workshop space is going to get them ... it's going to give them a routine, it's going to give them a motivation, and then when they do their shows, they're bringing along their grandparents, their parents, I feel it's very inclusive.

T: Can you see the older generation, wanting it, liking it?

N: I think the older generation want to be sure that kids aren't hanging about the streets with nothing to do.

S: And could that, theatre workshop space be used for other things as well?

N: Absolutely.

S: Could it be used for meetings, for other sections of society?

N: ... Aerobics ... there's going to be a sprung wooden floor so there'll be dance classes, yoga, pilates, multi purpose ...
